Zerr Bible Commentary Volume 5 - Matthew-Romans E. M. Zerr, 2006-01-01 If brethren somehow could be made acquainted with Brother Zerr's Bible Commentary it is possible that it could be as widely used as has been Johnson's Notes first published in 1889 Brother Zerr printed very little of the Bible text in his commentary He assumed you would have your own Bible nearby To have printed in the commentary the entire Bible would have required at least three other volumes While it would have been helpful to have the Bible text printed by the comments this unnecessary luxury would have been very expensive since we all have copies of the Scriptures already Furthermore Brother Zerr intended that one be compelled to use his Bible in order that his commentary never supplant the Sacred text Volume V covers Matthew to Romans

Thru the Bible Commentary Series John Vernon McGee, 1991

The Chrysostom Bible - 2 Corinthians Paul N. Tarazi, 2013-03-01 The Chrysostom Bible Commentary Series is not so much in honor of John Chrysostom as it is to continue and promote his legacy as an interpreter of the biblical texts for preaching and teaching God's congregation In this volume Tarazi explains that previous studies of 2 Corinthians are plagued by the unwarranted premise that the Corinthian correspondence contains different letters sent out on different occasions The premise sounds convincing Tarazi writes because several times one hears reference to Paul having written to the Corinthians 1 Cor 5 9 2 Cor 2 2 3 7 12 if not outright to letters 1 Cor 5 9 2 Cor 7 8 10 9 11 However when one deals with the New Testament books as literature then one will realize that reference to something written is a mere literary stratagem to draw the hearer's attention to the importance of what is being said The Rev Rev Dr Paul Nadim Tarazi is Professor of Biblical Studies and Languages at St Vladimir's Orthodox Theological Seminary He is the author of a three volume Introduction to the Old Testament a four volume Introduction to the New Testament Galatians A
