Memory and the Future Yifat Gutman, Adam D. Brown, Amy Sodaro, 2010-10-06 For those who study memory there is a nagging concern that memory studies are inherently backward looking and that memory itself hinders efforts to move forward Unhinging memory from the past this book brings together an interdisciplinary group of prominent scholars who bring the future into the study of memory

Divergent Memories Gi-Wook Shin, Daniel Sneider, 2016-09-07 No nation is free from the charge that it has a less than complete view of the past History is not simply about recording past events it is often contested negotiated and reshaped over time Debate over the history of World War II in Asia remains surprisingly intense and Divergent Memories examines the opinions of powerful individuals to pinpoint the sources of conflict from Japanese colonialism in Korea and atrocities in China to the American decision to use atomic weapons against Japan Rather than labeling others views as distorted or ignoring dissenting voices to create a monolithic historical account Gi Wook Shin and Daniel Sneider pursue a more fruitful approach analyzing how historical memory has developed been formulated and even been challenged in each country By identifying key factors responsible for these differences Divergent Memories provides the tools for readers to both approach their own national histories with reflection and to be more understanding of others

War Memory and Social Politics in Japan, 1945-2005 Franziska Seraphim, 2006 Japan has long wrestled with the memories and legacies of World War II In the aftermath of defeat war memory developed as an integral part of particular and divergent approaches to postwar democracy In the last six decades the demands placed upon postwar democracy have shifted considerably from social protest through high economic growth to Japan's relations in Asia and the meanings of the war shifted with them This book unravels the political dynamics that governed the place of war memory in public life Far from reconciling with the victims of Japanese imperialism successive conservative administrations have left the memory of the war to representatives of special interests and citizen movements all of whom used war memory to further their own interests Franziska Seraphim traces the activism of five prominent civic organizations to examine the ways in which diverse organized memories have secured legitimate niches within the public sphere The history of these domestic conflicts over the commemoration of the war dead the manipulation of national symbols the teaching of history or the articulation of relations with China and Korea is crucial to the current discourse about apology and reconciliation in East Asia and provides essential context for the global debate on war memory
