Johnson, 2010 Transformational new growth remains the Holy Grail for many organizations But a deep understanding of how great business models are made can provide the key to unlocking that growth This text describes how companies can achieve transformational growth in new markets or simply put how they can seize the white space Creating a New Civilization Through Social Entrepreneurship Patrick Petit, 2018-02-06 Humanity is confronted with the gravest financial crisis and economic recession since the Great Depression Political leaders national ministries of finance and central banks around the world are trying to prop up their countries sinking economies and arrest a downward economic spiral by innovative financial rescue and bank bailout plans as well as economic stimulus and recovery packages These measures are being taken to reestablish trust in the economy and to trigger an economic revival Despite these efforts stagnation seems imminent as uncertainty leads businesses and consumers to place spending and investing decisions on hold Social entrepreneurs are essential to the restoration of a sustainable planet and the improvement of lives of billions of people especially of those living in extreme poverty Therefore social entrepreneurs deserve further recognition and support by the international community by governments multinational companies and philanthropic organizations Creating a New Civilization through Social Entrepreneurship highlights the global movement of social entrepreneurship and some of the leading organizations and individuals that are advancing this citizen sector movement The volume presents examples of innovative people that are tackling major social problems and triggering systemic change throughout the world today Digimodernism Alan Kirby, 2009-05-01 A bold new challenge to postmodern theory The increasing irrelevance of postmodernism requires a new theory to underpin our current digital culture Almost without anybody noticing a new cultural paradigm has taken center stage displacing an exhausted and increasingly marginalized postmodernism Alan Kirby calls this cultural paradigm digimodernism a name comprising both its central technical mode and the privileging of fingers and thumbs inherent in its use Beginning with the Internet digimodernism's most important locus then taking into account television cinema computer games music radio etc Kirby analyzes the emergence and implications of these diverse media coloring our cultural landscape with new ideas on texts and how they work This new kind of text produces distinctive forms of author and reader viewer which in turn lead to altered notions of authority truth and legitimization With users intervening physically in the creation of texts our electronically dependent society is becoming more involved in the grand narrative To clarify these trends Kirby compares them to the contrasting tendencies of the preceding postmodern era In defining this new cultural age the author avoids both facile euphoria and pessimistic fatalism aiming instead to understand and thereby gain control of a cultural mode which seems as though from nowhere to have engulfed our society With new technologies unfolding almost daily this work will help to categorize and explain our new digital world and our place in it as well as equip us with a better understanding of the digital technologies that have a massive impact on our culture Governing Knowledge Commons Brett M.

Frischmann, Michael J. Madison, Katherine Jo Strandburg, 2014 Knowledge commons describes the institutionalized community governance of the sharing and in some cases creation of information science knowledge data and other types of intellectual and cultural resources It is the subject of enormous recent interest and enthusiasm with respect to policymaking about innovation creative production and intellectual property Taking that enthusiasm as its starting point Governing Knowledge Commons argues that policymaking should be based on evidence and a deeper understanding of what makes commons institutions work It offers a systematic way to study knowledge commons borrowing and building on Elinor Ostrom's Nobel Prize winning research on natural resource commons It proposes a framework for studying knowledge commons that is adapted to the unique attributes of knowledge and information describing the framework in detail and explaining how to put it into context both with respect to commons research and with respect to innovation and information policy Eleven detailed case studies apply and discuss the framework exploring knowledge commons across a wide variety of scientific and cultural domains

Leading with Character and Competence Timothy R. Clark, 2016-10-17 Leading with Character and Competence Moving beyond Title Position and Authority Leadership is an applied discipline not a foamy concept to muse about says three time CEO Oxford trained scholar and consultant Timothy R Clark In fact it is the most important applied discipline in the world The success of any organization can be traced directly to leadership And leadership can be learned But too many books and development programs focus exclusively on skills In reality performance and ultimate credibility are based on a combination of character and competence As Clark puts it character is the core and competence the crust He shows how greatness emerges from a powerful combination of the two although in the end character is more important A leader with character but no competence will be ineffective while a leader with competence but no character is dangerous Clark spotlights the four most important components of character and competence and offers a series of eloquent inspiring and actionable reflections on what is needed to build each one Fundamentally he sees leadership as influence leaders influence people to climb stretch and become You need character to influence positively and competence to influence effectively This is a book for anyone no matter where he or she is on the organization chart Because today employees at all levels are being asked to step up not only can everyone be a leader everyone has to be Clark's insights are profound and his passion is infectious Leadership he writes is the most engaging inspiring and deeply satisfying activity known to humankind Through leadership we have the opportunity to progress overcome adversity change lives and bless the race
