Thinking Small The United States And The Lure Of Community Development:

Thinking Small Daniel Immerwahr, 2015-01-05 Daniel Immerwahr tells how the United States sought to rescue the world from poverty through small scale community based approaches He also sounds a warning such strategies now again in vogue have been tried before alongside grander modernization schemes with often disastrous consequences as self help gave way to crushing local oppression Hearts, Minds, Voices Jason C. Parker, 2016-09-01 For over four decades the Cold War superpowers endeavored mightily to win hearts and minds abroad through public diplomacy Hearts Minds Voices explores how the non European world responded to this media war by joining it rejecting the Cold War in favor of forging an imagined community grounded in nonalignment economic development and racialized solidarity the Third World Moved by the State Tina Loo, 2019-06-01 Why don't they just move This reductive question is asked whenever reports surface of the all too common lack of social services and economic opportunities in Canada's rural and urban communities But why are certain people and places vulnerable And who is responsible for a remedy From the 1950s to the 1970s the Canadian government relocated people often against their will in order to improve their lives Moved by the State offers a completely new interpretation of this undertaking seeing it as part of a larger project of development and focusing on the bureaucrats and academics who designed implemented and monitored the relocations rather than on those who were uprooted In this finely crafted history Tina Loo explores the contradiction between intention and consequence as diverse communities across Canada were resettled In the process she reveals the optimistic belief underpinning postwar relocations the power of the interventionist state to do good The Myth of the Community Fix Sarah D. Cate, 2023 A detailed examination of the limitations and pitfalls of pursuing the community based reform movement in the American criminal justice system As the extent of America's mass incarceration crisis has come into sharper view politicians activists and non profit foundations from across the political spectrum have united around community based reforms Many states are pursuing criminal justice reforms that aim to move youth out of state run prisons and into community based alternatives as a way of improving the lives of youth caught in the juvenile justice system In The Myth of the Community Fix Sarah D Cate demonstrates that rather than a panacea community based juvenile justice reforms have resulted in a dangerous constellation of privatized institutions with little oversight Focusing on case studies of three leading states for this model of reform Texas California and Pennsylvania Cate provides a comprehensive look at the alarming on the ground consequences of the turn towards community in an era of austerity Although often portrayed as a break with past practices this book documents how community based reforms are the latest in a long line of policy prescriptions that further individualize the problem of delinquency bolster punitiveness and reduce democratic accountability Through contextualizing the community based reform movement as part of the broader shift away from the centralized provision of public goods in the United States Cate shows why those committed to addressing the problems of mass incarceration should be wary of the community fix Sorting Out the Mixed Economy Amy C. Offner, 2021-06-08 The untold story of how U S development efforts in postwar Latin America helped lead to the dismantling of the U S welfare state In this groundbreaking book Amy Offner brings readers to Colombia and back showing the entanglement of American societies and the contradictory promises of midcentury statebuilding The untold story of how the road from the New Deal to the Great Society ran through Latin America Sorting Out the Mixed Economy also offers a surprising new account of the origins of neoliberalism

The Converging Technology Revolution and Human Capital Sajitha Bashir, Carl Dahlman, Naoto Kanehira, Klaus Tilmes, 2021-10-08 South Asia is heavily impacted by the devastating loss of lives and human capital from the COVID 19 pandemic and the converging technology revolution sweeping the globe The Converging Technology Revolution and Human Capital Potential and Implications for South Asia looks at how the region could capitalize on these technologies to accelerate its development of human capital and promote adaptability and resilience to future shocks The convergence of technological breakthroughs spanning biotechnology nanotechnology information technology and cognitive science is driven by artificial intelligence data flows computing power and connectivity These breakthroughs can improve service delivery productivity and innovation but they can also exacerbate inequalities and eliminate people s agency and empowerment This report analyzes these trends in the region offering a comprehensive agenda to exploit the opportunities offered by converging technologies while minimizing the risks to vulnerable populations It proposes strategies for building public sector capacity and promoting data and technology governance frameworks in a rapidly evolving technology landscape

All Health Politics Is Local Merlin Chowkwanyun, 2022-05-09 Health is political It entails fierce battles over the allocation of resources arguments over the imposition of regulations and the mediation of dueling public sentiments all conflicts that are often narrated from a national top down view In All Health Politics Is Local Merlin Chowkwanyun shifts our focus taking us to four very different places New York City Los Angeles Cleveland and Central Appalachia to experience a national story through a regional lens He shows how racial uprisings in the 1960s catalyzed the creation of new medical infrastructure for those long denied it what local authorities did to curb air pollution so toxic that it made residents choke and cry how community health activists and bureaucrats fought over who d control facilities long run by insular elites and what a national coal boom did to community ecology and health All Health Politics Is Local shatters the notion of a single national health agenda Health is and has always been political shaped both by formal policy at the highest levels and by grassroots community battles far below

The Poverty of the World Sheyda F. A. Jahanbani, 2023 Bringing together foreign and domestic policy The Poverty of the World aims to offer a new answer to the question of why Americans became obsessed with poverty in the 1960s A history of how American liberals made sense of US power during a period of unprecedented affluence at home it uses intellectual and political biographies of major figures in postwar US social thought and politics to tell the story of how Americans invented the problem of global poverty and executed a war against it

policymakers identified elections and education as the wellsprings of a democratic consciousness in Japan But as the extent of Japan s economic recovery became clear they placed prosperity at the core of a revised vision for their new ally s future as Jennifer Miller shows in this fresh appraisal of the Cold War

The Struggle for the Long-Term in Transnational Science and Politics Jenny Andersson, Eglė Rindzevičiūtė, 2015-04-10 This book reconsiders the power of the idea of the future Bringing together perspectives from cultural history environmental history political history and the history of science it investigates how the future became a specific field of action in liberal democratic state socialist and post colonial regimes after the Second World War It highlights the emergence of new forms of predictive scientific expertise in this period and shows how such forms of expertise interacted with political systems of the Cold War world order as the future became the prism for dealing with post industrialisation technoscientific progress changing social values Cold War tensions and an emerging Third World A forgotten problem of cultural history the future re emerges in this volume as a fundamentally contested field in which forms of control and central forms of resistance met as different actors set out to colonise and control and others to liberate The individual studies of this book show how the West European African Romanian and Czechoslovak long term was constructed through forms of expertise computer simulations and models and they reveal how such constructions both opened up new realities but also imposed limits on possible futures
