Assault from the Sky Dick Camp, 2013-08-26 Action packed he brings the reader artfully through the fog of war with clarity 20th Century Aviation Magazine Vietnam has often been called our first helicopter war and indeed the US Marine Corps as well as Army had to feel its way forward during the initial combats But by 1967 the combat was raging across South Vietnam with confrontational battles against the NVA on a scale comparable to the great campaigns of WWII In 1968 when the Communists launched their mammoth counteroffensive the Marines were forced to fight on all sides with the helicopter giving them the additional dimension that proved decisive in repelling the enemy The author of this book a Vietnam veteran and Purple Heart recipient who has also worked at the USMC History Division and National Museum of the Marine Corps in Quantico uses his experiences as a company commander to bring the story to life by weaving personal accounts after action reports and official documents into a compellingly readable narrative of service and sacrifice by Marine pilots and crewmen The entire story of the war is depicted through the prism of Marine helicopter operations from the first deployments to support the Army of the Republic of Vietnam against the Viet Cong through the rapid US buildup to stop the North Vietnamese Army until the final withdrawal from our Embassy Superlative research Leatherneck Bonnie-Sue Marion F. Sturkey, 1996 U S Marine Corps helicopter crews found little glory waiting for them in faraway Vietnam Instead they became locked in a savage struggle with tenacious Sino Soviet pawns in a desperate battle for survival The author combines fascinating detail with grim realism He uses hundreds of records from Marine Corps archives to build the outline for this riveting chronology Onto this framework he weaves personal accounts from helicopter crews Step through this unique looking glass into the crucible of combat in Vietnam Experience the love and brotherhood shared by helicopter crews and Marine infantrymen Their survival became their victory There Was No Music Michael Peters, 2021-05-31 There Was No Music is a recollection of a naval aviator and founding member of a unique combat aviation unit the HA L 3 Seawolves the most decorated navy squadron of the Vietnam conflict The unit is currently the subject of a Smithsonian sponsored historical novel and a nationally televised PBS documentary The author is cited in the novel and appears in the documentary In a parallel narrative the author reflects on the aftermath of the combat experience a quixotic journey dogged by post traumatic stress related to the combat experience Though the subject matter is often grim the author's perception is cast in a darkly humorous context This work evolves in two concurrent parts one detailing my Vietnam combat experience where as a decorated naval aviator the author logged in excess of 800 hours of combat flight time and was twice wounded twice shot down and continually engaged in combat actions culminating in a top secret rescue operation The parallel story considers the author's reentry into civilian life a unique odyssey intertwined with significant socio political events of the post World War II era the Southern California beach scene Watergate and President Nixon's resignation Aspen Colorado evolving as a haven for refugees of the 60's cultural revolution and a celebrity mecca Gary Hart's disastrous presidential campaigns and the launch of the International Space Station While in Vietnam the author flew heavily armed helicopters off refitted World War II transport ships that also served as a mother craft to the river patrol boat teams that plied the Mekong River The patrol boats were seeking out munitions and supplies that were being delivered via nondescript watercraft to the insurgent Viet Cong guerilla squads that occupied the Mekong Delta The helicopters provided air cover to counter the countless sniper attacks and set ambushes directed at the boats The mission was unique to the Vietnam conflict and the author was among the initial cadre of pilots dubbed the Seawolves who gave life to and validated the concept These efforts anticipated and enabled the formation of Helicopter Attack Light Squadron three HA L 3 These endeavors also attracted the attention of another fledgling organization the US Navy SEALs that resulted in collaborative efforts that would continue throughout the Vietnam conflict
