New Theatre Quarterly 35: Volume 9, Part 3 Clive Barker, Simon Trussler, 1993-10-14 Provides an international forum for the discussion of topics of current interest in theatre studies This issue includes articles on women and theatre in Spain Sarah Bernhardt in Vaudeville Giorgio Strehler's Faust project Deborah Levy in interview and social space in ancient theatre

Theatre Symposium, Vol. 9, 2001-07-02 This collection of essays explores how drama can teach political principles and entertain at the same time Political commentary is possible through variety theatre this volume contends Compiled from the April 2000 Theatre Symposium held on the campus of the University of Tennessee Knoxville this collection of essays presents a compelling mix of theoretical and practical viewpoints from a broad diversity of scholars from around the country What remains to be learned about the political objectives of Brecht's Lehrstücke What political power is resident in the satirical humor of Dario Fo's drama What can we learn from Mordecai Gorelik's political artistic philosophy that might inform contemporary practice What was the impact of political theatre on Broadway between the wars Is Thornton Wilder's Our Town the play we've always imagined it to be or does it challenge the politics of its time What is the role of theatre activism in raising consciousness about gender politics These are only some of the questions addressed by this lively informative discussion

The York Mystery Cycle and the Worship of the City Pamela M. King, 2006 An investigation into the connections between the York Plays religious observance and the role played by the city itself WINNER of the 2007 David Bevington Prize The York Play is the earliest near complete English civic mystery cycle It evolved constantly throughout its long performance history but the text that was recorded in the York Register shows that it was already a mature and elaborate civic festival by the time it was written down This study uncovers the Cycle's connection with worship in York in the sense both of devotional practice and of civic honour informing a particular period in the cultural history of the city The pageants in the Register show in their different ways how the community which devised and performed the Cycle regarded the celebration of the great summer feast of Corpus Christi Moreover the principles of selection that give the Cycle its structure reflect the broader pattern of the liturgical calendar with its other feasts and fasts The Cycle bears witness not only to the practices of religious observance in York but also to the ecclesiastical politics in which the city was caught up from the very beginning of the fifteenth century PAMELA KING is Professor of Medieval Studies at the University of Bristol

Woman's Theatrical Space Hanna Scolnicov, 1994-07-14 A historical and comparative study in which is revealed the changing conventions of the theatrical space as faithful expressions of the changing attitudes to woman and her sexuality
