Llewellyn H. Rockwell Jr.

These Are The Times That Kill Us:

In Step with the Times Paolo Israel, 2014-06-01 The helmet shaped mapiko masks of Mozambique have garnered admiration from African art scholars and collectors alike due to their striking aesthetics and their grotesque allure This book restores to mapiko its historic and artistic context charting in detail the transformations of this masquerading tradition throughout the twentieth century Based on field research spanning seven years this study shows how mapiko has undergone continuous reinvention by visionary individuals has diversified into genres with broad generational appeal and has enacted historical events and political engagements This dense history of creativity and change has been sustained by a culture of competition deeply ingrained within the logic of ritual itself The desire to outshine rivals on the dance ground drives performers to search for the new the astonishing and the topical It is this spirit of rivalry and one upmanship that keeps mapiko attuned to the times that it traverses In Step with the Times is illustrated with vibrant photographs of mapiko masks and performances It marks the most radical attempt to date to historicize an African performative tradition

In the Time of the Others Nadeem Zaman, 2018-10-18 East Pakistan March 1971 Imtiaz Khan arrives at his uncle's house in Dhaka for what he thinks will be a quick visit only to be held back when the Pakistan Army makes a surprise attack on the University murdering students and professors in cold blood As the smell of sulphur and gunpowder become a part of their lives young pro independence fighters the Mukti Bahini find a haven in the home of Imtiaz's uncle and aunt Kamruzzaman and Aisha Chowdhury and they are swept up in the tide of freedom that drives them all On the other side Fazal Shaukat a young captain in the Pakistan Army with a family name to live up to finds that the war he has signed up for isn't going away anytime soon There are things bigger than him or his family at stake even as Pakistan finds itself torn asunder Jinnah's dream turning into a nightmare Set against the backdrop of a monumental historical event In the Time of the Others is about what it means to live during violent times Fierce searingly honest and revealing this powerful debut explores how lives intersect during a time of war and upheaval and how violence changes all that is human

Against the State Llewellyn H. Rockwell Jr., 2014-06-01 Against the State An Anarcho Capitalist Manifesto diagnoses what is wrong with the American political system and tells us what we need to fix things The cure is a radical one because as the book incontrovertibly shows the many problems that confront us today are no accident They stem from the nature of government itself Only peaceful cooperation based on the free market can rescue us from our present plight Against the State is written by Lew Rockwell the founder of the Mises Institute and LewRockwell.com and the closest friend and associate of Murray Rothbard the leading theorist of anarcho capitalism Rockwell applies Rothbard's combination of individualist anarchism and Austrian economics to contemporary America The book shows how the government is based on war both against foreign nations and against the American people themselves through massive invasions of our liberties Fueled by an out of control banking system the American State has become in essence fascist We cannot escape our predicament through limited government the government is incapable of controlling itself Only a purely private social order can save us and Rockwell succinctly sets out how an anarcho capitalist order would work Indochina Evacuation and Refugee Problems United States.
