Whose Criminal Justice State Or Community:

Fine Lines and Distinctions Terrence Morris, Louis Blom-Cooper, 2011-06-20 Written by two of the UK's leading experts on the law of homicide Contains new information and analysis Suggests a radical new solution to the mess which English homicide law has become In this powerful account the authors show that from Sir Edward Coke's classic common law definition of murder through political fixes poorly thought out compromises and misguided legislative or Executive tinkering the English law of homicide is in a mess Even the most adept legal minds are faced with what has been described in Parliament as fine lines and distinctions What must juries make of messy laws and how can anyone have confidence in criminal justice if laws affecting some of the most serious offences in the criminal calendar are deeply flawed To make matters worse the entire subject of homicide in England and Wales is further distorted by the existence of the mandatory life sentence for murder Building on unrivalled knowledge extensive research close practical observation and incisive analysis Professor Terrence Morris and Sir Louis Blom Cooper QC trace the development of the law of homicide from early times to the present day They counter and dismantle specious arguments for preserving the status quo and point out that only root and branch reform of the basis of liability for homicide and its sentencing regime will serve to restore justice fairness and political probity Professor Terrence Morris and Sir Louis Blom Cooper QC are two of the UK's leading experts on the law of homicide having studied developments together for over 50 years This has led them to recognise the extent of disquiet especially following particularly troubling cases and to conclude that the law of homicide in England and Wales is an unsatisfactory law enveloped in a political fix Their suggestion of a replacement single offence of criminal homicide coupled with abolition of the mandatory life sentence for murder in favour of discretion at the sentencing stage demands close study by judges lawyers legislators academics penal reformers and anyone who senses that something is seriously amiss This is no dry legal tome The authors present their case in a bracing persuasive and highly readable way This is an important and stimulating work that should engage not just the legal practitioner politician or law student but anyone concerned with our justice system or puzzled by the conduct and outcome of a murder trial guardian.co.uk Fine Lines and Distinctions prompted me to pay more attention to and reflect further on those who have killed Though its primary focus is the law specifically a potentially significant improvement to the law I also warmly recommend it to anyone interested in lifers Independent Monitor This timely provocative and certainly topical book puts forward a closely argued and well supported case for encouraging a root and branch reform of the law of homicide and provides ample evidence and ammunition to those who would agree that such a reform should be put in place as a matter of urgency by Phillip Taylor MBE and Elizabeth Taylor of Richmond Green Chambers

Restorative Justice and Street Group Violence Theo Gavrielides,2021-04-16 The socio economic impacts of the global COVID19 pandemic the Black Lives Matter movement the abuse of police power and persistent inequalities have taken communities to the streets The implications of riots and street group violence for governments across the world spark a new debate on the appropriateness of restorative approaches in relieving the overstretched and costly criminal justice system Despite the impressive literature on restorative justice the potential and indeed viability of its paradigm with street group violence such as riots remain largely unexplored This timely ebook uses the case study method to investigate four examples in India Greece Canada and England where restorative justice is considered within the context of street group violence Key issues are identified and recommendations are posited as new policies practices and research are being proposed in this grey area of restorative justice The book is backed up with a lecture and original evidences collected by the author in four countries To watch the lecture that was held in Vancouver as part of the Simon Fraser University Bruce and Lis Welch Community Dialogue https://www.sfu.ca/dialogue/programs/welch_dialogue/riots_restorative_justice.html Gavrielides research also appeared in The Guardian <https://www.theguardian.com/public-leaders-network/blog/2011/aug/12/listen-young-people-break-cycle> It is a great honour for the Centre for Restorative Justice at Simon Fraser University in Vancouver Canada to be partnering with Theo Gavrielides to better understand and respond to street group violence as characterized through riots Both Vancouver and England experienced the devastating impact of riots in the summer of 2011 Other cities and countries have also felt the heavy impact of riots while police and the justice system brace themselves for more The time is ripe to be asking different questions building new partnerships and exploring innovative solutions This book represents a first step in that direction and opens the door for further partnership and collaboration Professor Brenda Morrison Director of the Centre for Restorative Justice Simon Fraser University To cite this e book Gavrielides T 2021 Restorative Justice and Street Group Violence London RJ4All Publications ISBN 978 1 911634 39 3 DOI 10 13140 RG 2 2 30094 33608 The Social Welfare Forum National Conference of Social Work (U.S.).
