Storytelling Against Extremism Linda Schlegel, 2025-05-23

Counter and alternative narrative CAN campaigns have become a widely used tool in contemporary efforts to prevent and or counter violent extremism P CVE However one element is conspicuously absent from the discourse There is little engagement with CANs as narratives and neither CAN theory nor practice are based on existing research findings on narrative persuasion processes This is a crucial gap in the current CAN approach Not situating CANs within the broader discourse on narrative persuasion and drawing from the insights narrative persuasion studies offer significantly weakens the theoretical foundation practical development storytelling quality and analysis of CAN campaigns This book addresses this research gap and transfers concepts theories and insights from narrative persuasion and storytelling research to the context of P CVE narrative campaigns The author demonstrates that the often criticized CAN approach can be improved significantly by understanding CANs as narrative persuasion campaigns and grounding them in existing research detailing how to tell entertaining and persuasive stories

Challenging Extremist Views on Social Media Jan-Jaap van Eerten, Bertjan Doosje, 2019-07-23 This book is a timely and significant examination of the role of counter messaging via social media as a potential means of preventing or countering radicalization to violent extremism In recent years extremist groups have developed increasingly sophisticated online communication strategies to spread their propaganda and promote their cause enabling messages to be spread more rapidly and effectively Counter messaging has been promoted as one of the most important measures to neutralize online radicalizing influences and is intended to undermine the appeal of messages disseminated by violent extremist groups While many such initiatives have been launched by Western governments civil society actors and private companies there are many questions regarding their efficacy Focusing predominantly on efforts countering Salafi Jihadi extremism this book examines how feasible it is to prevent or counter radicalization and violent extremism with counter messaging efforts It investigates important principles to consider when devising such a program The authors provide both a comprehensive theoretical overview and a review of the available literature as well as policy recommendations for governments and the role they can play in counter narrative efforts As this is the first book to critically examine the possibilities and pitfalls of using counter messaging to prevent radicalization or stimulate de radicalization it is essential reading for policy makers and professionals dealing with this issue as well as researchers in the field

Weapons of Mass Persuasion Paul Rutherford, 2004-12-15 With nearly sixty percent of Americans initially against a pre emptive war without sanction from the United Nations and even higher anti war numbers in most other nations of the world the 2003 war against Iraq quickly became an enormous public relations challenge for the George W Bush administration The subject of Weapons of Mass Persuasion is a war in which American patriotism became so mired in commercial jingoism that the demarcations between entertainment and political conduct disappeared completely In this engaging and disturbing book Paul Rutherford shows how the marketing campaign for the war against Iraq was constructed and carried out He argues that not only was the campaign a new chapter in the presentation of real time war as pop culture but that its deeper implications have now come to constitute part of the history of modern democracy Situating the war against Iraq within an existing tradition of war as narrative spectacle and more broadly commodity Rutherford offers a brief overview of the history of civic advertising and propaganda then examines in detail the different dimensions of three weeks of war presented to North Americans as it became a branded conflict processed and cleansed to appeal to the well established tastes of veteran consumers of popular culture Including incisive analyses of visual material speeches editorial cartoons and media political commentary but particularly news reports of such sound bite events as the bombing of Baghdad the toppling of the Hussein statue and the rescue of captured soldier Private Jessica Lynch as well as extensive polling data from around the world and interviews with the actual consumers of war Weapons of Mass Persuasion chronicles the making of a Hollywood war fast paced and heroic pitting the forces of good against the forces of evil to achieve a triumphant sanitized and commodified outcome Not since Naomi Klein s No Logo have the gods of marketing and the art of commercialism been so thoroughly disrobed Electronic Format Disclaimer Images removed at the request of the rights holder

Policy Brief: A Lifestory Strategic Communications Framework: the Case on Preventing and Countering Violent Extremism and Strengthening Resilience Arlinda Rustemi, 2020 This policy brief discusses how to design strategic communications campaigns to prevent and counter violent extremism using lifestory narratives It focuses on the most effective choices to make when producing and disseminating lifestories in regard to audience goals media and typology It recommends treating the whole society as the audience aiming to reduce tensions in the community by addressing extremist and stigmatizing attitudes sharing the lifestories off and online and carefully selecting the narrative type of the stories shown
