Empowerment Josephine Beoku-Betts, Fredline A. M'Cormack-Hale, 2022-01-13 Since the 1991-2002 civil conflict ended in Sierra Leone the country has failed to translate the accomplishments of women's involvement in bringing the war to an end into meaningful political empowerment. This is in marked contrast to other post conflict countries which have increased the political participation of women in elected and appointed office, increased the representation of women in leadership positions and enacted constitutional reforms promoting women's rights. Written by Sierra Leonean and Africanist scholars and experts from a broad range of disciplines, this unique volume analyses the historical and contextual factors influencing women's political, economic and social development in the country. In drawing on a diverse array of case studies from health to education, refugees to international donors, the contradictions, successes and challenges of women's lives in a post conflict environment are revealed, making this an essential book for anyone involved in women and development. Conflict Areas in the Balkans Pinar Yürür, Arda Özkan, 2020-10-27 The situation in the Balkans, such as the solution to the status of Kosovo, is currently the largest international political problem in Europe with the potential to burst into a world crisis regarding the Eastern-Western relations. On the other hand, a successful solution to the problem in the Balkans could serve as a model for solving the Muslim-Christian tensions elsewhere in the world. It is the intention of this book to contribute proposals for solutions to the problems of the Balkans. The starting principle for the solutions to be effective is that they should come in a natural way from the people below and should not be enforced by the political elites from above. Based on self-determination of nations as a starting principle, they should encourage intra-regional cooperation among the regional entities, economic, cultural, sport as a basis for political, social understanding and cooperation, secondly, accelerate their economic, political and social development, and thirdly, as a final step, enable the inclusion of the Balkan countries into the European Union.

Gender and Peacebuilding Maureen P. Flaherty, Thomas G. Matyók, Sean Byrne, Hamdesa Tusso, 2015-10-16 The twenty-first century has brought with it a shift from the notion of human security being located in secure national borders to the need to secure the safety, freedom and dignity of all. Despite efforts to equalize women's status in the world, evidenced by changes in many international projects requiring a gender focus, women and men experience most of the world in very different ways according to gender. Further, the reality is that humans do not all fall neatly into one of these categories, male or female, often find their lives further challenged. In the 1980s, Peace and Conflict Studies first began to acknowledge and study the different experiences males and females have during war and peace. Since then, there have been books about women and war, women working at grassroots levels to build peace, women and transitional justice, women and peace education, and women's views of human security. All of these works have contributed to the discourse of our changing world. This book brings together some of those themes and voices and adds more, with the final product being more than the sum of its parts We add to the conversation a book that considers foundational fundamental issues that span from the interpersonal to the global Many of the chapters describe empirical research completed with author and community shared here for the first time Part One is a collection of case studies documenting challenges and responses to peacebuilding by women from various parts of the world Part Two focuses on Peace and Conflict Studies PACS as a discipline examining not only what is but also what should be taught This section critiques today s efforts at teaching Peace and Conflict Studies and provides suggestions of how this important work might be shared in more open and equitable ways Part Three enters territory found even less in the PACS literature In this section our authors confront patriarchy engage in a discussion about the contribution queer theory makes to PACS and tussle with the notion of inclusivity with considerations of both gender and disability It then ends with a discussion about the contribution feminist methodologies make to PACS

Invisible Veterans Kate Hendricks Thomas,Kyleanne Hunter,2019-07-19 Spotlights the challenges faced by our increasing cadre of military women when their service ends and they become civilians Combining research with narrative this book exposes common threads of lived experience and reviews the latest data on military women and their healthy reintegration into civilian society Female veterans share their stories of seeking to be seen in a culture where they don t quite fit and their struggles to find community and friendship Some fought during the Iraq and Afghanistan wars as the first women in combat in American history How and where for example does a female combat Marine find her tribe once she leaves the service Through the stories of these courageous yet entirely human women readers learn about the experiences of a new and often forgotten generation of veterans about the challenges surrounding family and career choices that millions of American women face and ultimately about sacrifice resiliency loss and love This book will inform readers with an interest in female veterans and women s health and mental health issues as well as researchers students and professionals working in fields encompassing women s psychology health and social work
