

Persuasive Writing Pack

The Great Pacific Garbage Patch

The Great Pacific Garbage Patch is a collection of ocean debris located in the North Pacific Ocean between California and Hawaii.

This garbage patch is made up of millions of pieces of plastic, ranging in size from tiny microplastics to large chunks of fishing nets and other debris. The garbage patch is harmful to marine life because they mistake it for food or get tangled up in it.

The garbage patch is created by plastic that drifts from all over the world to one place. Unfortunately, once the plastic is in the ocean, it can take hundreds of years to break down, which means that the garbage patch will continue to grow.

While it might seem like a daunting task, there are things we can do to help. One way is to reduce our use of single-use plastics, such as water bottles and straws. We can also recycle more and dispose of our rubbish to keep it out of the ocean.

By working together, we can help protect our oceans and the creatures that live in them from the harmful effects of plastic pollution.

Persuasive Essay Text Structure

Text Structure	Description
Introduction	The first paragraph should clearly state the topic and the writer's position on the topic. It should also grab the reader's attention and provide some background information on the topic.
Body Paragraphs	The next two or three paragraphs should provide the main arguments that support the writer's position. Each argument should be supported with evidence, examples, and explanations.
Counterarguments	The next paragraph should acknowledge the opposing viewpoint and provide counterarguments that refute it. This shows the writer has considered both sides of the argument.
Conclusion	The final paragraph should summarize the main points made in the essay and restate the writer's position in a clear and concise way. It should also include a call to action or a final thought to leave a lasting impression on the reader.

Say No to Plastic

Have you ever considered the impact of plastic on our planet? Plastic is everywhere and its harmful effects are a real threat to our planet. Today, I will explain why we need to stop using plastic.

Plastic takes hundreds of years to decompose. When it is thrown away, it ends up in landfills, oceans, and rivers. It can be mistaken for food, and it can harm or kill animals. We need to stop using plastic and find alternative materials that are biodegradable and safer for our planet.

Oil, from which plastic is made, is a non-renewable resource. Once we run out of oil, we will run out of plastic. And it will be a long time before we find a replacement. We need to find ways to reduce our reliance on plastic and use sustainable materials instead.

Plastic pollution affects our health. When plastic breaks down, it releases toxic chemicals that can seep into our food and water. These chemicals can harm our health and the health of the animals that live in our environment.

We need to stop using plastic to protect our planet and our health. We can start by using reusable bottles, bags, and containers. We can also encourage our friends and family to reduce their use of plastic. Every small step we can make a difference and create a more sustainable world.
