Training the Devotional Life Luther Allan Weigle, Henry Hallam Tweedy, 1919 A successful painter who loves going to the track finds himself in the biggest race of his life as he works to clear his cousin's name of murder and trap a ruthless killer before the killer traps him Training the Devotional Life (Classic Reprint) Luther Allan Weigle, 2017-12-23 Excerpt from Training the Devotional Life The Sunday school has begun to share in this better understanding of the aims and methods of education Religion too may be best taught by practising it To instruction therefore the Sunday school has added worship and service as essential elements of its educational program This is not to imply a relative neglect of the intellectual side of its work The Sunday school of today should afford more thorough instruction than the ungraded school of a generation ago But Its program is more complete It provides for expression as well as for impression It seeks definitely and systematically to develop within its pupils the active attitudes and habits of Christian living and Christian worship This book deals with the elementary principles of Christian worship and undertakes to set forth some of the methods whereby Children may be trained in such worship to the upbuilding of their devotional life It is addressed primarily to Sunday school teachers and aims to help them prepare themselves for this aspect of their work But just because training in Christian worship is peculiarly a matter in which home and church must unite with the school it addresses itself quite as directly to parents and to pastors In no phase of religious education is there more need and larger Opportunity for team work than in this About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Burke Rochford,2007-05 Most widely known for its adherents chanting Hare Krishna and distributing religious literature on the streets of American cities the Hare Krishna movement was founded in New York City in 1965 by A C Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupada Formally known as the International Society for Krishna Consciousness or

ISKCON it is based on the Hindu Vedic scriptures and is a Western outgrowth of a popular yoga tradition which began in the 16th century In its first generation ISKCON actively deterred marriage and the nuclear family denigrated women and viewed the raising of children as a distraction from devotees spiritual responsibilities Yet since the death of its founder in 1977 there has been a growing women s rights movement and also a highly publicized child abuse scandal Most strikingly this movement has transformed into one that now embraces the nuclear family and is more accepting of both women and children steps taken out of necessity to sustain itself as a religious movement into the next generation At the same time it is now struggling to contend with the consequences of its recent outreach into the India born American Hindu community Based on three decades of in depth research and participant observation Hare Krishna Transformed explores dramatic changes in this new religious movement over the course of two generations from its founding

Bible Readers and Lay Writers in Early Modern England Kate Narveson,2016-04-15 Bible Readers and Lay Writers in Early Modern England studies how immersion in the Bible among layfolk gave rise to a non professional writing culture one of the first instances of ordinary people taking up the pen as part of their daily lives Kate Narveson examines the development of the culture looking at the close connection between reading and writing practices the influence of gender and the habit of applying Scripture to personal experience She explores too the tensions that arose between lay and clergy as layfolk embraced not just the chance to read Scripture but the opportunity to create a written record of their ideas and experiences acquiring a new control over their spiritual self definition and a new mode of gaining status in domestic and communal circles Based on a study of print and manuscript sources from 1580 to 1660 this book begins by analyzing how lay people were taught to read Scripture both through explicit clerical instruction in techniques such as note taking and collation and through indirect means such as exposure to sermons and then how they adapted those techniques to create their own devotional writing The first part of the book concludes with case studies of three ordinary lay people Anne Venn Nehemiah Wallington and Richard Willis The second half of the study turns to the question of how gender registers in this lay scripturalist writing offering extended attention to the little studied meditations of Grace Lady Mildmay Narveson concludes by arguing that by mid century despite clerical anxiety writing was central to lay engagement with Scripture and had moved the center of religious experience beyond the church walls

Manuscript and Print in the Islamic Tradition Scott Reese,2022-09-06 This volume explores and calls into question certain commonly held assumptions about writing and technological advancement in the Islamic tradition In particular it challenges the idea that mechanical print naturally and inevitably displaces handwritten texts as well as the notion that the so called transition from manuscript to print is unidirectional Indeed rather than distinct technologies that emerge in a progressive series one naturally following the other they frequently co exist in complex and complementary relationships relationships we are only now starting to recognize and explore The book brings together essays by internationally recognized scholars from an array of disciplines including philology linguistics religious studies history anthropology and typography whose work focuses on the written word channeled through various media as a social and cultural phenomenon within the Islamic tradition These essays promote systematic approaches to the study of Islamic writing cultures writ large in an effort to further our understanding of the social cultural and intellectual relationships between manuscripts printed texts and the people who use and create them
