Eschatological Discipleship Trevin Wax, 2018-04-01 Discipleship is eschatological in nature because the church that makes and receives disciples is eschatological in nature Often eschatology is thought to refer only to last things doctrines However eschatology in its broader sense encompasses the Christian view of time and the future of the world informing both one's evangelism and ecclesiology Failing to relate the eschatological dimension to discipleship leaves one with an incomplete worldview imbalanced discipleship and eventually a tragic inability to model the Christian way of life By answering questions like What time is it and Where is history going Trevin Wax helps Christians view the past present and future biblically and shapes their understanding of following Jesus

The industry regularly uses history to sell products while processes of creation and of promotion leave behind markers of a game's history. The access to this history is often granted by so-called paratexts which are accompanying elements orbiting texts. Exploring this fully, case studies in this work move the focus of debate from the games themselves to wider ancillary materials and ask how history is used in and how we can use history to study games. Thoughtful Christianity Matthew C. Shrader, 2021-04-15 Baptists in the nineteenth century grew from a small struggling denomination to the second largest Protestant denomination in America. They constructed conventions, schools, churches, and benevolent works. American Baptists transformed from cultural outsiders to insiders. Despite this growth in size, organization, and influence, there is surprisingly few attempts to understand them historically. This is even more true for Northern Baptists as opposed to their Southern counterparts despite the fact that Northern Baptists in many respects were the theological leaders of the denomination. This raises questions about what their theology was, what it was rooted in, and how well it could handle the surplus of challenges that nineteenth-century religion threw at it. Chief among these were the challenges toward biblical and theological authority. Perhaps the brightest star of the Northern Baptist constellation and doubtless the most well-connected was Alvah Hovey from Newton Theological Institute in Newton, Centre Massachusetts. This book the first book-length treatment of this Baptist giant since Hovey's son published a biography in 1929 chronicles Hovey's life and career focusing on how he coped with the challenges of biblical criticism and a rapidly changing theological context. Hovey produced a theology he understood as thoughtful Christianity. Democracy in America de Tocqueville, Alexis, 2016-11-09 French thinker Alexis de Tocqueville's Democracy in America has for years been a classic for American political studies.
