Recaptured Africans Sharla M. Fett,2016-11-23 In the years just before the Civil War during the most intensive phase of American slave trade suppression the U S Navy seized roughly 2 000 enslaved Africans from illegal slave ships and brought them into temporary camps at Key West and Charleston In this study Sharla Fett reconstructs the social world of these recaptives and recounts the relationships they built to survive the holds of slave ships American detention camps and ultimately a second transatlantic voyage to Liberia Fett also demonstrates how the presence of slave trade refugees in southern ports accelerated heated arguments between divergent antebellum political movements from abolitionist human rights campaigns to slave trade revivalism that used recaptives to support their claims about slavery slave trading and race By focusing on shipmate relations rather than naval exploits or legal trials and by analyzing the experiences of both children and adults of varying African origins Fett provides the first history of U S slave trade suppression centered on recaptive Africans themselves In so doing she examines the state of recaptivity as a distinctive variant of slave trade captivity and situates the recaptives story within the broader diaspora of Liberated Africans throughout the Atlantic world

The Economics of Forest Disturbances Thomas P. Holmes,Jeffrey P. Prestemon,Karen L. Abt,2008-04-18 by Peter J Roussopoulos Director Southern Research Station The world and its ecosystems are repeatedly punctuated by natural disturbances and human societies must learn to manage this reality Often severe and unp dictable dynamic natural forces disrupt human welfare and alter the structure and composition of natural systems Over the past century land management ag cies within the United States have relied on science to improve the sustainable management of natural resources Forest economics research can help advance this scientfic basis by integrating knowledge of forest disturbance processes with their economic causes and consequences As the twenty frst century unfolds people increasingly seek the goods and services provided by forest ecosystems not only for wood supply clean water and leisure pursuits but also to establish residential communities that are removed from the hustle and bustle of urban life As vividly demonstrated during the past few years Santa Ana winds can blow wildfires down from the mountains of California incinerating homes as readily as vegetation in the canyons below Hurricanes can fatten large swaths of forest land while associated floods create havoc for urban and rural residents alike Less dramatic but more insidious trees and forest stands are succumbing to exotic insects and diseases causing economic losses to private property values including timber as well as scenic and recreation values As human demands on public and private forests expand science based solutions need to be identified so that social needs can be balanced with the vagaries of forest disturbance processes
