Rebound Cindy Kuzma, Carrie Jackson Cheadle, 2019-08-22 The evidence-backed guidance in this long overdue resource is as crucial to managing the mental side of injury as good healthcare providers are to managing the physical side. Matt Fitzgerald, author of 80/20 Running, written by a leading mental skills coach and contributing editor to Runner's World US, this is a practical guide to building the psychological resilience that athletes need to recover from injury and rebound stronger. Injuries affect every athlete, from the elite Olympian to the weekend racer. In the moment, a traumatic crash, a torn muscle, or a stress fracture can feel like the most devastating event possible. While some athletes are destroyed by the experience, others emerge from their recovery better, stronger, and more confident than ever. The key to a swifter, stronger comeback is the use of mental skills, psychological tools that enable an athlete to take control of their recovery and ultimately use the experience to their advantage Injury and other setbacks are inevitable but with training overcoming them skillfully and confidently is possible This book will provide a clear compelling explanation of psychological recovery from injury and a practical guide to building mental resilience Weaving together personal narratives from star athletes scientific research and the specialized clinical expertise of mental skills coach Carrie Jackson Cheadle it will contain more than 45 Mental Skills and Drills that athletes can use at every phase of their recovery process These same strategies can help athletes who aren't currently injured reduce their vulnerability to injury and enable any individual to reach new heights within their sport and beyond competences has become widespread across universities An introduction to generic competences is as such important because it enables redefinition of educational goals and may positively rearrange forms of interaction in classes It also indicates that education should inspire students to develop and use critical and creative forms of thinking feeling and doing On the one hand the need to promote generic skills can be seen as driven by neoliberal desire On the other however generic competences can enable students to think feel and act differently but also respect and welcome various forms of life and ways of living Responding to the growing need to reflect upon generic competences this book contributes to the various ways of conceptualising generic skills and the methods in which they might be acquired The volume engenders adventurous encounters between different theories which predominantly come from the feminist conceptual framework that result in appealing meanings of affect and concepts It also experimentally explores and discusses ways in which theories of affect and concepts may complicate understanding of generic competences and inspire generic skills oriented education Consequently this collection revitalizes the concept of generic skills but also advocates daring pedagogical practices that invigorate the meaning of and approach to teaching and learning in present landscapes of higher education The Divine Private

A Victorian Art of Fiction John Olmsted, 2016-03-10 First published in 1979, this collection of thirty-three essays on the novel drawn from thirteen periodicals demonstrates the primary concerns of those discussing the nature and purpose of prose fiction in the period from 1851 to 1869. The essays reflect what was thought and said about the art of fiction and reveal what journalists of these periodicals thought were the most urgent critical concerns facing the working reviewer. This volume includes work by major mid-century reviewers such as David Masson, George Henry Lewes, Walter Bagehot, William Caldwell, Roscoe, Richard Holt Hutton, and Leslie Stephen. Including an introduction which assesses the issues raised by the best periodicals at the time, this anthology is designed to provide students of Victorian fiction and critical theory with a collection of essays on the art of fiction in a convenient and durable form.

Defying Dystopia Ed Ayres, 2016-06-30 To most, the collapse of modern civilization is the stuff of fiction. Yet science confirms that misuse of technology and environmental abuse places our world in grave danger of ruin. The World Scientists' Warning to Humanity places our civilization on a collision course. Defying Dystopia analyzes how we have come to this and what options remain for far-seeing people to take control of their own destiny and survive the future. Ed Ayres, who has worked with some iconic environmental scientists of the past half-century, argues that technology was originally used to augment the natural strengths of humans but has been increasingly used in ways that weaken us, shifting from useful work to the industries of distraction, entertainment, convenience, pain relief, and sedation. Ayres advises on how at least some of us can avoid that collision The most critical task for those of us who want humanity to survive and thrive is to disengage from our tech thralldom and shift to a conscious management of our evolution in which we use technology to enhance our skills and strengths rather than erode or supplant them Ayres provides insightful actionable suggestions we can use to increase our odds of survival He asks far seeing individuals to take on a mission that the dominant governments and institutions demonstrably cannot the epic task of shepherding a low profile resilient transition to a new kind of human future
