revival of a practice begun in the late eighteenth century when Westerners first made contact with the native peoples of the Pacific. The term tattoo entered Europe with the publication of Captain Cook's voyages in the 1770s and Pacific tattoos became fashionable in the West as sailors, whalers and explorers brought home tattoos from Tahiti, the Marquesas, New Zealand and Polynesia. In recent years these early contacts have been revived as native tattooists from Oceania have begun tattooing non Polynesians in Europe, the USA and elsewhere. Tattoo is both a fascinating book about these early Oceanic-European exchanges that also documents developments up to the present day and the first to look at the history of tattooing in Oceania itself. Documenting these complex cultural interactions in the first part of the book, the authors move from issues of encounter, representation and exchange to the interventions of missionaries and the colonial state in local tattoo practices. Highly illustrated with many previously unseen images, for example the original voyage sketches of the first Russian circumnavigation of 1803-6, this is a fascinating account of early tattooing and cultural exchange in Oceania and will appeal to the wide audience interested in the history of tattooing.

Vintage Tattoos Carol Clerk, 2008. With its nautical symbolism, hearts and daggers, ribbon banners and scantily clad women, old school tattoo designs reveal the history of an art form as well as a fascinating subculture. Showcasing the artistry inherent in authentic and historical flash art, Vintage Tattoos explores the bold, colourful and enduringly popular designs that were perfected across two World Wars, delving into the colourful lives of the era's most famous practitioners. Each chapter focuses on a particular group of tattoos, beginning with the circus displays that kickstarted the golden age of vintage design through maritime and patriotic emblems and culminating in the current revival of this genre of tattoo art.
