Trickster Travels A Sixteenth Century Muslim Between Worlds:

Trickster Travels Natalie Zemon Davis, 2008 Al Hasan al Wazzan born in Granada to a Muslim family that in 1492 went to Morocco became famous as the great Renaissance writer Leo Africanus author of the first geography of Africa to be published in Europe in 1550 He had been captured by Christian pirates in the Mediterranean and imprisoned by the pope when he was released and baptized he lived a European life of scholarship as the Christian writer Giovanni Leone by 1527 it is likely that he returned to North Africa and to the language culture and faith in which he had been raised Historian Davis offers a virtuoso study of the fragmentary partial and often contradictory traces that al Hasan al Wazzan left behind him and a fresh interpretation of his extraordinary life and work In Trickster Travels Davis describes all the sectors of her hero's life in rich detail scrutinizing the evidence of al Hasan's movement between cultural worlds the Islamic and Arab traditions genres and ideas available to him and his adventures with Christians and Jews in a European community of learned men and powerful church leaders In depicting the life of this adventurous border crosser Davis suggests the many ways cultural barriers are negotiated and diverging traditions are fused From publisher description The Western Mediterranean and the World Teofilo F. Ruiz, 2017-10-02 From the Straits of Gibraltar to Sicily the European northern Mediterranean nations to the shores of North Africa the western Mediterranean is a unique cultural and sociopolitical entity which has had a singular role in shaping today's global society The Western Mediterranean and the World is the fascinating story of the rise of that peculiar world and of its evolution from the end of the Western Roman Empire to the present Uniquely rather than present the history of the region as a strict chronological progression the author takes a thematic approach telling his story through a series of vignettes case studies and original accounts so as to provide a more immediate sense of what life in and around the Mediterranean was like from the end of the Roman Empire in the West to the present immigration crisis now unfolding in Mediterranean waters Emphasizing the development of religion and language and the enduring synergies and struggles between Christian Jews and Muslims on both shores of the western sea Dr Ruiz connects the region to the larger world and locates the development of Mediterranean societies within a global context Describes the move from religious and linguistic unity under Roman rule to the fragmented cultural landscape of today Explores the relationship of language culture and geography focusing on the role of language formation and linguistic identity in the emergence of national communities Traces the movements of peoples across regions and their encounters with new geographical cultural and political realities Addresses the emergence of various political identities and how they developed into set patterns of political organization Emphasizes the theme of encounters as seen from Christian Muslim and Jewish perspectives While it is sure to become a definitive text for university courses on Mediterranean history The Western Mediterranean and the World will also have great appeal among scholars of the Mediterranean as well as general readers of history Part of The Blackwell History of the World Series The goal of this ambitious series is to provide an accessible source of knowledge about the entire human past for every curious person in every part of the world It will comprise some two dozen volumes of which some provide synoptic views of the history of particular regions while others consider the world as a whole during a particular period of time The volumes are narrative in form giving balanced attention to social and cultural history in the broadest sense as well as to institutional development and political change Each provides a systematic account of a very large subject but they are also both imaginative and interpretative The Series is intended to be accessible to the widest possible readership and the accessibility of its volumes is matched by the style of presentation and production

Shakespeare through Islamic Worlds Ambereen Dadabhoy, 2024-02-29 Shakespeare through Islamic Worlds investigates the peculiar absence of Islam and Muslims from Shakespeare's canon While many of Shakespeare's plays were set in the Mediterranean a geography occupied by Muslim empires and cultures his work eschews direct engagement with the religion and its people This erasure is striking given the popularity of this topic in the plays of Shakespeare's contemporaries By exploring the limited ways in which Shakespeare uses Islamic and Muslim tropes and topoi Ambereen Dadabhoy argues that Islam and Muslim cultures function as an alternate or shadow text in his works ranging from his staged Mediterranean plays to his histories and comedies By consigning the diverse cultures of the Islamic regimes that occupied and populated the early modern Mediterranean Shakespeare constructs a Europe and Mediterranean freed from the presence of non white non European and non Christian Others which belied the reality of the world in which he lived Focusing on the Muslims at the margins of Shakespeare's works Dadabhoy reveals that Islam and its cultures informed the plots themes and intellectual investments of Shakespeare's plays She puts Islam and Muslims back into the geographies and stories from which Shakespeare had evacuated them This innovative book will be of interest to all those working on race religion global and cultural exchange within Shakespeare as well as people working on Islamic Mediterranean and Asian studies in literature and the early modern period

Jews and Muslims in Seventeenth-Century Discourse Gary K. Waite, 2018-11-16 Jews and Muslims in Seventeenth Century Discourse explores for the first time the extent to which the unusual religious diversity and tolerance of the Dutch Republic affected how its residents regarded Jews and Muslims Analyzing an array of vernacular publications this book reveals how Dutch writers especially those within the nonconformist and spiritualist camps expressed positive attitudes toward religious diversity in general and Jews and Muslims in particular Through covering the Eighty Years War 1568 1648 and the post war era it also highlights how the Dutch search for allies against Spain led them to approach Muslim rulers The Dutch were assisted in this by their positive relations with Jews and were thus able to shape a more affirmative portrayal of Islam Revealing noticeable differences in language and tone between English and Dutch publications and exploring societal attitudes and culture Jews and Muslims in Seventeenth Century Discourse is ideal for students of British and Dutch early modern cultural intellectual and religious history

Premodern Travel in World History Stephen Gosch, Peter Stearns, 2007-12-12 Featuring some of the greatest travellers in human history this survey uses succinct accounts of the most

The Thinking Historian Eric W. Sager, 2025-01-27 What is history What are historians doing when we create our histories The need for answers is more urgent than ever We live in an era when history is often rejected or ignored and when all teachers of history confront formidable challenges In the culture of screen capitalism and social media historical knowledge is evaded in an expanding present minded consciousness How can history be defended and what is it that we are defending This book argues that history is a mode of thinking a form of imaginative reasoning with its own informal logic In non technical language and using examples from important works of history the book defines core elements in historical thinking These include contingency complexity temporality parts and wholes consilience perspectives analogy and abduction These elements are subsumed into the concept of imaginative reasoning The overall argument echoes the work of hermeneutic philosophers History is a disciplined imagination tempered and empowered by its forms of reasoning It embraces ethical imperatives that the historian has a duty to declare Equipped with such understanding historians may answer the many rejections of history and secure its place in our shared futures

God's Shadow Alan Mikhail, 2020-08-18 An arresting New York Times Book Review revisionist history demonstrating how Islam and the Ottoman Empire made our modern world The history of the Ottoman Empire once the most powerful state on earth ruling over more territory and people than any other world power has for centuries been distorted misrepresented and suppressed in the West With this original and wide ranging Wall Street Journal global history Alan Mikhail vitally recasts the Ottoman conquest of the world through the dramatic biography of Sultan Selim I 1470 1520 Drawing on previously unexamined sources and upending prevailing shibboleths about Islamic history and jingoistic rise of the West theories Mikhail's game changing account radically transforms our understanding of the importance of Selim's Ottoman Empire in the annals of the modern world
