or child job loss chronic pain or disease or psychological disorders Love Songs in Motion Christina J. Woolner, 2023-11-24

At first listen music is conspicuously absent from Somaliland's public soundscapes. The lingering effects of a war that devastated the artistic community and the increasing presence of Salafist groups which see music as incompatible with Islamic principles have muted musical practice. Nonetheless, as Christina Woolner undertook research in postwar peacebuilding in Somaliland's capital Hargeisa, she continually heard snippets of songs. Many of these she learned were about love. In a time and region riddled with precarity, hees jacayl permits singers to sing from the heart, a mode of voicing songs that Woolner calls envocalization, which allows the possibility of dareen wadaang feeling sharing. Despite their intense intimacy that is hees jacayl transcends the connection between the lover and the beloved, becoming also perhaps paradoxically an outward-facing unifying force that powerfully draws together those suffering from love: poets, composers, singers, and listeners in both private and public spaces. Taking us from 1950s recordings preserved on dusty cassettes to contemporary often improvisatory performances in a scandalous venue where the author herself eventually performs, Woolner offers an understanding of love songs across time and space that opens new realms of possibility for relating to others and for local reconciliation, which are otherwise closed off by overwhelming conditions of precarity.

Reversing Chronic Pain Maggie Phillips, 2007-09-25

Reversing Chronic Pain offers a dynamic framework for joining body and mind to speed the healing of traumatic pain from the body level up. Each chapter presents a body-centered skill set that can be mastered through a broad menu of practice exercises. The resulting interlinked somatic building blocks help readers shift from physical pain to body awareness and from unstoppable suffering to heartfelt connection and peace. Building on the AIDS cocktail approach that reflects the fact that chronic pain is complex and no one tactic is likely to solve the problem, renowned expert Maggie Phillips presents a 10-1 pain plan comprised of easy strategies based on somatic experience. Even if the reader's pain is perceived as a 10 at the onset of the program, with 10 being intolerable, the somatic building blocks help shift the pain one point at a time until it gradually diminishes to 1 or even zero. Showing how the common professional interventions—medication, physical therapy, acupuncture, biofeedback—may be more harmful than healing, Reversing Chronic Pain stresses self-treatment throughout, involving sufferers in attaining lives not simply endured but actively enjoyed.

Living Through Pain Kristin M. Swenson, 2005

In Living Through Pain, Kristin Swenson charts the multifaceted personal and social problems caused by chronic pain. This book also surveys professional efforts to mitigate and manage pain. Because the experience of pain involves all aspects of a person—body, mind, spirit, and community—Swenson consults an ancient resource for wisdom, perspective, and insight. Her close reading of selected psalms from the Hebrew Bible demonstrates that the challenge of living through pain is timeless. Living Through Pain chronicles how these ancient texts offer a vocabulary and grammar for understanding and expressing the contemporary experience of pain. Pain is a universal experience, and this book invites readers to consider more fully what is involved in the process of healing.
