A History of the Town of Victor, Ontario County, New York Robert Engle Childs, 1898      A Victor Album J. Sheldon Fisher, Lewis F. Fisher, 1981      Centennial History of the Town of Nunda Henry Wells Hand, 1908      Woman of Nobility Nina Kathryn Bissett, 2016-05-10 In the late 1800s a supremely qualified woman educator and administrator made an unforgettable imprint on well known missionaries educators and preachers Emma Dryer worked with Pacific Garden Mission s George and Sarah Clarke Methodist deaconess Lucy Rider Meyer Wheaton College President Charles Blanchard Anna Spafford whose husband wrote the beloved hymn It is Well with My Soul and many others However her greatest achievement came from her divinely guided association with evangelist Dwight L Moody Moody Bible Institute in Chicago with its compelling and far reaching ministries would undoubtedly not exist today if not for the driving missionary fervor of Emma Dryer Her story is finally being told in light of this association A close examination of her ministry relationship with Mr Moody reveals the interconnected aspects of their lives from a viewpoint never before written This includes examining their leadership styles and effectiveness in modern day terms as well as contrasting their learning styles strengths and weaknesses as both evangelist and educator This book represents the first biography of Emma Dryer s life with undying evidence of the answered prayers of a noble and virtuous woman who dedicated her life to serve and honor Christ until his eminent return

Victor Babette Mann Huber, 2006 Victor tells the unique story of a historic community in the Finger Lakes region just south of Rochester It chronicles Victor s past as a Seneca Indian capital to the coming of Massachusetts settlers in the 18th century through to life as it was in the 20th century With over 200 photographs this book shows how people in rural upstate New York lived played studied worked and worshiped The images are from the town and village archives the Victor Historical Society the Ontario County Historical Society and private collections Many are previously unpublished photographs and several are by Fred Locke an amateur photographer who is considered to be the father of porcelain insulators      A History of Ontario County, New York and Its People Charles F. Milliken, 1911      Genealogical and Family History of Southern New York and the Hudson River Valley Cuyler Reynolds, 1914      The Mother Town Gwen Kennedy Neville, 1994 Horses with riders trailed by foot processions silver bands and pipe bands furling medieval banners lavish costumes and singers and actors the Common Riding is an elaborate little studied ritual phenomenon of the border towns of Scotland In this vividly written and insightful analysis Gwen Kennedy Neville uses this civic ceremony as a window for glimpsing the process of ritual symbol and experience in the development of the concept of the town in Western culture Based on extensive fieldwork in the town of Selkirk The Mother Town looks at the Common Riding in detail uncovering pre Reformation symbolism and pageantry often medieval and Catholic in a region that has been Protestant for over four hundred years Neville shows how the ceremony is a model of the way civic ritual serves to construct a system of towns which gives rise to the modern world Further she contends that these civic rituals create a ceremonial setting in which the contradictions between tradition and modernity can be temporarily resolved and where past and present live side by side Neville offers a provocative and illuminating study of how the ritual of Common Riding makes a dramatic statement about local strife communal independence and Protestantism in the towns of the Scottish Borders

Our Town Cynthia Carr, 2006-03-21 The brutal lynching of two young black men in Marion Indiana on August 7 1930 cast a shadow over the town that still lingers It is only one event in the long and complicated history of race relations in Marion a history much ignored and considered by many to be best forgotten But the lynching cannot be forgotten It is too much a part of the fabric of Marion too much ingrained even now in the minds of those who live there In Our Town journalist Cynthia Carr explores the issues of race loyalty and memory in America through the lens of a specific hate crime that occurred in Marion but could have happened anywhere Marion is our town America's town and its legacy is our legacy Like everyone in Marion Carr knew the basic details of the lynching even as a child three black men were arrested for attempted murder and rape and two of them were hanged in the courthouse square a fate the third miraculously escaped Meeting James Cameron the man who'd survived led her to examine how the quiet Midwestern town she loved could harbor such dark secrets Spurred by the realization that like her millions of white Americans are intimately connected to this hidden history Carr began an investigation into the events of that night racism in Marion the presence of the Ku Klux Klan past and present in Indiana and her own grandfather's involvement She uncovered a pattern of white guilt and indifference of black anger and fear that are the hallmark of race relations across the country In a sweeping narrative that takes her from the angry energy of a white supremacist rally to the peaceful fields of Weaver once an all black settlement neighboring Marion in search of the good and the bad in the story of race in America Carr returns to her roots to seek out the fascinating people and places that have shaped the town Her intensely compelling account of the Marion lynching and of her own family's secrets offers a fresh examination of the complex legacy of whiteness in America Part mystery part history part true crime saga Our Town is a riveting read that lays bare a raw and little chronicled facet of our national memory and provides a starting point toward reconciliation with the past On August 7 1930 three black teenagers were dragged from their jail cells in Marion Indiana and beaten before a howling mob Two of them were hanged by fate the third escaped A photo taken that night shows the bodies hanging from the tree but focuses on the faces in the crowd some enraged some laughing and some subdued perhaps already feeling the first pangs of regret Sixty three years later journalist Cynthia Carr began searching the photo for her grandfather's face

History of Ontario County, New York Lewis Cass Aldrich,George Stillwell Conover,1893 Kept in locked case      Toxic Town Peter C. Little,2014-03-14 Shows the risks of high tech pollution through a study of an IBM plant's effects on a New York town In 1924 IBM built its first plant in Endicott New York Now Endicott is a contested toxic waste site With its landscape thoroughly contaminated by carcinogens Endicott is the subject of one of the nation's largest corporate state mitigation efforts Yet despite the efforts of IBM and the U S government Endicott residents remain skeptical that the mitigation systems employed were designed with their best interests at heart In Toxic Town Peter C Little tracks and critically diagnoses the experiences of Endicott residents as they learn to live with high tech pollution community transformation scientific expertise corporate state power and risk mitigation technologies By weaving together the insights of anthropology political ecology disaster studies and science and technology studies the book explores questions of theoretical and practical import for understanding the politics of risk and the ironies of technological disaster response in a time when IBM's stated mission is to build a Smarter Planet Little critically reflects on IBM's new corporate tagline arguing for a political ecology of corporate social and environmental responsibility and accountability that places the social and environmental politics of risk mitigation front and center Ultimately Little argues that we will need much more than hollow corporate taglines claims of corporate responsibility and attempts to mitigate high tech disasters to truly build a smarter planet
