Two Dianas in Alaska Agnes Herbert, 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1909 edition Excerpt fallen I had felt it would How can one hope to rear a bear cub on a sealing schooner with a crew constantly offering the animal rations ranging from inadequately cooked beans to drinks of hot greasy cocoa The pretty little cub I would he were still a creature of the boundless wild I would But Tom began with the fell ghouliness of the lower orders to describe the manner of the end This was too much If he liked to harrow his own feelings why try to harrow mine When we jump a stiff fence we sometimes land on a harrow but there s no earthly need to put one there On deck the crew were wrangling as to which of their number killed the little bear with o er much kindness The cook accused a shrinking youth a French Canadian who seemed so likely to be blamed for the disaster as he had not sufficient go about him to repudiate all connection with it that Cecily and I felt we must to his rescue albeit we were biassed Women are very seldom impartial their sympathies go out rightly or wrongly to the weaker and losing side their desire is always to assist the dog that is under and have nothing to do with the cynical advice of the philosopher who advocated the system of taking the part of the man with the largest club Cecily suggested that very likely the chef himself had overdone his attentions a little a flank movement which diverted things and left the cook stranded in a backwater of unspoken annoyance I was glad that Cecily got in so telling a shot for the cook paid no attention to any one save himself and his own creature comforts In some men as they grow older the milk of human kindness dries up They have no sympathy Ralph came upon the scene and smoothed and soft soaped the crew and Two Dianas in Alaska, By Agnes Herbert and a Shikeri Agnes Herbert, 1909 With Rifle & Petticoat Kenneth Czech, 2002-08-30 The image that comes to mind when you think of big game hunters is of African safaris with men carrying enormous guns hunting exotic game But there were women on those trips as well and not just the trips to Africa and they were often as successful at the hunt as the men Women such as Lady Florence Dixie Agnes Herbert Osa Johnson Grace Gallatin Seton and Gladys Harriman hunted so well they made names for themselves and wrote of their adventures Divided into chapters detailing a specific time period region hunted or individual woman With Rifle and Petticoat explores the interesting women who hunted a variety of big game animals around the world Gender, Companionship, and Travel Floris Meens, Tom Sintobin, 2018-12-07 Over the last couple of decades there has been a strong academic interest in how individuals interact with each other while en route Yet even if various studies have informed us about present day realities of travel companionships we know little about the influence of gender both on these realities as well as on the discourse in which these are being narrated This book aims to establish an agenda for the study of companionship in travel writing by offering a collection of new essays which study texts that belong to the broad category of pre modern and modern travel literature Chapters explore the differences and similarities in the ways that women and men in the past chose to describe their experiences with and or their ideas about companionship and specifically reveals the influence of gender norms conventions restrictions and stereotypes This is the first book which looks at the long term interdisciplinary and genuinely international history of gendered discourses on companionship in travel writing It will be of interest to scholars and students from a wide variety of disciplines including cultural and social history as well as cultural literary gender travel and tourism studies The Academy and Literature ,1909 The Hunter Elite Tara Kathleen Kelly, 2018-03-15 At the end of the nineteenth century Theodore Roosevelt T S Van Dyke and other elite men began describing their big game hunting as manly sport with the rifle They also began writing about their experiences publishing hundreds of narratives of hunting and adventure in the popular press and creating a new literary genre in the process But why did so many of these big game hunters publish What was writing actually doing for them and what did it do for readers In exploring these questions The Hunter Elite reveals new connections among hunting narratives publishing and the American conservation movement Beginning in the 1880s these prolific hunter writers told readers that big game hunting was a test of self restraint and manly virtues and that it was not about violence They also opposed their sportsmanlike hunting to the slaughtering of game by British imperialists even as they hunted across North America and throughout the British Empire Their references to Americanism and manliness appealed to traditional values but they used very modern publishing technologies to sell their stories and by 1900 they were reaching hundreds of thousands of readers every month When hunter writers took up conservation as a cause they used that reach to rally popular support for the national parks and for legislation that restricted hunting in the US Canada and Newfoundland The Hunter Elite is the first book to explore both the international nature of American hunting during this period and the essential contributions of hunting narratives and the publishing industry to the North American conservation movement Subject Index of the Modern Works Added to the Library of the British Museum in the Years 1906-1910 British Museum.
