Total Quality Management in theoretical and practical context Christina Haring, 2004-03-08

Inhaltsangabe Abstract Thesis To what extent is the implementation of Total Quality encouraged by the European Quality System and how is this theory put into action within a company specific context in order to meet the requirements The following study focuses on Total Quality Management It begins with a short overview of the development of quality concepts within the last 50 years It deals in detail with the fundamental elements of TQM The particular principles are arranged in a way which illustrates the mutual supportive interrelationships After that the European quality system is explained It is primarily focused on the European Quality Award and its belonging assessment criteria Within this framework the Total Quality implementation is demonstrated by the example of a recent award winner It is examined in which way and to what extent the theoretical principles of TQM have been applied in order to meet the European guidelines With reference to the theory the European evaluation system as well as the company specific application is critically analysed Introduction Today's leading organisations are getting aware that it is important to develop a process of continuous improvement in order to deal with the worldwide increasing competition in a successful way. The adaptation to the incessant changing demands of the market and the customer is a problematic task for a company. Under these conditions top managers are looking for ways to break up old structures and to take future demands into consideration. One particular approach to improved effectiveness of company performance is the Japanese inspired Total Quality Management (TQM). The fundamental thought is that quality cannot only be seen as a mechanistic process but has to be accepted as a company pervading system. It requires teamwork and an increased development and involvement of employees. Companies which strive after a high level of quality see in the customer the key element. They realise that they have to offer the highest possible quality level of products and services. Total Quality Management provides various techniques which secure the acceptance of this philosophy within the entire organisation and facilitate the necessary changes of behaviour and mentality.
