Burton, 1875 Two Trips to Gorilla Land and the Cataracts of the Congo Richard Francis Burton, 2020-06-28 During the hot season of 1863 Nanny Po as the civilized African calls this lofty and beautiful island had become a charnel house a dark and dismal tomb of Europeans The yellow fever of the last year which wiped out in two months one third of the white colony more exactly 78 out of 250 had not reappeared but the conditions for its re appearance were highly favourable The earth was all water the vegetation all slime the air half steam and the difference between wet and dry bulbs almost nil Thoroughly dispirited for the first time I was meditating how to escape when H M Steamship Torch steamed into Clarence Cove and Commander Smith hospitably offered me a passage down south To hear was to accept Two days afterwards July 29 1863 I bade a temporary adios to the enemy The bitterness of death remained behind as we passed out of the baneful Bights Wind and wave were dead against us yet I greatly enjoyed the gradual emerging of the sun through his shroud of smokes the increasing consciousness that a moon and stars really exist the soft blue haze of the sky and the coolness of 73 F at 6 A M in the captain s cabin I had also time to enjoy these charms The Torch was not provided with despatch boilers she was profoundly worm eaten and a yard of copper occasionally clapped on did not prevent her making some four feet of water a day So we rolled leisurely along the well known Gaboon shore and faintly sighted from afar Capes Lopez and St Catherine and the fringing ranges of Mayumba land a blue line of heights based upon gently rising banks ruddy and white probably of shaly clay The seventh day August 5 placed us off the well known red hills of Loango land The country looks high and bold after the desperate flatness of the Bights and we note with pleasure that we have left behind us the impervious luxuriance of vegetation which crowns the lowlands covers the sides of the rises and caps their summits During the rains after October the grass now showing yellow stubble upon the

ruddy rusty plain becomes a cane fence ten to twelve feet tall but instead of matted felted jungle knitted together by creepers of cable size we have scattered clumps of dark lofty and broad topped trees A nearer view shows great cliffs weather worked into ravines and basins ribs and ridges towers and pinnacles Above them is a joyful open land apparently disposed in two successive dorsa or steps with bright green tiers and terraces between and these are pitted with the crater like sinks locally called holes so frequent in the Gaboon country Southwards the beauty of eternal verdure will end and the land will become drier and therefore better fitted for Europeans the nearer it approaches Mossamedes Bay South of Little Fish again a barren tract of white sand will show the Last Tree an inhospitable region waterless and bulwarked by a raging sea

Missions, States, and European Expansion in Africa Chima Jacob Korie, Raphael Chijioke Njoku, 2007 Missions States and European Expansion in Africa aims to explore the ways Christianity and colonialism acted as hegemonic or counter hegemonic forces in the making of African societies As Western interventionist forces Christianity and colonialism were crucial in establishing and maintaining political cultural and economic domination Indeed both elements of Africa s encounter with the West played pivotal roles in shaping African societies during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries This volume uses a wide range of perspectives to address the intersection between missions evangelism and colonial expansion across Africa The contributors address several issues including missionary collaboration with the colonizing effort of European powers disagreements between missionaries and colonizing agents the ways in which missionaries and colonial officials used language imagery and European epistemology to legitimize relations of inequality with Africans and the ways in which both groups collaborated to transform African societies Thus Missions States and European Expansion in Africa transcends the narrow boundaries that often separate the role of these two elements of European encounter to argue that missionary endeavours and official colonial actions could all be conceptualized as hegemonic institutions in which both pursued the same civilizing mission even if they adopted different strategies in their encounter with African societies

The Pinkster King and the King of Kongo Jeroen Dewulf, 2016-12-20 The Pinkster King and the King of Kongo presents the history of the nation s forgotten Dutch slave community and free Dutch speaking African Americans from seventeenth century New Amsterdam to nineteenth century New York and New Jersey It also develops a provocative new interpretation of one of America s most intriguing black folkloric traditions Pinkster Jeroen Dewulf rejects the usual interpretation of this celebration of a slave king as a form of carnival Instead he shows that it is a ritual rooted in mutual aid and slave brotherhood traditions By placing these traditions in an Atlantic context Dewulf identifies striking parallels to royal election rituals in slave communities elsewhere in the Americas and he traces these rituals to the ancient Kingdom of Kongo and the impact of Portuguese culture in West Central Africa Dewulf s focus on the social capital of slaves follows the mutual aid to seventeenth century Manhattan He suggests a much stronger impact of Manhattan s first slave community on the development of African American identity in New York and New Jersey than hitherto assumed While the earliest works on slave culture in a North American context concentrated on an assumed process of assimilation according to European standards later studies pointed out the need to look for indigenous African continuities The Pinkster King and the King of Kongo suggests the necessity for an increased focus on the substantial contact that many Africans had with European primarily Portuguese cultures before they were shipped as slaves to the Americas The book has already garnered honors as the winner of the Richard O Collins Award in African Studies the New Netherland Institute Hendricks Award and the Clague and Carol Van Slyke Prize The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science, Art, and Finance ,1875 The Great Apes Chris Herzfeld,2017-11-14 A unique beautifully illustrated exploration of our fascination with our closest primate relatives and the development of primatology as a discipline This insightful work is a compact but wide ranging survey of humankind s relationship to the great apes chimpanzees bonobos gorillas orangutans from antiquity to the present Replete with fascinating historical details and anecdotes it traces twists and turns in our construction of primate knowledge over five hundred years Chris Herzfeld outlines the development of primatology and its key players and events including well known long term field studies notably the pioneering work by women such as Jane Goodall Dian Fossey and Birut Galdikas Herzfeld seeks to heighten our understanding of great apes and the many ways they are like us The reader will encounter apes living in human families painting apes apes who use American Sign Language and chimpanzees who travelled in space A philosopher and historian specializing in primatology Herzfeld offers thought provoking insights about our perceptions of apes as well as the boundary between human and ape and what it means to be either
