Transition Strategies Cases From The East German Industry:

Transition Strategies H. Hungenberg, T. Wulf, 2002-07-16 The transition process of the countries of Central and Eastern Europe which started more than a decade ago has been the focus of much attention for both practitioners and scholars Few studies however address management issues involved in the transition process and no study has until now assessed the strategies and tactics which individual companies have pursued over the past decade as part of their adaptation process This book fills this gap and will leave the reader with a better understanding of the adaptation process at single firm level The Political Economy of Germany Under Chancellors Kohl and Schröder Jeremy Leaman, 2009 While unification has undoubtedly had major effects on Germany's political economy the pattern of current policy making preferences was established at an earlier stage in particular at the beginning of the Kohl era in 1982 This essentially neo liberal pattern can be seen to have dominated the modalities chosen to guide Germany through the process of unification and was mirrored in developments in other OECD countries and in particular within the EU This book demonstrates that the three policy imperatives neo liberal structural reform European monetary integration and unification produced a policy mix which together with other structural economic and demographic factors has had disappointing results in all three areas and hampered Germany's overall economic development

Work, Employment and Transition Al Rainnie, Adrian Smith, Adam Swain, 2005-07-28 Since the late 1980s the experiences of work and employment in the former communist world have been profoundly transformed Work Employment and Transition brings together a series of essays by leading international scholars which highlights the varied and complex forms that work and employment restructuring are taking in the post soviet world and makes important theoretical contributions to our understanding of these transformations

Dislocation: Awkward Spatial Transitions Philip Cooke, 2021-05-17 Today the world is in the most serious turmoil it has experienced for many centuries These multiple crises arise from the fundamental mistreatment by capitalist competition of the carrying capacity of the planet Even before coronavirus evidently morbid symptoms of over development led many spatial planners to write of the threat of a new Dark Age Many advocated a return to policy decentralisation as the Covid 19 crisis demonstrated once again the failure of global controller mindsets to manage complex systems successfully Dislocation Awkward Spatial Transitions is a critical exploration of where spatial development processes and rules have gone wrong across many economies The chapters lay out which mindsets have been responsible for this and gives pointers to new practices that aim to ameliorate the effects of past failings In the first nine chapters a mapping of key elements of the prevailing omni crisis are summarised These range from an exegesis of the Anthropocene the rise of populism the transition to neoliberalist anti planning and migration as planning issues with pleas for evolutionary change in spatial policy and process dynamics Finally a group of chapters explores the flailing as territorial governances tried to plot the rise of creative cities 4.0 era industry and services and in the built form the role of architects in city renewal In the last part attention is devoted to territorial innovation knowledge recombination sustainable mobility and finally green entrepreneurship as necessary elements of a post coronavirus climate change mitigation and sustainable mobility set of survival strategies The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal European Planning Studies Long Range Planning Society for Long Range Planning, European Planning Federation, 1968
