reaching stirring ancient powers from their slumber and transforming Casteel and Kieran in ways even the Fates couldn't have foreseen. But what that means is the least of their concerns. For now, what was foreseen: The Blood Crown has fallen, but what has risen is a far greater danger than they've ever faced. From flesh and fire, the Great Conspirator has returned to the mortal realm, and he wants only one thing: They must stop the true Primal of Death before he regains his strength, and it won't be easy. Even weakened, his influence is undeniable. His power, unthinkable, has come to be. While the future of the realms rests upon them, they won't stand alone. The gods have awakened, each harboring their own blood-soaked secrets. But they must navigate an unbalanced realm where every choice, past and present, has the potential to not only undo everything they've fought for but also destroy the very bonds that have joined them together. For the Harbinger and the Bringer of Death and Destruction has risen.

And the battle Casteel, Poppy, and their allies have been fighting has only just begun. Gods are awakening across Iliseum and the mortal realm, readying for the war to come. But when Poppy falls into stasis, Cas faces the very real possibility that the dire, unexpected consequences of what she is becoming could take her away from him. Cas is given some advice, though something he plans to cling to as he waits to see her beautiful eyes open once more. Talk to her. And so he does. He reminds Poppy how their journey began, revealing things about himself that only Kieran knows in the process. But it's anybody's guess what she'll wake to or exactly how much of the realm and Cas will have changed when she does.
