Voices Of Hunger Food Insecurity In The United States:

Voices of Hunger Courtney Irene Powell Thomas, 2014-08 The Intersection of Food and Public Health A. Bryce Hoflund, John C. Jones, Michelle C. Pautz, 2017-09-13 Presently ideas about food are in flux from a variety of sources Examples of this evolution include recognizing the importance of food on health by public health and medical professionals changing consumer desires around the production methods and components of their food a greater focus on injustices within the national food system evolving knowledge of how the food system impacts the environment and shifting economic and technological realities that underpin where and how food is produced distributed and sold These shifting ideas about food exist in contrast to the narrative of the highly functioning industrialized global food system that emerged in the second half of the 20th century This edited volume fills a void by presenting a comprehensive and engaging coverage of the key issues at the intersection of public health policy and food The Intersection of Food and Public Health is comprised of research that examines current problems in food studies and how various stakeholders are attempting to address problems in unique ways The book will be of interest to undergraduate and graduate students in a variety of disciplines including public administration public policy public health economics political science nutrition dietetics and food studies Confronting Hunger in the USA Adam M. Pine, 2016-07-01 Food insecurity in the US is a critical issue that is experienced by approximately 15% of the population each year Hunger is not caused by an inability to produce enough food for the population but is instead a manifestation of federal agricultural policies that support the overproduction of commodity crops and neoliberal social policies that seek to lower the amount of benefits dispersed to those in need This book focuses on how four different food based community programs address both the physical sensation of hunger as well as the political and economic disempowerment that work against the ability of people experiencing food insecurity to mobilize as a political force Confronting Hunger in the USA argues that most food programs do more to create community among their volunteers than among program participants and tend to reinforce neoliberal understandings of citizenship Community food programs reach out to the most vulnerable members of society in caring and gentle ways and often use the language of alternative economies to articulate a different relationship between the individual and the state However the projects in this study act as individual pieces of the state s insufficient social safety net and are only beginning to articulate a new relationship between food and society U.S. Participation in the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations United States. Congress. Senate. Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs, 1976 Food Insecurity William D. Schanbacher, Whitney Fung Uy, 2023-09-21 This comprehensive and authoritative one stop resource examines the issue of food insecurity in the United States including the various economic social political and cultural factors that drive the problem Social welfare agencies schools food banks and other organizations have all put forth efforts to combat food insecurity but it remains a serious risk for millions of poor Americans today Food Insecurity A Reference Handbook examines the reasons why

Cherniak, 2025-05-24 This book addresses the challenges to achieve food security which can arguably be one of the axis of any transformational solution to the structural production and reproduction of hunger malnutrition and poverty According to the picture depicted in the book access to sufficient and safe food is not guaranteed for approximately 2.4 billion people with women and children in rural areas being the most significantly affected Particularly the situation concerning children has set off all the alarms Based on the data offered in the different chapters the authors estimate that would be very difficult if not impossible to achieve the most important global objectives that the international community has committed to achieving by 2030 ending poverty hunger and food insecurity This way the most ambitious and well intended development initiative the international community was able to put together in the history of humankind the Agenda 2030 is derailing Urgent expansion in the supply of the nutritious foods that constitute a healthy diet and a shift in consumption patterns are required among other things to effectively address SDGs targets The book presents and discusses contributions of authors who have been thinking and facing those challenges in the academia and decision making spheres It is also a relevant contribution to rethinking the public policies of Latin American and Caribbean LAC countries as well as the technical cooperation and financial assistance schemes for the region The rethinking exercise sketched here places LAC both as a critical scenario and as a laboratory for envisioning innovative solutions that have the potential to not only transform the regional reality but also to be replicated in other regions with the proper adaptation to different contexts

Women Redefining the Experience of Food Insecurity Janet

Page-Reeves,2014-07-03 Women Redefining the Experience of Food Insecurity Life Off the Edge of the Table is about understanding the relationship between food insecurity and women s agency The contributors explore both the structural constraints that limit what and how much people eat and the myriad ways that women creatively and strategically re structure their own fields of action in relation to food demonstrating that the nature of food insecurity is multi dimensional The chapters portray how women develop strategies to make it possible to have food in the cupboard and on the table to be able to feed their families Exploring these themes this book offers a lens for thinking about the food system that incorporates women as agentive actors and links women s everyday food related activities with ideas about food justice food sovereignty and food citizenship Taken together the chapters provide a unique perspective on how we can think broadly about the issue of food insecurity in relation to gender culture inequality poverty and health disparity By problematizing the mundane world of how women procure and prepare food in a context of scarcity this book reveals dynamics relationships and experiences that would otherwise go unremarked Normally under the radar these processes are embedded in power relations that demand analysis and demonstrate strategic individual action that requires recognition All of the chapters provide a counter to caricatured notions that the choices women make are irresponsible or ignorant or that the lives of women from low income low wealth communities are predicated on impotence and weakness Yet the authors do not romanticize women as uniformly resilient or consistently heroic Instead they explore the contradictions inherent in the ways that marginalized seemingly powerless women ignore resist embrace and challenge hegemonic patriarchal systems through their relationship with food

Emergency Food Aid Provision Martin Caraher,Sinéad Furey,2018-05-26 This short book reviews the provision of food bank and other emergency food aid provision with a specific focus on the UK whilst drawing lessons from North America Brazil and Europe The authors look at the historical positioning of food aid and the growth of the food aid sector in the UK following the period of austerity 2007 2012 before addressing the causes of food insecurity and concluding that food banks are a symptom of austerity and government inaction which fail to tackle the underlying causes of food poverty The research is timely and considers a range of disciplines and practices This book will appeal to researchers policy makers and practitioners food economics welfare economics public policy public health food studies nutrition and the wider social sciences Voice and Participation in Global Food Politics Alana Mann,2019-04-05 As awareness of the commodification of food for profit at the expense of our health and the planet grows this book foregrounds the communicative dimensions of resistance by food movements Voice and participation are argued by the author to be the means through which rural and urban communities can and in many cases do resist the capture of value by corporate actors and work to democratise their foodscapes Her critical analysis of meaning making under neo liberalism suggests that agroecology as a socially activating form of agriculture within a food sovereignty framework provides an example of social learning relevant across rural urban and North South divides Embracing indigenous knowledge gender equity and postcolonial theory this approach mobilises growers and eaters to contest the power structures that shape their food environments and also to focus on social and economic justice within their communities particularly in the context of climate change Participatory ecologies that incorporate these forms of social learning encourage the co creation of inclusive foodscapes and politicise food justice Such a positive framing of resistance through horizontal pedagogy participation communication and social learning processes contrasts with the vertical dissemination structure of the corporatised food regime and takes vital steps towards a more democratic food system Voice and Participation in Global Food Politics will be of interest to scholars of agri food transdisciplinary food studies and political economy of food systems It will also be of relevance to NGOs and policymakers
