The ^AInnate Mind Peter Carruthers, Stephen Laurence, Stephen Stich, 2005-07-14 This is the first volume of a projected three volume set on the subject of innateness The extent to which the mind is innate is one of the central questions in the human sciences with important implications for many surrounding debates By bringing together the top nativist scholars in philosophy psychology and allied disciplines these volumes provide a comprehensive assessment of nativist thought and a definitive reference point for future nativist inquiry The Innate Mind Structure and Content concerns the fundamental architecture of the mind addressing such question as What capacities processes representations biases and connections are innate How do these innate elements feed into a story about the development of our mature cognitive capacities and which of them are shared with other members of the animal kingdom The editors have provided an introduction giving some of the background to debates about innateness and introducing each of the subsequent essays as well as a consolidated bibliography that will be a valuable reference resource for all those interested in this area The volume will be of great importance to all researchers and students interested in the fundamental nature and powers of the human mind Together the three volumes in the series will provide the most intensive and richly cross disciplinary investigation of nativism ever undertaken They point the way toward a synthesis of nativist work that promises to provide a new understanding of our minds and their place in the natural order

Without opening my eyes I guessed that it must be between five and six in the morning I was snuggled into something narrow On moving my knee abruptly it came into contact with an upright board At the same time the end of my bed rose upward so that my feet were higher than my head Then the other end rose and my head was higher than my feet A slow gentle roll threw my knee once more against the board though another slow gentle roll swung me back to my former position

Far away there was a rhythmic throbbing like the beating of a pulse I knew I was on shipboard and for the moment it was all I knew Not quite awake and not quite asleep I waited as one waits in any strange bed in any strange place for the waking mind to reconnect itself with the happenings overnight Sure of this speedy re establishment I dozed again New York Court of Appeals.
