Trade Tastes Commodity And Culture Exchange To 1750:

Trading Tastes Erik Gilbert, Jonathan T. Reynolds, 2006 This book examines the general patterns and impact of transcontinental and transoceanic trade from antiquity to the present through its analysis of the production and long distance trade of four commodities spice or spices salt sugar and silk from ancient times to about 1750 C E In their introductions and in the primary sources that they have selected for the reader s analysis the authors demonstrate that until the revolution in long distance communication that began not much more than a century and a half ago trade was probably the single most important vehicle for disseminating ideas and other cultural elements from one people to another Back cover Tastes of the Empire Jillian Azevedo, 2017-09-25 During the 17th century England saw foreign foods made increasingly available to consumers and featured in recipe books medical manuals treatises travel narratives and even in plays Yet the public s fascination with these foods went beyond just eating them Through exotic presentations in popular culture they were able to mentally partake of products for which they may not have had access This book examines the body and mind consumerism of the early British Empire The New World History Ross E. Dunn, Laura J. Mitchell, Kerry Ward, 2016-08-23 The New World History is a comprehensive volume of essays selected to enrich world history teaching and scholarship in this rapidly expanding field The forty four articles in this book take stock of the history evolving literature and current trajectories of new world history These essays together with the editors introductions to thematic chapters encourage educators and students to reflect critically on the development of the field and to explore concepts approaches and insights valuable to their own work The selections are organized in ten chapters that survey the history of the movement the seminal ideas of founding thinkers and today s practitioners changing concepts of world historical space and time comparative methods environmental history the big history movement globalization debates over the meaning of Western power and ongoing questions about the intellectual premises and assumptions that have shaped the field The World's Oceans Rainer F. Buschmann, Lance Nolde, 2025-01-23 Discover the science cultural history and environmental importance of our planet s oceans The second edition of this award winning encyclopedia has been updated throughout and includes more than 20 additional entries and highlights timely concerns including overfishing and microplastics while also providing expanded coverage of the role oceans play in modern society from cruise ships to the America s Cup competition Part I of the book features a collection of 10 thematic essays covering the five oceans of the world and broad areas of study such as the shipping industry and the changing nature of ocean boundaries Part II includes more than 115 encyclopedia entries exploring topics ranging from the Bermuda Triangle to maritime law from tsunamis to ocean acidification Sidebars throughout offer fascinating facts that complement the main text The oceans of the world are the lifeblood of our planet They act as a climate regulator absorbing heat and influencing weather patterns The oceans teem with a vast and mostly unexplored diversity of life providing us with food and medicine Historically oceans have been the highways of exploration and trade connecting continents and fostering cultural exchange From ancient Polynesian voyagers to modern shipping lanes societies have relied on the oceans for transportation and resources Yet despite their vastness and importance the world's oceans face numerous threats including the effects of climate change pollution and exploitation of their bounty A Companion to Mediterranean History Peregrine Horden, Sharon Kinoshita, 2014-01-21 A Companion to Mediterranean History presents a wide ranging overview of this vibrant field of historical research drawing together scholars from a range of disciplines to discuss the development of the region from Neolithic times to the present Provides a valuable introduction to current debates on Mediterranean history and helps define the field for a new generation Covers developments in the Mediterranean world from Neolithic times to the modern era Enables fruitful dialogue among a wide range of disciplines including history archaeology art literature and anthropology

Climate Change Adaptation in Africa Gufu Oba, 2014-07-11 In the context of growing global concerns about climate change this book presents a regional and sub continental synthesis of pastoralists responses to past environmental changes and reflects on the lessons for current and future environmental challenges Drawing from rock art archaeology paleoecological data trade ancient hydrological technology vegetation social memory and historical documentation this book creates detailed reconstructions of past climate change adaptations across Sahelian Africa It evaluates the present and future challenges to climate change adaptation in the region in terms of social memory rainfall variability environmental change and armed conflicts and examines the ways in which governance and policy drivers may undermine pastoralists adaptive strategies The book's scope covers the Red Sea coast Somaliland Somalia the Ogaden region of Ethiopia and northern Kenya part of the Ethiopian highlands and Eritrea areas where past climate change has been extreme and future change makes it vital to understand the dynamics of adaptation This book will be of interest to students and scholars of environmental history human ecology geography climate change environment studies development studies pastoralism anthropology and African studies

Captives as Commodities Lisa A. Lindsay, 2008 Part of Prentice Hall's Connection Key Themes in World History series Written based on the author's annual course on slave trade Captives as Commodities examines three key themes 1 the African context surrounding the Atlantic slave trade 2 the history of the slave trade itself and 3 the changing meaning of race and racism The author draws recent scholarship to provide students with an understanding of Atlantic slave trade

Program of the Annual Meeting - American Historical Association American Historical Association, 2006 Some programs include also the programs of societies meeting concurrently with the association

International Journal of Maritime History, 2006 The First Horseman John Aberth, 2007 This text intends to emphasize to students that widespread deadly disease is not a distant historical phenomenon but a continuing threat to humanity It explains the economic political social and psychological problems that deadly diseases have caused in our past and the challenges we face currently and in the future The importance of this study is emphasized by the author's last line in the text The history of disease will go on despite once confident predictions of an end to epidemics in our times and those who now wage the heroic struggle to find elusive cures to our new plagues may find that they have more to learn from the past than had once been thought Recent Themes in the History of Africa and the Atlantic World Donald A. Yerxa, 2008 Drawn from the articles and forums in the Historical Societys tabloid publication Historically Speaking these pieces explore the relationship of Africa to world history map the current state of the burgeoning field of Atlantic history and debate the accuracy of Olaudah Equianos seminal narrative The standard approach of historians often compresses the African past into interpretive frameworks that leave Africans without a history of their own A case is made here for an alternative approach a multicentric world history that gives voice to the various ways Africans experienced the past and an impressive array of Africanist and world historians respond The volume also assesses the state of Atlantic Studies and includes a spirited forum on a provocative thesis that Olaudah Equiano author of the most important account available of the horrific Middle Passage was actually born in South Carolina and not Africa Designed to serve as a companion text for courses in African Atlantic and world history this volume will also appeal to lay readers interested in contemporary approaches to these topics
