Under the Strain of Color Gabriel N. Mendes, 2015-08-18 In Under the Strain of Color Gabriel N Mendes recaptures the history of Harlem's Lafargue Mental Hygiene Clinic a New York City institution that embodied new ways of thinking about mental health race and the substance of citizenship The result of a collaboration among the psychiatrist and social critic Dr Fredric Wertham the writer Richard Wright and the clergyman Rev Shelton Hale Bishop the clinic emerged in the context of a widespread American concern with the mental health of its citizens Mendes shows the clinic to have been simultaneously a scientific and political gambit challenging both a racist mental health care system and supposedly color blind psychiatrists who failed to consider the consequences of oppression in their assessment and treatment of African American patients Employing the methods of oral history archival research textual analysis and critical race philosophy Under the Strain of Color contributes to a growing body of scholarship that highlights the interlocking relationships among biomedicine institutional racism structural violence and community health activism

Under the Strain of Color David Mislin, 2015 This book recaptures the history of a largely forgotten New York City institution that embodied new ways of thinking about mental health race and the substance of citizenship Harlem's Lafargue Mental Hygiene Clinic was founded in 1946 as both a practical response to the need for low cost psychotherapy and counseling for black residents many of whom were recent migrants to the city and a model for nationwide efforts to address racial disparities in the provision of mental health care in the United States
