User Guidance in Business Process Modelling Matthias Born, 2012 Business process modelling is referred to as a complex time consuming and error prone task The correction and improvement of badly designed process models becomes increasingly expensive in the later phases of the process management life cycle This thesis develops the principles of guided process modelling and provides a contribution towards simplifying process modelling activities The general research question this thesis answers is what are the difficulties in the usage of process modelling tools and which methods techniques and tools can guide users in modelling processes to target the existing problems The question is addressed by following a research methodology of design sciences Amongst others it includes a detailed analysis of the research problem a definition of the objective the design and development of solutions and an evaluation of the developed concepts In summary the thesis presents innovative concepts to support

modellers and provides a step towards end user enablement in process modelling Ontology-Based Applications for Enterprise Systems and Knowledge Management Nazir Ahmad, Mohammad, Colomb, Robert M., Abdullah, Mohd Syazwan, 2012-08-31 This book provides an opportunity for readers to clearly understand the notion of ontology engineering and the practical aspects of this approach in the domains of two interest areas Knowledge Management Systems and Enterprise Systems At Your Service Elisabetta Di Nitto, 2009 Research results from industry academic collaborative projects in service oriented computing describe practical achievable solutions Service Oriented Applications and Architectures SOAs have captured the interest of industry as a way to support business to business interaction and the SOA market grew by 4.9 billion in 2005 SOAs and in particular service oriented computing SOC represent a promising approach in the development of adaptive distributed systems With SOC applications can open themselves to services offered by third parties and accessed through standard well defined interfaces The binding between the applications and the services can be in this context extremely loose enabling the ad hoc creation of new services when the need arises This book offers an overview of some current research in the field presenting the results of eighteen research projects funded by the European Community's Information Society Technologies Program IST The projects collaborations between industry and academia have produced practical achievable results that point the way to real world applications and future research The chapters address such issues as requirement analysis design governance interoperability and the dependability of systems made up of components owned by third parties The results are presented in the context of two roadmaps for research one developed by European industry involved in software development and the other by researchers working in the service area The contributors report first on the Infrastructure Layer then in the bulk of the book on the Service Integration Layer the Semantic Layer and finally on the issues that cut across the different layers The book concludes by looking at ongoing research on both roadmaps Proceedings of the First International Conference on Web Information Systems Engineering, 2000 The proceedings of the June 2000 conference are documented in two separate volumes for the main program and the workshops The first volume contains 65 papers that report recent results in the design development and management of web based information systems The main subjects are databases XML Deutsche Nationalbibliografie Die deutsche Nationalbibliothek, 2008 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2009 Web Information Systems Engineering Workshops (wise 2002 Workshops) Post Proceedings, 3rd International Conference on IEEE Computer Society IEEE COMPUTER SOCIETY PRESS, International Conference on Web Information Systems Engineering.
