The Human Experience Elizabeth DePoy, 2007 The Human Experience examines analyzes and applies theories of humans environments and human environment interaction to professional thinking and action The authors highlight tacit values and assumptions that underlie theory generation and application to professional practice and challenge the reader to answer two questions how do we know and what do we do with our knowledge Significant critical emphasis is devoted to diversity of humans and environments and the value perimeter in which professionals think and act

Developmental Psychology: From Infancy to Development Fiona White, David Livesey, Brett Hayes, 2012-08-20 Developmental Psychology From infancy to adulthood 3rd edition continues to bring together a balanced focus on Australian and international research contributions in developmental psychology Students and lecturers alike will find this text addresses the issues of lifespan development in a rigorous and challenging way using a thematic rather than chronological approach International and national research on graduate attributes consistently identifies critical thinking as one of the most important skills for psychology students The inclusion of Critical Thinking for Group Discussion at the end of each chapter is designed to encourage students in the development of this key skill These questions help students develop the ability to engage in discussions on truth and validity and evaluate the relative importance of ideas and data Students learn by doing and this is encouraged through interactive features such as Stop and Review Research Focus Boxes and Practical Exercises which engage them in group discussion and challenge them to delve into complex and cross domain analysis of lifespan development Concept maps at the start of each chapter provide students with a visual snapshot of the chapter content

A New Synthesis for Solving the Problem of Psychology Gregg Henriques, 2022-12-10 In this incisive analysis of academic psychology Gregg Henriques examines the fragmented nature of the discipline and explains why the field has had enormous difficulty specifying its subject matter and how this has limited its ability to advance our knowledge of the human condition He traces the origins of the problem of psychology to a deep and profound gap in our knowledge systems that emerged in the context of the scientific Enlightenment To address this problem this book introduces a new vision for scientific psychology called mental behaviorism The approach is anchored to a comprehensive metapsychological framework that integrates insights from physics and cosmic evolution neuroscience the cognitive and behavioral sciences developmental and complex adaptive systems theory attachment theory phenomenology and social constructionist perspectives and is well grounded in the philosophy of science Building on more than twenty years of work in theoretical psychology and drawing on a wide range of literature Professor Henriques shows how this new approach to scientific knowledge fills in the gaps of our current understanding of psychology and can allow us to develop a more holistic and sophisticated way to understand animal and human mental behavioral patterns This work will especially appeal to students and scholars of general psychology and theoretical psychology as well as to historians and philosophers of science

Resilience and Success of African American Pastors Dr. Terence O. Hayes Sr., 2021-04-23 The content of this manuscript is research investigated for the resilience and success of pastors in the Church of God in Christ a Pentecostal denomination that has over six million members to include over three thousand pastors The research is a phenomenological study designed to provide a narrative interview of the participants to share their background role and day to day practices of the work of ministry as a senior pastor in this organization The research will consist of seven to ten pastors selected from across the country all African American males age groups ranging from 42 years to 72 years of age The information will be gathered by personal interviews conducted by asking each of them the same questions to gather all the facts and data for this research design The instrument used will be a recording device that will record all conversations that will be transcribed in writing verbatim As the human instrument conducting this research it will constitute travel lodging and scheduling of each participant that will give the researcher an intimate up and close contact with each participant The information will be safeguarded names will be protected and all information will be useful as a model example of what constitutes success for ministry and the tools and resources needed to maintain a healthy and productive state of mind to be resilient in leading the charge as clergymen in the field of ministry It is with great joy and a privilege to conduct this interview with pastors serving in the Church of God in Christ

Shocks, States, and Sustainability Thomas K. Rudel, 2019 For the past two decades scientists have urged us to abandon fossil fuels as rapidly as possible and pursue a range of other environmental reforms to avert the many crises climate change will bring The reforms have not occurred at the expected rate and their absence raises questions about when they might occur In Shocks States and Sustainability Thomas K Rudel addresses this question He outlines a theory of environmental revolutions and when they will likely occur through a comparison of radical environmental reforms throughout the 20th century By looking at farmers in the American Dust Bowl land use planners in post war England small farmers in post Soviet Cuba and lobster fishers along the coast of Maine Rudel emphasizes how sudden focusing events can spur radical reforms by providing a fresh realization about the scarcity of natural resources Shocks States and Sustainability explains how earth shaking events like droughts depressions and wars can provide the foundations necessary for the pursuit of global sustainability
