Theological Reflections At The Boundaries:

Theological Reflections at the Boundaries Paul O. Ingram, 2011-11-04 The interdependence of boundary questions and the experience of cognitive dissonance reveal that knowledge in all fields of inquiry is always incomplete and tentative. The issues are particularly acute for Christian theological reflection. Ingram illustrates the importance of boundary questions and cognitive dissonance as a means of creatively transforming contemporary Christian theological reflection through dialogue with the natural sciences and the world's religions, particularly Buddhism, filtered through the lenses of Whiteheadian process philosophy.

Theological Reflection and Education for Ministry John E. Paver, 2016-02-17 A major and continuing problem for theological education and the practice of Christian ministry is how to best achieve a genuine integration between theory and practice, theology and experience. The key claim of this book is that theological reflection beginning with experience is a method of integration and that pastoral supervision is a vehicle for theological reflection. In establishing this claim, John Paver demonstrates that the model and method have potential to be a catalyst for reform within theological colleges and seminaries. Three different theological reflection models are developed and critiqued in this book, and their capacity to be developed in particular contexts is explored. This book does not stop at ministry, cultural and personal integration but is bold enough to make recommendations for structural integration within the theological institution.

Theological Reflection for Human Flourishing Cameron Helen, 2015-04-21 Practical theology and theological reflection are growing areas of theological studies. This book aims to create a bridge between pastoral practice and public theology.

Theological Reflection Edward O. De Bary, 2003 Theological reflection has its roots in the works of Bernard Lonergan, David Tracy, James and Evelyn Whitehead, John de Beer, Patricia Killen, Flower Ross, and Charles Winters. It provides a way of learning theology so that participants can develop congruence between life's experience, the world, and the Christian faith. The reflective methods are useful educational tools. Other disciplines may find them useful to enhance the way seminars are organized as learning opportunities to discover meaning.

Theological Reflection and the Pursuit of Ideals Dale Wright, Maria Antonaccio, 2016-02-17 Contemporary thought is marked by heated debates about the character, purpose, and form of religious thinking and its relation to a range of ideals: spiritual, moral, aesthetic, political, and ecological, to name the obvious. This book addresses the interrelation between theological thinking and the complex and diverse realms of human ideals. What are the ideals appropriate to our moment in human history, and how do these ideals derive from or relate to theological reflection in our time? In Theological Reflection and the Pursuit of Ideals, internationally renowned scholars from a range of disciplines—physics, art, literary studies, ethics, comparative religion, history of ideas, and theology—engage with these crucial questions with the intention of articulating a new and historically appropriate vision of theological reflection and the pursuit of ideals for our global times.

Theological Reflection across Religious Traditions Edward Foley, 2015-02-12 Theological reflection connecting real-life ministry and religious traditions is a core component of most pastoral training. It is also a hallmark of practical theology and a common spiritual exercise among ordinary Christians trying to discern how their beliefs might influence daily living Yet our society is increasingly pluralistic with growing numbers of people from varying belief systems from Islam to Buddhism as well as an increasing number of atheists In this book Edward Foley reimagines theological reflection in interfaith contexts and with those of no faith tradition The book addresses and celebrates diverse beliefs and envisions the practice of theological reflection in such contexts Theological Reflection Across Religious Traditions introduces readers to the basics of traditional forms of theological reflection then considers how it might be reconceived in different contexts from interfaith ministers working together to reduce poverty and homelessness to people of diverse or no faith traditions strategizing to secure the dignity of undocumented immigrants Beyond suggestions for collaborative social action the book offers tools for productive interfaith conversation through a process Foley calls reflective believing This is a groundbreaking rethinking of theological reflection for today's world proposing that people across the religious landscape can participate in reflective believing for personal and communal benefit without sacrificing their own integrity Theological Reflections Elaine Graham, 2013-01-08

secular pluralism As a Lutheran Ingram thinks grace flows over this universe like a waterfall So he brings Christian mystical theology into a discussion of the meaning of grace Alfred North Whitehead s philosophical vision provides a language that serves as a hermeneutical bridge by which historians of religions can interpret the teachings and practices of religious Ways other than their own without falsification and by which theologians can appropriate history of religions research as a means of helping Christians advance in their own faith journeys The purpose of the journey of faith is what Whitehead called creative transformation The contemporary theological tradition that has most systematically and coherently followed Whitehead s lead in its reflection on non Christian Ways is process theology which is perhaps the only liberal or progressive theological movement now active in the twenty first century Persons in Relation Najib George Awad,2014-05-01 Tracing out the origins of the Trinitarian revival in the modern era particularly on account of the influence of Schleiermacher Tillich Barth Rahner and Pannenberg through to the destabilizing effects of postmodernity on Trinitarian discourse the author provides a critical hermeneutic for the evaluation and implementation of thoughtful Trinitarian theology in the contemporary world Within this frame the author argues for viewing the Trinity as the intellectual and conceptual context and interdisciplinary arena of interaction between theology and other forms of intellectual inquiries to generate a robust multifaceted and historically fluent doctrine of the Trinity Transforming Encounters and Critical Reflection: African Thought, Critical Theory, and Liberation Theology in Dialogue Justin Sands,Anné Hendrik Verhoef,2018-12-04 This book is a printed edition of the Special Issue Transforming Encounters and Critical Reflection African Thought Critical Theory and Liberation Theology in Dialogue that was published in Religions Meaning and Method in Comparative Theology Catherine Cornille,2019-02-21 The first systematic overview of the field of comparative theology Meaning and Method in Comparative Theology offers a synthesis of and a blueprint for the emerging field of comparative theology It discusses various approaches to the field the impact of religious views of other religions on the way in which comparative theology is conducted and the particularities of comparative theological hermeneutics It also provides an overview of the types of learning and of the importance of comparative theology for traditional confessional theology Though drawing mainly from examples of Christian comparative theology the book presents a methodological framework that may be applied to any religious tradition Meaning and Method in Comparative Theology begins with an elaboration on the basic distinction between confessional and meta confessional approaches to comparative theology The book also identifies and examines six possible types of comparative theological learning and addresses various questions regarding the relationship between comparative and confessional theology Provides a unique and objective look at the field of comparative theology for scholars of religion and theologians who want to understand or situate their work within the broader field Contains methodological questions and approaches that apply to comparative theologians from any religious tradition Recognizes and affirms the diversity within the field while advancing unique perspectives that might be the object of continued discussions among theologians

Meaning and Method in Comparative Theology offers an important basis for scholars to position their own work within the broader field of comparative theology and is an essential resource for anyone interested in theology conducted in dialogue with other religious traditions 2021 PROSE Finalist in the Theology Religious Studies category What are They Saying about Theological Reflection? Robert L. Kinast, 2000 Theological reflection is a form of theologizing that begins with lived experience correlates this with the sources of Christian faith and draws out concrete implications for praxis Robert Kinast finds five distinct types of theological reflection from within this common form ministerial spiritual wisdom feminist inculturation and practical theology Each of these styles is analyzed in terms of the type of experience it favors the way it connects this experience to theology and what sort of praxis it envisions The end result is a succinct overview of this wide ranging and diverse approach to theology BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved On Moral Medicine M.
