The Ethics of Intensification Paul B. Thompson, 2008-09-19 The Ethics of Agricultural Intensification An Interdisciplinary and International Conversation Paul B Thompson and John Otieno Ouko Global agriculture faces a number of challenges as the world approaches the second decade of the third millennium Predictions unilaterally indicate dramatic increases in world population between 2010 and 2030 and a trend in developing countries toward greater consumption of animal products could multiply the need for production of basic grains even further Although global food production in 2000 was estimated to be adequate for the existing population hunger and malnutrition are persistent problems that have led decision makers to recognize that increasing food production in specific regions may be the most effective way to address food security for impoverished peoples At the same time there will need to be policy adjustments that improve poor people's access to current food supplies without simultaneously undercutting the ability of local producers to obtain needed cash income What is more the uncertain effects of global climate change on agricultural ecosystems complicate planning for this process while poorly understood processes of globalization create additional unknowns from the side of social systems In short despite surpluses in many parts of the developed world finding ways to increase food production on both selected regional and a total global basis remains a priority for many farmers policy makers and agricultural researchers

Equine Cultures in Transition Jonna Bornemark, Petra Andersson, Ulla Ekström von Essen, 2019-01-10 Societal views on animals are rapidly changing and have become more diversified can we use them for our own pleasure and how should we understand animal agency These questions asked both in theoretical discourses and different practices are also relevant for our understanding of horses and the human horse relation Equine Cultures in Transition stands as the first volume to bring together ethical questions of the new field of human horse studies For instance what sort of ethics should be developed in relation to the horse today an egalitarian ethics or an ethics that builds upon asymmetrical relations How can we understand the horse as a social actor and as someone who just like the human being becomes through interspecies relations Through which methods can we give the horse a stronger voice and better understand its becoming These questions are not addressed from a medical or ethological perspective focused on natural behaviour but rather from human acknowledgement of the horse as a sensing feeling acting and relational being and as a part of interspecies societies and relations Providing an introductory yet theoretically advanced and broad view of the field of post humanism and human animal studies Equine Cultures in Transition will appeal to students and researchers interested in fields such as human animal studies political sociology animals and ethics animal behaviour anthropology and sociology of culture It may also appeal to riders and other practitioners within different horse traditions

Sustainable governance and management of food systems Eija Vinnari,Markus Vinnari,2023-08-07 This book focuses on the role of governance and management in the food chain These methods are now especially important as the current food system has been found to inflict unsustainable environmental pressures on our planet These include but are not limited to greenhouse gas emissions biodiversity loss excessive water usage and problems with nutrition cycles In addition issues such as the treatment of farm animals has attracted considerable media and public attention from the ethical point of view Therefore the prominent questions discussed in this book are What are the most important ethical issues in our fisheries agriculture and food systems How should we govern food systems when sustainability is a key goal What kind of management tools are available for this purpose Who is responsible for making the agriculture and food system more sustainable
