A central assumption of narrative spirituality is that the act of retelling the story of episodes of our lives can help us better see the larger Guiding Story that God dreams for us When I can see my Guiding Story more clearly I am better able to handle crisis and transition and better able to see my true purpose Story Work Story Play lays out a four door method of spirituality that invites participants to explore their Guiding Story through four doors that correspond to the four parts of any story a main character a problem to solve the power needed to solve it and the action taken by the main character The chapter for each of these four doors provides theological psychological and scriptural foundations for the narrative method and includes up to ten to fifteen story work story play exercises the reader can use to practice the method Each chapter also includes profile stories of real people who have discovered layers of their own Guiding Stories The book ends each chapter with a Guided Visualization The book s final chapter explains how members of a narrative circle can use the narrative spirituality tools of this book to discern each one s own unique Guiding Story Intelligent Tutoring Systems James C. Paraguacu,2004-08-19 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 7th International Conference on Intelligent Tutoring Systems ITS 2004 held in Macei Alagoas Brazil in August September 2004 The 73 revised full papers and 39 poster papers presented together with abstracts of invited talks panels and workshops were carefully reviewed and selected from over 180 submissions The papers are organized in topical sections on adaptive testing affect architectures for ITS authoring systems cognitive modeling collaborative learning natural language dialogue and discourse evaluation machine learning in ITS pedagogical agents student modeling and teaching and learning strategies Critical Issues in User Interface Systems Engineering David Benyon,Philippe Palanque,2012-12-06 This book developed from an IFIP workshop which brought together methods and architecture researchers in Human Computer Interaction and Software Engineering To an extent this introduction is a little unfair to the authors as we have distilled the results of the workshop to give the reader a perspective of the problems within integrated approaches to usability engineering The papers could not hope to address all of the issues however we hope that a framework will help the reader gain further insights into current research and future practice The initial motivation was to bring together researchers and practitioners to exchange their experiences on Graphical User Interface design problems The two groups represented methodological and architecture tools interests so the workshop focused on intersection of how methods can support user interface development and vice versa how tools architectures and reusable components can empower the design process There is we believe a constructive tension between these two communities Methodologists tend to approach the design problem with task domain organisational analysis while the tool builders suggest design empowerment envisioning as a means of improving the way users work rather than relying on analysis of current systems This debate revolves around the questions of whether users current work is optimal or whether designers have the insight to empower users by creating effective solutions to their problems Tool builders typically want to build something then get the users to try it while the methodologists want to specify something validate it and then build it
