The World Of Suzie Wong Chinese Edition:

Classic Hollywood, Classic Whiteness Daniel Bernardi, 2001 East Asian-German Cinema Joanne Miyang Cho, 2021-09-29 This is the first edited volume dedicated to the study of East Asian German cinema. Its coverage ranges from 1919 to the present, a period which has witnessed an unprecedented degree of global entanglement between Germany and East Asia. In analyzing this hybrid cinema, this volume employs a transnational approach which highlights the nations cinematic encounters and entanglements. It reveals both German perceptions of East Asia and East Asian perceptions of Germany through analysis of works by both German directors and East Asian East Asian German directors. It is hoped that this volume will not only accelerate cross cultural exchange but also provide a wider perspective that helps film scholars to see the broader contexts in which these films are produced. It introduces multiple compelling topics: not just immigration, multiculturalism and exile, but also Japonisme, children's literature, musical modernity, media hybridity, gender representation, urban space, Cold War divisions, and national identity. It addresses several genres: feature films, essay films, and documentary films. Lastly, by embracing three East Asian cinemas in one volume, this volume serves as an excellent introduction for German cinema students and scholars. It will appeal to international and interdisciplinary audiences as its contributors represent multiple disciplines and four world regions. Feminism, Multiculturalism, and the Media Angharad N.

Valdivia, 1995-09-27 This groundbreaking collection explores the intersecting variables of groups marginalized by the media. Contributors examine gender, race, class, sexual orientation, geography, and ethnicity in relation to feminist multicultural issues. Highly recommended for students of feminism, multiculturalism, cultural studies, communication theory, and media analysis. Choice. Most of the world's women experience multiple forms of oppression, yet few communication scholars have prioritized this profound reality. Professor Valdivia's collection examining feminism, multiculturalism, and the media is a welcome text for courses on women, minorities, and communication, plus an excellent resource for many other courses concerned with issues of diversity. H. Leslie Steeves, University of Oregon. Many contributors illustrate contradictions in multicultural and feminist media perspectives. These embrace more than feminist analysis. They illustrate how gender, race, class, and ethnicity affect media coverage and reception, providing theoretical approaches to analyzing media coverage. The Bookwatch. The multiplicity of voices in this volume illustrates the contradictions inherent in multicultural and feminist perspectives on the media. Feminism, Multiculturalism, and the Media breaks new ground by exploring intersecting variables of oppression from the personal to the political. The volume begins with feminist analyses but uncovers marginalized others in every area. These compelling case studies illustrate how issues of gender, race, class, sexual orientation, global origin, and ethnicity affect the coverage, portrayal, media production, and reception of every human being. The chapters present theoretical perspectives, provide examples of methodologies, focus on topics of current interest and global relevance, and represent a variety of media. An essential addition for any individual or classroom interested in critical perspectives on media, especially for courses on women in the media and minorities and the media Women in the Western Matheson Sue Matheson, 2020-07-31 In Westerns women transmit complicated cultural coding about the nature of westward expansionism heroism family life manliness and American femininity As the genre changes and matures depictions of women have transitioned from traditional to more modern roles Frontier Feminine charts these significant shifts in the Western's transmission of gender values and expectations and aims to expand the critical arena in which Western film is situated by acknowledging the importance of women in this genre Global Hong Kong Cindy Wong, Gary McDonogh, 2014-06-03 Global Hong Kong locates Hong Kong in the contemporary globalizing world Hong Kong as the authors argue is an archetypal place sitting at the intersection of East and West It is also a major center for global capital flows and world trade Moreover in recent years the island's global cultural power has become increasingly evident as Hong Kong popular culture has spread to the West via a booming film industry While looking at issues of postcoloniality transnationalism and economic globalization Wong and McDonogh focus on the new cultures and social formations of contemporary Hong Kong as well as the transformation of the physical city itself They also trace the new interconnections economic demographic social and cultural between Hong Kong and other parts of the world that have been fostered by globalization Books in this series look at how nations and regions across the world are navigating the tumultuous currents of globalization Concise descriptive interdisciplinary and theoretically informed they serve as ideal introductions to the peoples and places of our increasingly globalized world
