Windrush Mike Phillips, Trevor Phillips, 1998 Broadcaster Trevor Phillips and his novelist brother retell the very human story of Britain's first West Indian immigrants and their descendants from the first wave of immigration fifty years ago to the present day

Narrative Projections of a Black British History Eva Ulrike Pirker, 2012-03-29 Since the mid 1990s the black experience in Britain has begun to be re negotiated intensely with a strong focus on history Narrative Projections of a Black British History considers narratives that construct or engage with aspects of a black British history Part I poses the question of what sort of narratives have emerged from and in turn determine key events such as the iconic Windrush moment and developments and provides basic insights into theoretical frameworks It also offers a large number of comparative readings considering both factual and fictional forms of representation such as history books documentary films life writing novels and drama and identifies main strands official narratives and countercurrents Part II embarks on close readings and analyses of a selection of narratives that can be classed as reactions to the established historical culture Overall the book draws attention to collective currents and individual positions affirmative and critical approaches Together they form a representative image of a specific moment in the ongoing debate about a black British history

Companion to Contemporary Black British Culture Alison Donnell, 2002-09-11 The Companion to Contemporary Black British Culture is the first comprehensive reference book to provide multidisciplinary coverage of the field of black cultural production in Britain The publication is of particular value because despite attracting growing academic interest in recent years this field is still often subject to critical and institutional neglect For the purpose of the Companion the term black is used to signify African Caribbean and South Asian ethnicities while at the same time addressing the debates concerning notions of black Britishness and cultural identity This single volume Companion covers seven intersecting areas of black British cultural production since 1970 writing music visual and plastic arts performance works film and cinema fashion and design and intellectual life With entries on distinguished practitioners key intellectuals seminal organizations and concepts as well as popular cultural forms and local activities the Companion is packed with information and suggestions for further reading as well as offering a wide lens on the events and issues that have shaped the cultural interactions and productions of black Britain over the last thirty years With a range of specialist advisors and contributors this work promises to be an invaluable sourcebook for students researchers and academics interested in exploring the diverse complex and exciting field of black cultural forms in postcolonial Britain

Black British Women's Writing in the 1970s and Beyond Camille S. Alexander, 2024-01-23 Black British writing in the decades after the Windrush generation was marked by a significant change more immigrant women were published in the UK in these decades than ever before This book is a collection of essays examining the texts of some of these women writers Included are essays on Black British women writers such as Warshan Shire Eintou Pearl Springer Beryl Gilroy Buchi Emecheta and Barbara Jenkins which span the literary period from the 1970s to the early 2000s The essays in this collection propose that these women writers represent the voices of another subgenre of Black British writing and they are connected through immigration or temporary migration to the UK Yet they also remain firmly attached to their geographical and cultural origins The essays included in this collection explore what it means to be a Black British woman writer and how members of this group were able to conceptualise home in their fiction Race, Faith and Planning in Britain Richard Gale,Huw Thomas,2020-09-21 Race Faith and Planning in Britain adopts a Critical Race Theory perspective to analyse and discuss challenges of planning in contemporary multi ethnic Britain Exploring how planning is affected by and affects the racialisation of social relations this book charts the history of the UK planning system s approach in terms of the spatial consequences of immigration and discourses of diversity cohesion citizenship and belonging Authors Richard Gale and Huw Thomas pay special attention to the experiences of minority groups in Britain including Gypsies and Travellers and British Muslims They underline that the struggle over planning in racialised societies must be construed as part of a wider political struggle over equality This book is an essential read for students and practitioners of planning in multi cultural contexts Racial Fictions Hazel V. Carby,2025-11-25 Drawing on a rich tapestry of historical analysis literary criticism and cultural theory Hazel V Carby interrogates our racial fictions which have been constructed maintained and weaponized across centuries to justify systems of domination and exploitation Traversing temporalities and global boundaries Racial Fictions reveals the inter connectedness of America s domestic racial struggles and international colonial ambitions Carby challenges readers to confront uncomfortable truths about the persistence of white supremacy the violence embedded in historical memory and the silencing of marginalized voices The result is a profound exploration of the intricate and enduring legacies of race imperialism and violence in the formation of modern identities and nation states Migrant Britain Jennifer Craig-Norton,Christhard Hoffmann,Tony Kushner,2018-08-14 Britain has largely been in denial of its migrant past it is often suggested that the arrivals after 1945 represent a new phenomenon and not the continuation of a much longer and deeper trend There is also an assumption that Britain is a tolerant country towards minorities that distinguishes itself from the rest of Europe and beyond The historian who was the first and most important to challenge this dominant view is Colin Holmes who from the early 1970s onwards provided a framework for a different interpretation based on extensive research This challenge came not only through his own work but also that of a new school of students who studied under him and the creation of the journal Immigrants and Minorities in 1982 This volume not only celebrates this remarkable achievement but also explores the state of migrant historiography including responses to migrants in the twenty first century Theories of Race and Racism Les Back,John Solomos,2020-08-14 Theories of Race and Racism A Reader is an important and innovative collection that brings together extracts from the work of scholars both established and up and coming who have helped to shape the study of race and racism as an historical and contemporary phenomenon This second edition incorporates new contributions and editorial material and allows readers to explore the changing terms of debates about the nature of race and racism in contemporary societies All six parts are organized around the contributions made by theorists whose work has been influential in shaping theoretical debates The various contributions have been chosen to reflect different theoretical perspectives and to help readers gain a feel for the changing terms of theoretical debate over time As well as covering the main concerns of past and recent theoretical debates it provides a glimpse of relatively new areas of interest that are likely to attract more attention in years to come

The High Tide of British Trade Unionism John McIlroy, Nina Fishman, Alan Campbell, 2007 Individual essays chart the position of men and women in work assess the impact of immigration and map industrial politics Case studies open up other fields unions relations with the Labour Party media coverage union education the Cold War and the diverse political forces from Labourism to Trotskyism forging industrial relations This path breaking analysis provides an excellent guide to the trade unionism and militancy of the 1960s and 1970s

Racial Science and British Society, 1930-62 Gavin Schaffer, 2008-09-02 The study of race has been an important feature in British universities for over a hundred years During this time academic understanding of what race describes and means has changed and developed as has the purpose of racial study Once considered the preserve of biologists and physical anthropologists over the course of the last century the study of race has transferred mostly into social scientific disciplines such as sociology This book explores this passing of authority on racial matters in the context of international and domestic political issues In a period which spans the rise and fall of Nazism the onset of the Cold War the birth of Apartheid and the death of legal US segregation Racial Science and British Society 1930 62 considers the relationship between science politics and ideology arguing that racial scholarship in Britain was shaped in every period by factors outside of science At the same time it argues that it is possible to see the influence of expert racial scholarship in every significant action of government immigration policy during this period This major new study of Twentieth century Britain calls into question the impact of racial ideas on British society and probes into the nature of knowledge production in science

Teen Life in Europe Shirley R. Steinberg, 2005-10-30 Contains profiles of the experiences of typical teenagers in twelve different European countries providing information on the history of the country as well as family life school food social life recreation and entertainment and religion

London is the Place for Me Kennetta Hammond Perry, 2015-12-01 Black people in the British Empire have long challenged the notion that there ain t no black in the Union Jack For the post World War II wave of Afro Caribbean migrants many of whom had long been subjects of the Empire claims to a British identity and imperial citizenship were considered to be theirs by birthright However while Britain was internationally touted as a paragon of fair play and equal justice they arrived in a nation that was frequently hostile and unwilling to incorporate Black people into its concept of what it meant to be British Black Britons therefore confronted the racial politics of British citizenship and became active political agents in challenging anti Black racism In a society with a highly racially circumscribed sense of identity and the laws customs and institutions to back it up Black Britons had to organize and fight to assert their right to belong In London Is The Place for Me Kennetta Hammond Perry explores how Afro Caribbean migrants navigated the politics of race and citizenship in Britain and reconfigured the boundaries of what it meant to be both Black and British at a critical juncture in the history of Empire and twentieth century transnational race politics She situates their experience within a broader context of Black imperial and diasporic political participation and examines the pushback both legal and physical that the migrants presence provoked Bringing together a variety of sources including calypso music photographs migrant narratives and records of grassroots Black political organizations London Is the Place for Me positions Black Britons as part of wider public debates both at home and abroad about citizenship the meaning of Britishness and the politics of race in the second half of the twentieth century The United Kingdom s postwar discriminatory curbs on immigration and explosion of racial violence forced White Britons as well as Black to question their perception of Britain as a racially progressive society and therefore to question the very foundation of their own identities Perry s examination expands our understanding of race and the Black experience in Europe and uncovers the critical role that Black people played in the formation of contemporary British society The Front Room Michael McMillan,2009 The Front Room Migrant Aesthetics in the Home is an exploration of the post war British experience of immigrants the decoration of their living spaces and their position in society in relation to decolonisation British and Irish Literature and Its Times Joyce Moss,2001 Examines the relationship between the political social climate during which books were written and the works themselves This volume focuses on major fiction poetry and nonfiction from Great Britain and Ireland from the Victorian Era to the present Nationality - Wog Kester Aspden,2007 When the body of David Oluwale a rough sleeper with a criminal history and a mental illness was pulled out of the River Aire in May 1969 no one asked too many questions about his death A year and a half later rumours that the Nigerian man had been subject to a campaign of abuse from police officers led to a criminal investigation Forms of Migration. Migration of Forms. Cultural Studies Associazione Italiana di Anglistica,2009 Conscripts of Modernity David Scott,2004-12-03 Uses C L R James s*The Black Jacobins* as a jumping off point for a reconsideration of colonial and postcolonial concepts of history politics and agency Jamaican Hands Across the Atlantic Elaine Bauer,Paul Thompson,2006 This title is a study of some 45 families originating in Jamaica who also have members in both Britain the US and Canada Interviews with these families provide insights into the dynamics of transnational families A Ship and a Prayer Stephen Bourne,Sav Kyriacou,1999
