Therapeutic Community for Women Prisoners Elaine Player,Elaine Genders,2025-09-02 Based upon an extensive empirical study of a democratic therapeutic community for women serving long and medium sentences this book explores the opportunities it provided for restorative rehabilitation In so doing it identifies some of the interconnected ways in which these ambitions are undermined by pervasive yet often tacit assumptions that underly penal policies and practices Drawing on a wealth of data gathered from a study spanning a period of eighteen years at the only democratic therapeutic community for women prisoners in the UK the book highlights how feminist criminology has revealed an invidious history of women s treatment in prison demonstrating how reformist and rehabilitative interventions have reproduced and exacerbated existing states of inequality and oppression Consequently the question explored in this book is whether a proportionate sentence that imposes a loss of liberty is inevitably destined to this fate or whether it can be constructed in ways that are progressive and transformative By identifying and understanding some of the interconnected ways in which progressive efforts have typically been undermined it opens a debate about the insinuation of certain often unspoken assumptions that underly penal policies and practices and the need for their deconstruction It opens an axiomatic debate about how women imprisoned for serious offences might have that loss of liberty interpreted to facilitate a restorative reparative and reintegrative process of rehabilitation informed by principles of social justice This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of criminology feminist studies public policy and human rights It will also be of value to policymakers and practitioners in women s prisons and psychologists and psychiatrists interested in therapeutic communities

The Politics of Responsibility
Chad Lavin, 2023-12-11 Politics cannot function without responsibility but there have been serious disagreements about how responsibility is to be understood and huge controversies about how it is to be distributed rewarded legislated and enforced The liberal notions of personal responsibility that have dominated political thinking in the West for more than a century are rooted in the familiar territory of individual will and causal blame but these theories have been assailed as no longer adequate to explain or address the political demands of a global social structure Informed by Marx Foucault and Butler Chad Lavin argues for a postliberal theory of responsibility formulating responsibility as a process that is anchored in a persistent ability to respond not reproach Lavin works this formulation through discussions of contemporary political issues such as globalization police brutality and abortion Rather than assigning individual blame postliberal responsibility challenges the supposed autonomy of individual subjects by taking structural arguments into account Lavin concludes that a liberal concept of responsibility gives rise to a moralistic and oppressive approach to social problems while a postliberal approach highlights a shared responsibility for developing collective solutions to systemic problems Postliberal responsibility not only suggests more generous and democratic responses to social ills it also allows us to theorize a greater range of issues that demand political response
