the Master's in Education with Emphasis on English Didactics at the School of Education in Universidad Externado de Colombia and one study carried out by the professors from the same Emphasis. It illustrates the students' research process focused on various English didactic issues relevant to the EFL community of teachers. These issues comprise several themes such as materials development for teachers' professional growth, undergraduate students' critical thinking skills revealed through in-class debates on controversial issues in an EFL classroom, the enhancement of writing through cooperative learning, the improvement of oral fluency through vocabulary learning activities based on collocations, materials development for learning English for specific purposes, development of task-based vocabulary to enhance reading comprehension, the process approach to develop argumentative skills, meaningful photographs to engage students in oral activities, and fostering reading strategies through the use of authentic materials. This book is divided into nine chapters. Each chapter explains the corresponding research process undergone by the students. It describes their theoretical considerations, instructional and research designs, data analysis and findings, and conclusions in relation to their concern.

Teaching and Learning Second Language Listening Christine C. M. Goh, Larry Vandergrift, 2012-04-23. This reader-friendly text is firmly grounded in listening theories and supported by recent research findings. The metacognitive approach aimed at developing learner listening in a holistic manner is unique and groundbreaking. The book is focused on the language learner throughout. All theoretical perspectives, research insights, and pedagogical principles in the book are presented and discussed in relation to the learner. The pedagogical model, a combination of the tried and tested sequence of listening lessons and activities that show learners how to activate processes of skilled listeners, provides teachers with a sound framework for students' L2 listening development to take place inside and outside the classroom. The text includes many practical ideas for listening tasks that have been used successfully in various language learning contexts.
