Unsettling Narratives Unsettling Narratives:

Unsettling Narratives Clare Bradford, 2007 Children's books seek to assist children to understand themselves and their world Unsettling Narratives: Postcolonial Readings of Children's Literature demonstrates how settler society texts position child readers as citizens of postcolonial nations how they represent the colonial past to modern readers what they propose about race relations and how they conceptualize systems of power and government Clare Bradford focuses on texts produced since 1980 in Canada the United States Australia and New Zealand and includes picture books novels and films by Indigenous and non Indigenous publishers and producers From extensive readings the author focuses on key works to produce a thorough analysis rather than a survey Unsettling Narratives opens up an area of scholarship and discussion the use of postcolonial theories relatively new to the field of children's literature and demonstrates that many texts recycle the colonial discourses naturalized within mainstream cultures

Unsettling Narratives George Dalbo, 2025-03-21 Genocide education has become increasingly popular and prevalent in the United States over the past decade However genocide is all too often taught as something that occurred in the past or is happening far away What does it mean to teach about genocide in a settler colonial nation state that has yet to fully reckon with its violent past Unsettling Narratives: Teaching About Genocide in a Settler Space examines how high school students and their teacher navigated learning and teaching about genocide and mass violence in the context of a semester long comparative genocide and human rights elective course in rural south central Wisconsin Specifically how students and their teacher individually and collectively navigated the difficult knowledge of learning about settler colonialism the genocide of Indigenous peoples in the United States during the nineteenth century the legacies of genocide and mass violence at the intersections of U S and Indigenous societies during the twentieth and twenty first centuries and the enduring legacies of white supremacy and settlerness It reveals the complexities limits and possibilities of teaching and learning about genocide in the contemporary United States

Kipling's Children's Literature Sue Walsh, 2010 Despite Kipling's popularity as an author and his standing as a politically controversial figure much of his work has remained relatively unexamined due to its categorization as children's literature Sue Walsh challenges the apparently clear division between children's and adult literature suggesting new directions for postcolonial and childhood studies and interrogating the way biographical criticism on children's literature in particular has tended to supersede and obstruct other kinds of readings

Narratives Unsettled Samuel Frederick, 2012-08-31 Narratives Unsettled argues by way of close readings of three very different German language writers that only if we conceive of narrativity unburdened by plot can we properly account for radical forms of digression

Discourse and Narrative Methods Mona Livholts, Maria Tamboukou, 2015-04-14 Discourses and narratives are crucial in how we understand a world of rapid changes This textbook constitutes a unique introduction to two major influential theoretical and methodological fields discourse and

The Routledge Companion to Narrative Theory Paul Dawson, Maria Mäkelä, 2022-07-18 The Routledge Companion to Narrative Theory brings together top scholars in the field to explore the significance of narrative to pressing social cultural and theoretical issues How does narrative both inform and limit the way we think today From conspiracy theories and social media movements to racial politics and climate change future scenarios the reach is broad This volume is distinctive for addressing the complicated relations between the interdisciplinary narrative turn in the academy and the contemporary boom of instrumental storytelling in the public sphere The scholars collected here explore new theories of causality experientiality and fictionality challenge normative modes of storytelling and offer polemical accounts of narrative fiction nonfiction and video games Drawing upon the latest research in areas from cognitive sciences to complexity theory the volume provides an accessible entry point for those new to the myriad applications of narrative theory and a point of departure for new scholarship

Challenging Stories Anne Burke, Ingrid Johnston, Angela Ward, 2017-07-31 How can Canadian educators begin to instill cultural sensitivity and social awareness in elementary and secondary school students This vital text attempts to answer that question by bringing together literacy scholars and practicing teachers in a unique cross Canadian exploration of children s literature and social justice Through reflection on the experience of teaching with various Canadian texts including picture books novels and graphic novels the contributors behind Challenging Stories create a pedagogy of discomfort that will encourage both educators and their students to develop critical literacy skills The compelling contributions to this collection highlight the complexities of teaching with texts that address issues of discrimination historical marginalization colonialism racial and gender intolerance sexual orientation language and cultural diversity The authors offer first hand insight into the possibilities and challenges of implementing curricular and pedagogical changes to promote equity and social justice in the classroom Featuring the stories of participating teachers and an annotated bibliography of children s literature this invaluable resource will prove to be essential reading for current and future educators

might work to unsettle readers at a moment when unwelcome information is rejected as fake news or rebutted with alternative facts When readers already recognize defamiliarizing texts as a category how might texts still work toward the goals of defamiliarization When readers refuse to grapple with texts that might shock them or disrupt their extant views about politics race or even narrative itself how can texts elicit real engagement This study draws from philosophy narratology social neuroscience critical theory and numerous other disciplines to read texts ranging from novels and short stories to graphic novels films and fiction broadcasted and podcasted all of which enact curious strategies of disruption while insisting that they do no such thing Following a model traceable to Toni Morrison s criticism and short fiction texts by Kyle Baker Scott Brown Percival Everett Daniel Handler David Robert Mitchell Jordan Peele and Colson Whitehead suggest new strategies for unsettling the category based perceptions behind what Everett calls the insidious colonialist reader s eye which infects America Not a Big Deal examines problems in our perception of the world and of texts and insists we do the same

Parabolic Figures or Narrative Fictions? Charles W. Hedrick, 2016-06-10 Hedrick contends that parables do not teach moral and religious lessons they are not in whole or part theological figures for the church Rather parables are realistic narrative fictions that like all effective fiction literature are designed to draw readers into story worlds where they make discoveries about themselves by finding their ideas challenged and subverted or affirmed The parables have endings but not final resolutions because the endings raise new complications for careful readers which require further resolution The narrative contexts and interpretations supplied by the evangelists constitute an attempt by the early church to bring the secular narratives of Jesus under the control of the church s later religious perspectives Each narrative represents a fragment of Jesus s secular vision of reality Finding himself outside the mainstream of parables scholarship both ecclesiastical and critical Hedrick explored a literary approach to the parables in a series of essays that among other things set out the basic rationale for a literary approach to the parables of Jesus These early essays form the central section of the book They are published here in edited form along with unpublished critiques of a thoroughgoing literary approach and his response

The Analyst's Experience of the Depressive Position Steven H. Cooper, 2016-03-31 In The Analyst's Experience of the Depressive Position: The Melancholic Errand of Psychoanalysis Steven Cooper explores a subject matter previously applied more exclusively to patients but rarely to psychoanalysts Cooper probes the analyst's experience of the depressive position in the analytic situation These experiences include the pleasures and warmth of helping patients to bear what appears unbearable as well as the poignant experiences of limitation incompleteness repetition and disappointment as a vital part of clinical work He describes a seam in clinical work in which the analyst is always trying to find and re-find a position from which he can help patients to work with these experiences The Analyst's Experience of the Depressive Position includes an exploration of the analyst's participation and resistance to helping patients hold some of the most unsettling parts of their experience Cooper draws some analogies between elements of theory about aesthetic experience in terms of how we bear new and old experience He provides an examination of the patient as an artist of sorts and the analyst as a form of psychic boundary artist Just as the creative act of art involves the capacity to transform pain and ruin into the depressive position so does the co-creation of how we understand the patient's mind through the mind of the analyst The Analyst's Experience of the Depressive Position explores a rich provocative and long overdue topic relevant to psychoanalysts psychodynamically oriented psychotherapists as well as students and teachers of both psychoanalysis and psychodynamic psychotherapy
