Education Research and the Media Aspa Baroutsis, Stewart Riddle, Pat Thomson, 2018-12-07 Universities around the world now actively encourage academics to engage in public scholarship publishing in traditional and new media newspapers television radio blogs and social media

Education Research and the Media addresses this situation using empirical and reflexive accounts to interrogate and advance the ways in which this shift is usually discussed Drawing on Australian and international scholars and contexts this edited collection probes the effects of these engagements Taken together the book offers new conceptualisations of the junctures and disjunctures of local national and transnational mediascapes in education research working across both traditional media and social media platforms The book takes as its starting point that traditional national media while still significant are now embedded in practices and discourses that transcend geographic and spatial boundaries Global media logics challenge the profitability and operations of media corporations as the production of news and information is paradoxically both democratised and fragmented There is a limited body of research about how this mediatised landscape impacts on public scholarship This is the first book in the field of education to systematically investigate this landscape using empirical examples and analysis as well as a range of theoretical and conceptual approaches

Digital Influence

Mercenaries James (J.F.) Forest, 2022-04-15 In today's online attention economy supply and demand have created a rapidly growing market for firms and entrepreneurs using the tactics tools and strategies of digital influence warfare to gain profit and power This book focuses on the more malicious types of online activity such as deception provocation and a host of other dirty tricks conducted by these digital influence mercenaries They can be located anywhere with an Internet connection Brazil China Iran Macedonia Russia Zimbabwe and the targets of their influence efforts can be whomever and wherever they are paid to attack They can do this for state governments willing to pay and provide their targeting instructions usually in support of foreign policy objectives and may have specific metrics by which they will assess the mercenaries performance Non state actors including corporations and political parties can pay for these kinds of digital influence services as well And in addition to being paid for services rendered digital influence mercenaries can also profit simply by manipulating the targeted advertising algorithms used by social media platforms James J F Forest describes in detail the various tools and tactics these mercenaries use to exploit the uncertainties fears and biases of their targets including bots deep fake images fake news provocation deception and trolling He also shows how they weaponize conspiracy theories and disinformation to manipulate people's beliefs and perceptions Forest also highlights how government agencies and social media platforms are trying to defend against these foreign influence campaigns through such tactics as shutting down offending websites Facebook pages and YouTube channels tagging disinformation with warning labels identifying and blocking coordinated inauthentic behavior and suspending social media accounts often permanently European and North American governments have launched numerous investigations against these mercenaries and in some cases have brought criminal charges Forest concludes with suggestions for how each of us can learn to identify disinformation and other malicious efforts and defend ourselves in the future
