Parrish, 1994-04-17 Impressively detailed An authoritative and epic overview Publishers Weekly In the convulsive years between 1920 and 1941 Americans were first dazzled by unprecedented economic prosperity and then beset by the worst depression in their history It was the era of Model T's rising incomes scientific management electricity talking movies and advertising techniques that sold a seemingly endless stream of goods But it was also a time of grave social conflict and human suffering The Crash forced Hoover and then Roosevelt and the nation to reexamine old solutions and address pressing questions of recovery and reform economic growth and social justice The world beyond America changed also in these years making the country rethink its relation to events in Europe Latin America and Asia The illusion of superiority slowly died in the 1930s sustaining a fatal blow in December 1941 at Pearl Harbor American Photography and the American Dream James Guimond,1991 Looks at how documentary photographers have contested the idea of the American dream and discusses the work of Francis Benjamin Johnston Lewis Hine Walker Evans Dorothea Lange William Klein Diane Arbus and Robert Frank Los Angeles Magazine,2001-05 Los Angeles magazine is a regional magazine of national stature Our combination of award winning feature writing investigative reporting service journalism and design covers the people lifestyle culture entertainment fashion art and architecture and news that define Southern California Started in the spring of 1961 Los Angeles magazine has been addressing the needs and interests of our region for 48 years The magazine continues to be the definitive resource for an affluent population that is intensely interested in a lifestyle that is uniquely Southern Californian Documenting America, 1935-1943 Lawrence W. Levine,Alan Trachtenberg,1988-10-27 Between 1935 and 1943 a group of photographers under the direction of Roy Emerson Stryker set out to photograph the United States for the Farm Security Administration and the Office of War Information Photographs taken by this celebrated group whose ranks included Dorothea Lange Ben Shahn Gordon Parks Russell Lee and Walker Evans have since become icons of the 1930s and 1940s In recent years however their work has been reproduced with little discussion of the particular circumstances surrounding its creation Documenting America takes a fresh look at these remarkable photographs The book opens with two incisive essays by Lawrence Levine and Alan Trachtenberg that examine issues central to photography and American culture While Levine explains how the pictures portray the complexity of life in the period balancing scenes of Depression hard times with images of the pleasures of life Trachtenberg analyzes the way in which viewers read photographs and the role of the government picture file that stands between the creation of the photographs and their use Both essayists raise important questions about Stryker's grand ambition of a photographic record of America about the ways of seeing that have grown up around the most famous of these photographs and about the whole enterprise of documentary photography and the conventions of realism The images themselves are presented in series selected from groups of pictures created by single photographers A documentary photographer often makes dozens of exposures to portray different elements of the subject experiment with camera angles and cover the stages of an event or steps of a process By studying these pictures in series we come closer to the photographer working in the field We see a tenant farming community in Gee's Bend Georgia the activities of the Salvation Army in San Francisco and the hubbub and commotion that filled Chicago's Union Railway Station in 1943 Texts accompanying each of the book's fifteen series describe the circumstances that gave rise to the creation of the pictures and discuss the relation between government policy and the subjects of the photographs The nearly three hundred images
