Feminist Responses to the Neoliberalization of the University Abby Palko, Sonalini Sapra, Jamie Wagman, 2020-03-12 This book argues that neoliberal discourses prevalent in higher education seek to undermine commodify and co-opt the radical transformative work that many gender and women's studies departments programs and centers are doing The contributors to the collection discuss their responses to these challenges in and out of the classrooms from mentorship and activism to active allyship and experimental pedagogies They aim to inspire a new wave of feminist consciousness raising that will encourage transformative ways of engaging with the university and serve as doorways to new understandings of productivity and creativity

Performance and Progress Subramanian Rangan, 2015 The prevailing aspiration of business is performance while that of society is progress Capitalism both the paradigm and practice sits at the intersection of these dual aspirations and the essays in this volume explore its fraught status there Contributions to this volume address questions such as i what's the problem with capitalism ii is the problem just with the practice or with the very paradigm iii what is progress and who is responsible for it iv what evolution is required at the individual system and paradigm level so that enterprises and the executives who lead them may better integrate performance with progress and v whither consumers employees and investors in this evolution The book offers perspectives from two distinct intellectual domains social science and philosophy Scholars in social science including economics management and sociology tend to study performance Ideas of progress on the other hand tend to fall more under the purview of philosophers in particular social and political philosophers Further to obtain an insider s view on practice and possibilities the volume includes essays from a handful of thoughtful business leaders Research should consider not just how to make sustainability profitable but also how to make profitability and the modern economic system sustainable If we are to better comprehend why the world is in protest to reflect on progress or dilemmas of trust we must appreciate the tenuous assumptions of modern microeconomics and markets and hear from modern philosophers about the basis and limits of rationality

Finding Ourselves Lost Robert C. Dykstra, 2018-06-13 This book wrestles with quandaries of pastoral ministry in what psychotherapist Mary Pipher calls the age of overwhelm Drawing especially from the wisdom of Jesus own teaching and healing ministries as portrayed in the Gospel of Luke it offers an intimate narrative introduction to pastoral theology for guiding bewildering tasks of pastoral care and counseling These essays encourage seminarians and ministers to embrace their role as agents of healing by exploring their own debilitating shame and daring to speak what in childhood could not be spoken by revealing their discoveries to a trusted confidant so as to feel less loathsome or lonely by attending to even minute individual differences in self and others that fuel social isolation and by believing in those persons who first believed in them

Interdiscipline Petar Ramadanovic, 2021-11-29 This book brings together two different discussions on the value of the humanities and a broader debate on interdisciplinary scholarship in order to propose a new way beyond current threats to the humanities Petar Ramadanovic offers nothing short of a drastic rehaul of our approaches to literary scholarship the humanities and university systems Beginning with an analysis of what is often referred to as the crises in the humanities the author looks at the specifics of literary studies but also issues around working conditions for academics From precarity and pay conditions to peer review the book has practical as well as theoretical implications that will resonate throughout the humanities While most books defending the humanities emphasize the uniqueness of the subject or area Ramadanovic does the opposite emphasizing the need for interdisciplinarity and combined knowledge This proposal is then fully explored through literary studies and its potential throughout the humanities and beyond into the sciences Interdiscipline is not just a defense of literature and the humanities it offers a clear and inspiring pathway forwards drawing on all disciplines to show their cultural and social significance The book is important reading for all scholars of literary studies and also throughout the humanities

Rebuilding the Profession Dorothy Figueira, 2020-01-20 This volume is meant to be a retrospective look at the field of Comparative Literature as it has developed in the past two decades as well as a reflection on its future direction if it is to remain relevant and innovative as a field of study From its inception in the second half of the twentieth century Comparative Literature in the US has been conceived as a cross disciplinary cross national and crosscultural enterprise that brings together theoretical developments in the Humanities and Social Sciences to reflect on the most important intellectual and cultural trends from a comparative perspective through the lens of literary studies Most of the founders of Comparative Literature were distinguished European scholars who sought a safe haven from the ravages of World War II and its aftermath and who understandably focused on the Western literary intellectual and cultural tradition which at the time was in danger of being annihilated by the onslaught of Fascism and Communism With the advent of the age of globalization the field of Comparative Literature has become increasingly diverse and must therefore be reoriented and recognized accordingly

A New Deal for the Humanities Gordon Hutner,Feisal G. Mohamed,2015-11-11 Many in higher education fear that the humanities are facing a crisis But even if the rhetoric about crisis is overblown humanities departments do face increasing pressure from administrators politicians parents and students In A New Deal for the Humanities Gordon Hutner and Feisal G Mohamed bring together twelve prominent scholars who address the history the present state and the future direction of the humanities These scholars keep the focus on public higher education for it is in our state schools that the liberal arts are taught to the greatest numbers and where their neglect would be most damaging for the nation The contributors offer spirited and thought provoking debates on a diverse range of topics For instance they deplore the push by administrations to narrow learning into quantifiable outcomes as well as the demands of state governments for more practical usable training Indeed for those who suggest that a college education should be practical that it should lean toward the sciences and engineering where the high paying jobs are this book points out that while a few nations produce as many technicians as the United States does America is still renowned worldwide for its innovation and creativity skills taught most effectively in the humanities Most importantly the essays in this collection examine ways to make the humanities even more effective such as offering a broader array of options than the traditional major minor scheme options that combine a student's professional and intellectual interests like the new medical humanities programs A democracy can only be as energetic as the minds of its citizens and the questions fundamental to the humanities are also fundamental to a thoughtful life A New Deal for the Humanities takes an intrepid step in making the humanities and our citizens even stronger in the future
