Who Are My Real Parents:

Who Are My Real Parents? D. L. Fuller, 2010-01 Polly and Enchilada are best friends They enjoy planning hide and seek and tag together One day Enchilada notices something different about Polly She is a panda bear but her parents are brown bears Enchilada asks the question that every adopted child will hear at some point who are your real parents

Understanding Adoption Diana Siskind, Kathleen Hushion, Susan B. Sherman, 2006-08-31 Adoption is a transformational process bringing parenthood to those who long for but cannot bear children and giving stranded children home family and their place in the world But every adoption is preceded and followed by its story and when these stories are told in the offices of psychotherapists we begin to understand the impact of adoption in all its complexity We learn from parents how their quest to have and raise a child has played out in real life and what shadows might have fallen between the dream and the reality And we learn from the children the many ways that being adopted shaped their development their sense of identity what went wrong along the way and how we may help Clinical work with parents and children as well as with adults who were adopted is the focus of Understanding Adoption Because adoption has become widely practiced accepted and accessible and because it has greatly changed the composition of families it is a timely subject for study The authors of this book undertake exploration of this important terrain of loss and connection and of the fragility and resilience of human bonds

Being Adopted David M. Brodzinsky, Marshall D. Schechter, Robin Marantz Henig, 1993-03-01 Like Passages this groundbreaking book uses the poignant powerful voices of adoptees and adoptive parents to explore the experience of adoption and its lifelong effects A major work filled with astute analysis and moving truths Constructing Transnational and Transracial Identity Sigalit Ben-Zion, 2014-11-26 Norway Sweden and Denmark are home to more than 90 000 transnational adoptees of Scandinavian parents raised in a predominantly white environment This ethnography provides a unique perspective on how these transracial adoptees conceptualize and construct their sense of identity along the intersection of ethnicity family and national lines

Keeping the Faith Terri R. Stonecipher, 2004 In this book you will walk with me as I go down some very troublesome paths that are both painful and inspiring You will walk with me as if you were there for the experience yourself I was physically emotionally mentally and sexually abused as a child I will share with you my pain and thoughts of being abused as a child through a child's eyes What it felt like to tell the authorities What it was like to be adopted for the second time And what it was like to finally have a happy life Just when I was starting to put all the pain behind me and get on with my life I started going deaf As if that wasn't enough for me to bear I am now dealing with depression and anxiety disorders Through all of this I am a survivor and I credit my faith in God for getting me through all the rough paths in my lifetime I believe in the power of prayer and I believe that He answers all prayers in his time frame Sit back as I take you on a quick journey through my troublesome life It is definitely filled with emotion When you finish this book you will be both mad at the statistics of child abuse and inspired yourself to keeping the faith Weekly World News

The House on Lake Maggiore K. S. Hansen,2013-07 Nestled into the green hillside by beautiful Lake Maggiore in northern Italy there is a dilapidated villa Even in its current state of disrepair those who find it know that there is something magnetic about the place They imagine the villa in its prime surrounded by sculpted topiaries white peacocks frolicking among sprawling cypress trees and stone figures standing guard a more prosperous and mysterious past Diana Marshall an American designer traveling in Italy in the hopes of finding inspiration after the death of her husband is captivated by the structure In the lines and shadows and secret places of the abandoned relic she sees a chance to capture her passion again for life for art for beauty She throws all caution and sense to the wind and commits to breathing life into the grand old home With the help of a cunning financier with an agenda of his own she makes plans to give the abandoned structure a complete renovation As the project progresses tantalizing hints of the villa's past begin to emerge Layer by layer the residue of another lifetime dares Diana to dig deeper for the truth Visitors to the villa bring morsels of information that when pieced together begin to tell a story of its involvement in the darkest part of twentieth century history As she learns more about the building's nefarious past and the reality of those former inhabitants Diana begins to fear the worst
