Peter Szondi

Whos Afraid Of Philosophy Right To Philosophy 1 Meridian Crossing Aesthetics:

Who's Afraid of Philosophy? Jacques Derrida, 2002 While addressing specific contemporary political issues on occasion thus providing insight into the pragmatic deployment of deconstructive analysis the essays deal mainly with much broader concerns With his typical rigor and spark Derrida investigates the genealogy of several central concepts which any debate about teaching and the university must confront To Write the Africa World Achille Mbembe, Felwine Sarr, 2022-12-01 In October 2016 thirty intellectuals and artists from Africa its diasporas and beyond gathered together in Dakar and Saint Louis Senegal to reflect on the present and future of Africa in the midst of transformations that are sweeping through the contemporary world The aim was to take stock of the renewal of Afro diasporic critical thought and to discuss the new perspectives emerging from the ongoing projects constructing political cultural and social imaginaries for and from the African continent This book brings together and makes available to the English speaking world the material presented at the 2016 Ateliers de la pens e Workshops of Thought in Dakar The authors deal with a wide range of issues including decolonization the development of social utopias and the pursuit of new forms of political economic and social production on the African continent Running throughout is a constant concern to interrogate the categories and frames of meaning that have served to characterize the dynamics of the African continent and a shared desire to produce new frames of intelligibility through which to see Africa s present realities and its future The contributions also attest to the view that there is no African question that is not also a global question and that the Africanization of the global question will be a decisive feature of the twenty first century To Write the Africa World and its companion volume The Politics of Time will be indispensable for anyone interested in Africa its past present and future and in the new forms of critical thought emerging from Africa and the Global South Eyes of the University Jacques Derrida, 2004 Completing the translation of Derrida s monumental work Right to Philosophy Eyes of the University brings together many of the philosopher s most important texts on the university and more broadly on the languages and institutions of philosophy On Touching—Jean-Luc Nancy Jacques Derrida, 2005 This book written out of Derrida s long standing friendship with Jean Luc Nancy examines the central place accorded to the sense of touch in the Western philosophical tradition The Declared Enemy Jean Genet, 2004 This posthumous work brings together texts that bear witness to the many political causes and groups with which Genet felt an affinity including May 68 and the treatment of immigrants in France but especially the Black Panthers and the Palestinians Genet speaks for a politics of protest with an uncompromising outrage that today might seem on the verge of being forgotten The Scandal of the Speaking Body Shoshana Felman, 2003 Imagining an encounter between Moliere s Don Juan and Austin this bold yet subtle meditation contemplates the seductive promises of speech and of love in a telling exchange among philosophy linguistics literature and Lacanian theory Multiple Arts Jean-Luc Nancy, Simon Sparks, 2006 This collection of writings by the renowned French critic and poet Jean Luc Nancy delves into the history of philosophy in order to locate a fundamentally poetic modus operandi representing a mix of philosophical essays writings about artworks and the author's own artistic creations Writing and Madness Shoshana Felman, Martha Noel Evans, 2003 This is the author's most influential work of literary theory and criticism in which she explores the relations between literature philosophy and psychoanalysis

George Eliot's Pulse Neil Hertz, 2003 Ranging over all George Eliot's fiction and drawing as well on her letters essays and translations in this book the distinguished critic Neil Hertz documents Eliot's lifelong questioning of the nature of authorship and of what it might mean in the language of one of her early letters for her not simply to be but to utter Pursuing oddities of diction and figuration of plotting and characterization Hertz finds everywhere in Eliot's works passages of high mimetic realism that ask to be read as allegories of writing or as characters whose actions and destinies can only be understood if they are seen as disguised surrogates of their author Each essay begins with an intriguing or problematic bit of language then moves about within a particular work of fiction or criss cross to other writings of Eliot's as well as to works by philosophers psychoanalysts and literary theorists The Philosophical Review Jacob Gould Schurman, James Edwin

Creighton, Frank Thilly, Gustavus Watts Cunningham, 2003 Handbook of Inaesthetics Alain Badiou, 2004-10-28 Didacticism romanticism and classicism are the possible schemata for the knotting of art and philosophy the third term in this knot being the education of subjects youth in particular What characterizes the century that has just come to a close is that while it underwent the saturation of these three schemata it failed to introduce a new one Today this predicament tends to produce a kind of unknotting of terms a desperate dis relation between art and philosophy together with the pure and simple collapse of what circulated between them the theme of education Whence the thesis of which this book is nothing but a series of variations faced with such a situation of saturation and closure we must attempt to propose a new schema a fourth type of knot between philosophy and art Among these inaesthetic variations the reader will encounter a sustained debate with contemporary philosophical uses of the poem bold articulations of the specificity and prospects of theater cinema and dance along with subtle and provocative readings of Fernando Pessoa Stéphane Mallarmé and Samuel Beckett An Essay on the Tragic Peter Szondi, 2002 This is a succinct and elegant argument for the specificity of a philosophy of tragedy as opposed to a poetics of tragedy espoused by Aristotle The Book to Come Maurice Blanchot, Charlotte Mandell, 2003 Featuring essays originally published in La Nouvelle Revue Française this collection clearly demonstrates why Maurice Blanchot was a key figure in exploring the relation between literature and philosophy Lautréamont and Sade Maurice Blanchot, 2004 In this book Blanchot forcefully distinguishes his critical project from the major intellectual currents of his day surrealism and existentialism The Open Giorgio Agamben, 2003-10-23 The end of human history is an event that has been foreseen or announced by both messianics and dialecticians But who is the protagonist of that history that is coming or has come to a close What is man How did he come on the scene And how has he maintained his privileged place as the master of or first among the animals In The Open contemporary Italian philosopher Giorgio Agamben considers the ways in which the human has been thought of as either a distinct and superior type of animal or a kind of being that is essentially different from animal altogether In an argument that ranges from ancient Greek Christian and Jewish texts to twentieth century thinkers such as Heidegger Benjamin and Kojve Agamben examines the ways in which the distinction between man and animal has been manufactured by the logical presuppositions of Western thought and he investigates the profound implications that the man animal distinction has had for disciplines as seemingly disparate as philosophy law anthropology medicine and politics

Fragments of the Artwork Jean Genet, 2003 Fragments of the Artwork brings together Jean Genet's critical writings and open letters on art and aesthetic issues This collection testifies to Genet's enormous influence on the modern theater on the development of the novel and on the representation of crime sex gender and race In lyrical essays and one candid interview these works present an untutored original defiant Genet displaying his provocative insights and acuties on a range of topics Genet wrestles with the athletic genius of Rembrandt adores the intricate criminal resurrections of Dostoevsky challenges our easy readings of Brecht and in what is one of the most exalting art historical essays ever written provides us with his detailed personal account of the work and presence of Alberto Giacometti Altogether these essays comprise a series of engrossing meditations on the central motives of theatricality and art

Bibliografisch Repertorium Van de Wijsbegeerte, 2002

Without Alibi Jacques Derrida, 2022 This book brings together for the first time five recent essays by Jacques Derrida which advance his reflections on many issues lying perjury forgiveness confession the profession of faith and most recently cruelty sovereignty and capital punishment Strongly linked by their attention to performatives and the as if the essays show the necessity of thinking beyond the category of acts that are possible for a subject Derrida argues forcefully that thought must engage with the impossible that is the order of the unforeseeable event the absolute future still to come This acute awareness of the limits of performative programs informs the essays throughout and attunes them closely to events of a world undergoing globalization The first essay History of the Lie reviews some classic and modern definitions of the lie Augustine Rousseau Kant Koyr Arendt while renewing questions about what is called lying as distinguished from other forms of nontruth This inventive analysis is followed by Typewriter Ribbon which examines at length the famous lie recounted by Rousseau in his Confessions when he perjured himself by accusing another of his own crime Paul de Man's reading of this textual event is at the center of Derrida's patient at times seriously funny analyses Le parjure Perhaps engages with a remarkable novel by Henri Thomas that fictionalizes the charge of perjury brought against Paul de Man in the 1950s Derrida's extraordinary fineness as a reader and thinker of fiction here treats to profound effect the fatal experience of perjury The two final essays The University Without Condition and Psychoanalysis Searches the States of Its Soul address the institutions of the university and of psychoanalysis as sites from which to resist and deconstruct the nontruth or phantasm of sovereignty For the university the principle of truth remains at the core of its resistance for psychoanalysis there is the obligation to remain true to what may be Derrida suggests its specific insight into psychic cruelty Resistance to the sovereign cruelty of the death penalty is just one of the stakes indicated by the last essay which is the text of a keynote address to the States General of Psychoanalysis held in Paris July 2000 Especially for this volume Derrida has written Provocation Forewords which reflects on the title Without Alibi while taking up questions about relations between deconstruction and America This essay foreword also responds to the event of this book which Peggy Kamuf in her introduction presents as event of resistance Without Alibi joins two other books by Derrida that Kamuf has translated for Stanford University Press Points Interviews 1974 1994 1994 and Resistances of Psychoanalysis 1998 Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1991
