Proximity and Intraregional Aspects of Tourism Jelmer Jeuring, Inmaculada Diaz Soria, 2018-10-18 Tourism research often tends to overlook both the mundane of the exotic and the exotic of the everyday However when acknowledging that exoticism is not necessarily linked to geographical distance it is similarly possible to attribute touristic otherness to and experience unfamiliarity in a geographically proximate environment This entails a need to rethink the intertwining relationships of meanings of the exotic and the mundane as well as the ways people make meaning of their everyday environment through processes of territorialization and identification in a tourism context The articles collected in this book cover a range of examples of tourism practices in a context of geographical proximity where home and away everyday life and tourism intersect While the settings methodologies and concepts vary considerably each contribution is an attempt to rethink the hegemonic linear framing of tourism in dichotomies such as familiar and unfamiliar nearby and far host and guest mundane and exotic The examples findings and conclusions of the various authors contribute to an understanding of tourism that is multiple and relative to an open minded and critical attitude towards the institutionalized anchors of our society in which tourism takes such a prominent place that it has almost become ordinary This book was originally published as a special issue of the Tourism Geographies journal

Affect and Emotion in Tourism Dorina-Maria Buda, Jennie Germann Molz, 2023-03-31 Bringing affect and emotion to the forefront of tourism studies this book presents a new generation of scholars who consolidate emerging affective approaches and establish a route for scholarship that examines the roles of emotion and affect in tourism Attuning to affect and emotion this book steers the affective turn to encompass touring bodies and tourism places Engaging the concept of affect as a constitutive element of social life often leaves academics grasping for terminology to describe something that is by its very nature beyond words For this reason as evident in the four interconnected sections of this volume studying affect poses a significant and fruitful challenge to the status quo of social scientific method and analysis From African American emotional labour while travelling to visiting Banksy's Dismaland park to affective heritagescapes self love and travelling mittens and across socio spatial theories of emotions decolonial feminist theory and atmospheric politics this book demonstrates the epistemic and empirical richness of affective tourism Along with the contributors to this volume the editors make a case for thinking about emotions and affects through collective and individual practices as interrelated shaping tourism encounters in and with places That is to break it down as doing and as shared between bodies and places through the doing The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Tourism Geographies Challenges and New Opportunities for Tourism in Inland Territories: Ecocultural Resources and Sustainable Initiatives Fernandes, Gonçalo Poeta, 2021-09-10 Inland territories are currently of great interest in the tourism industry based on their natural and cultural resources the surroundings and valuing of natural spaces local traditions and cultures ways of life and the experiences of territories with authenticity In this context ecocultural resources are determining factors of development for the mobilization of economic and socio cultural initiatives promoting tourism and generating conditions of sustainability in inland territories They are spaces of opportunity maintaining resources and heritage with high preservation enhancing new perceptions and forms of use generating territorial cohesion promoting self esteem for local communities and providing diverse and differentiated tourist experiences The involvement of the community is decisive in valuing the destination understanding local ecocultural realities and developing the processes of preservation and service creation It is considered a necessary approach for inclusion protection and aggregating the ecological and cultural binomial as a determinant for deeper knowledge of territorial realities and their specificities Thus sustainability and participation are crucial for the long term future of inland tourism activities with local governance assuming an important role in building tourism capacity mobilizing resources and streamlining entrepreneurial initiatives Challenges and New Opportunities for Tourism in Inland Territories Ecocultural Resources and Sustainable Initiatives provides knowledge on the trends for tourism in inland territories territorial innovation good governance practices new projects in inland tourism and other important aspects in the field The topics covered include sustainability of local culture cultural heritage social responsibility local governance public policies and innovation and tourism in inland territories This book is essential for tourism management organizations environmentalists hotel managers restaurateurs tourism departments practitioners policymakers public officials researchers academicians and students interested in the innovative practices and initiatives in tourism with a specific focus on inland territories New Directions in South African Tourism Geographies Jayne M. Rogerson, Gustav Visser, 2019-09-26 This book provides an overview of innovative and new directions being chartered in South African tourism geographies Within the context of global change the volume explores different facets and different geographies of tourism Key themes under scrutiny include the sharing economy the changing accommodation service sector touring poverty tourism and innovation tourism and climate change threats to sustainability inclusive tourism and a number of studies which challenge the present mindedness of much tourism geographical scholarship The 18 chapters range across urban and rural landscapes in South Africa with sectoral studies which include adventure tourism coastal tourism cruise tourism nature based tourism sports tourism and wine tourism Finally the volume raises a number of policy and planning issues in the global South in particular relating to sustainability local economic development and poverty reduction Outlining the impact of tourism expansion in South Africa and suggesting future research directions this stimulating book is a valuable resource for geographers as well as researchers and students in the field of tourism studies
