Self-Confrontation John C. Broger,BCF writing team,1991-10-01 The purpose of this manual is to teach you how to examine yourself biblically so you can live in a manner that pleases the Lord and help others to do the same The material in this manual also has been used in Bible studies for youth and adults classes for Christian students junior high high school college and seminary level courses of study designed to prepare missionaries for their ministry evangelism training discipleship training in prison ministries Sunday school classes home group studies personal devotional studies and Scripture memorization programs In addition it has proved valuable as a resource for pastors counselors health care professionals personnel managers educators social workers and other professionals who are responsible to deal with personal and interpersonal problems As you progress through this manual you will discover many other uses for this material in your life and personal ministry Please do not be intimidated by the volume of Scripture references contained in this manual A new believer in Jesus Christ can find great comfort and help from looking up only one verse out of many that are listed on a particular subject On the other hand the Bible scholar or seminary student may desire to research many of the Scripture references from the original languages of the Bible No matter how proficient you are in using Scripture this manual encourages you to rely on the Word of God to discover God's sufficiency for every aspect of your life Stand in Faith

Nathalie Nérée, PhD, 2016-08-08 In this collection of 365 inspirational messages you will find daily words to encourage you Each message will bring you hope strengthen your faith and deepen your trust in God Whether you are in a season of triumph or challenge there is a message for you to give you a new perspective to invoke your divinity and to bring you inexplicable peace Stand in Faith will help you in your spiritual journey and remind you of God's perfect love for you To Whom Do You Owe Your Spouse? Wilfred R Nkoyo Rev. Major Retired, 2015-07-30 To this point my love hand in hand we climbed the steepest mountains and walked down the deepest valleys Side by side we fought good fights for each other for our children and the kingdom some we lost some we won In step we ran good races some long some short but never grew weary or fainted Together we dreamt and dared many ventures and even though often checkered by setbacks we never ceased to dream In all these together we celebrated glorious moments and also cheered one another in lowly and humbling moments but through it all one thing remained a constant companion faith We never lost the faith First faith in God who called us as youth faith in one another faith in our children faith in our families and faith in our friends It is faith in these entities that gave us the courage fueled our race emboldened our daring spirits and in their sum inspired purpose to our marriage commitment and to our mutual promise on that day October 13 1979 until death to part You and I kept that promise faithfully for thirty five years to this point Victory in the Valley Covia L. Stanley, 2019-01-08 This book is the culmination of a life experienced by a young African American man who grew up on a farm in rural North Carolina Longwood in Brunswick County It is hoped that this work will help young people especially African Americans to develop early in life high love for themselves parents and siblings The book begins with early goals of both parents The two my mother and father truly became one as they showed love for each other and reared their children in a Christian home They demonstrated that we work together in everything we do They worked side by side constructing our house with wood that was obtained off the land that Dad had purchased prior to marriage Despite his lack of a high school education Dad had great abstract thinking that facilitated the positive completion of a beautiful house House was a building that we stayed in home was the place where love joy good food quality clothes positive dialogue and communication abounded Home was the center of sharing with each other showing empathy and compassion maintaining a positive work ethic exhibiting respect and pride in the family name and learning and practicing Scriptural verses stories and personalities Most of all our parents ensured that we went to church every Sunday and practiced faith in God daily The book reveals how I used the above experiences to study help people change some laws and show empathy I tell some of the challenges that I overcame I maintain that God is my shepherd Surely this is a victory in the valley of life The book acknowledges that I have walked on the shoulders of my beloved parents They taught and practiced that we should continuously trust in God and put God first
