Tourism And Development In The Developing World Routledge Perspectives On Development:

Tourism and Development in the Developing World David J. Telfer, Richard Sharpley, 2015-12-14 Tourism is widely considered to be an important factor in socio economic development particularly in less developed countries However despite almost universal recognition of tourism s development potential the extent to which economic and social progress is linked to the growth of a country s tourism sector remains the subject of intense debate Tourism and Development in the Developing World offers a thorough overview of the tourism development relationship Focusing specifically on the less developed world and drawing on contemporary case studies this updated second edition questions widely held assumptions on the role of tourism in development and seeks to highlight the challenges faced by destinations seeking to achieve development through tourism The introductory chapter establishes the foundation for the book exploring the meaning and objectives of development reviewing theoretical perspectives on the developmental process and assessing the reasons why less developed countries are attracted to tourism as a development option The concept of sustainable development as the most widely adopted contemporary model of development is then introduced and its links with tourism critically assessed Subsequent chapters explore the key issues associated with tourism and development including the rise of globalization the tourism planning and development process the relationship between tourism and communities within which it is developed the management implications of trends in the demand for and uptake of tourism and an analysis of the consequences of tourism development for destination environments economies and societies A new chapter considers the challenges of climate change sustainability of resource supply oil water and food global economic instability political instability and changing demographics Finally the issues raised throughout the book are drawn together in a concluding chapter that assesses the tourism and development dilemma Combining an overview of essential concepts theories and knowledge with an analysis of contemporary issues and debates in tourism and development this new edition will be an invaluable resource for those investigating tourism issues in developing countries The book will be of interest to students of tourism development geography and area studies international relations and politics and sociology

Tourism and Development Richard Sharpley, David J. Telfer, 2015 This book explores the relationship between tourism and development and establishes a conceptual link between the interconnected disciplines of tourism studies and development studies This new edition includes updated chapters drawing on contemporary knowledge as well as 5 new chapters that consider emergent themes in tourism and development

Tourism and the Less Developed World David Harrison, 2001 Many less developed countries are expanding their tourism industries and these are seen to be crucial to their economic development Yet such activities can also create social cultural and environmental problems This book provides a review of many of the key issues involved in tourism in developing countries and presents a range of case studies These are interpreted from a perspective of the sociology and anthropology of development Case study chapters are presented from Africa Asia the Caribbean Latin America and Oceania The book provides essential reading for advanced students and researchers in tourism and development studies

Island Sustainability II S. Favro, C. A. Brebbia, 2013 Containing the papers presented at the second conference organised on island sustainability by the Wessex Institute of Technology the book addresses the massive scale of seasonal population mobility that has such a profound effect on coastal regions and islands The problems that result from large temporary increases in population are especially serious for islands and archipelagos which have limited resources and possibilities of developing supporting infrastructures Most islands cannot provide all the resources required by a large seasonal tourist population in many cases basic requirements such as water and energy as well as agricultural produce must therefore be imported Authorities need to carefully evaluate the impact of large seasonal population increases on the community and the resulting socio economic factors as well as issues related to transportation and communication all of which should be part of an overall strategy The topics covered include Tourism Impact and Strategies Community Issues Changing Climate and Environment Infrastructure Transport Issues Natural Resources Energy Issues Risk and Safety Waste Management and Island Services

Tourism Planning and Development in South Asia Dimitrios Styliadis, Boopen Seetanah, 2021-04-09 Tourism has huge significance as a global economic and social phenomenon and given the growing reliance on the industry by service dependent economies around the world the lack of focus on tourism planning and development in South Asia is surprising Current issues including social environmental and cultural aspects underpinned by security challenges have defined the tourism development narratives in many South Asian countries over the last decades and lead to fluid demand and supply patterns The appetite for and reliance on tourism growth is seen regardless of the numerous challenges faced by the region Despite a rich and steady history of tourism and demand driven by numerous pull destinations most South Asian countries have not invested or benefitted from global tourism growth trends

A Research

Agenda for Tourism and Development Richard Sharpley, David Harrison, 2019 Tourism is integral to local regional and national development policies as a major global economic sector it has the potential to underpin economic growth and wider development Yet transformations in both the nature of tourism and the dynamic environment within which it occurs give rise to new questions with regards to its developmental role This Research Agenda offers a state of the art review of the research into the tourism development nexus Exploring issues including governance policy philanthropy poverty reduction and tourism consumption it identifies significant gaps in the literature and proposes new and sometimes provocative avenues for future research

Tourism in Bangladesh: Investment and Development Perspectives Azizul Hassan, 2022-01-05 This edited volume uniquely explores the extensive themes and frameworks of tourism development and investment in Bangladesh The book focuses on outlining the present investment and development scenario of Bangladesh in order to suggest some solutions to current issues Considering that Bangladesh has a population of over 170 million the country possesses an abundance of possibilities for tourism In recent years Bangladesh has experienced steady growth in its economy and socio cultural developments Currently there is very limited knowledge of or research into tourism in Bangladesh even though it is a multifaceted and fast growing industry This book makes an important contribution to representing and exploring diverse aspects of tourism in Bangladesh for local and international benefit This book provides insights into the stronghold of a social class having the ability to spend for tourism and leisure activities which has prompted the country to pay further attention to the development of its tourism industry This book emphasizes that the importance of tourism is undeniably on a continuous rise in Bangladesh which in turn deserves the appropriate attention from academic research

Theories and Practices of Development Katie Willis, 2011-02-25 Global economic crisis and the implications of global environmental change have led academics and policy makers to consider how development in all parts of the world should be achieved However development has always been a contested idea While often presented as a positive process to improve people s lives the potential negative dimensions of development on people and environments must also be recognized Theories and Practices of Development provides a clear and user friendly introduction to the complex debates around how development has been understood and achieved The second edition has been fully updated and expanded to reflect global political and economic shifts as well as new approaches to development The rise of China and India is given particular attention as is the global economic crisis and its implications for development theories and practice There are new sections on faith based development and the development dimensions of climate change as well as greater engagement with development theories as they are put into practice in the Global North The book deals with the evolution of development ideas and policies focusing on economic political social environmental and spatial dimensions It highlights how development cannot be considered as a neutral concept but is entwined with inequalities in power at local as well as national and global scales The use of boxed examples tables and illustrations helps students understand complex theoretical ideas and also demonstrates how development theories are put into practice in the real world Each chapter ends with a summary section discussion topics suggestions for further reading and website resources

Cultural Heritage and Tourism in Africa Dallen J. Timothy,2023-03-13 Cultural Heritage and Tourism in Africa examines the multiple and diverse manifestations of cultural heritage based tourism in Africa from a regional social science and sustainability perspective This book delivers a comprehensive treatise on the interdependent concepts of cultural heritage and tourism Heritage is one of the most pervasive tourism assets worldwide and lies at the foundations of tourism in many localities including Africa However despite its salience there has not been a systematic examination of Africa s heritage resources markets policies practices successes and challenges in a tourism framework despite the continent s immense heritage value This book reviews the different types of heritages that pervade the cultural environment of Africa and comprises its vast heritagescapes It also examines the increasing potential for the growth of heritage tourism throughout the entire continent The contributions in this volume delve into current thinking about space and place and their effects on heritage mobilities globalization colonialism and indigeneity conflict identity and nation building connections with other regions through migration and the slave trade and a greater emphasis on the ordinary heritage of Africa which has long been ignored by tourism scholars and industry representatives The chapters herein are authored by Africa specialists most being from Africa offering a truly African perspective The chapters are conceptually rigorous and empirically rich with examples from all regions of the African continent This unparalleled interdisciplinary glimpse at cultural heritage and tourism in Africa delivers strong value and is a vital resource for all students and researchers of tourism cultural studies heritage studies geography anthropology sociology history and global studies

Tourism and Agriculture Rebecca Maria Torres,Janet Henshall Momsen,2011-03-07 Shifting global consumption patterns tastes and attitudes towards food leisure travel and place have opened new opportunities for rural producers in the form of agritourism ecotourism wine food and rural tourism and specialized niche market agricultural production for tourism Agriculture is one of the oldest and most basic parts of the global economy while tourism is one of the newest and most rapidly spreading In the face of current problems of climate change rising food prices poverty and a global financial crisis linkages between agriculture and tourism may provide the basis for new solutions in many countries. A number of challenges nevertheless confront the realization of synergies between tourism and agriculture. Tourism and Agriculture examines regional specific cases at the interface between tourism and agriculture looking at the impacts of rural restructuring and new geographies of consumption and production. To meet the need for a more comprehensive appreciation of the relationships and interactions between the tourism and agricultural economic sectors, this book considers the factors that influence the nature of these relationships and explores avenues for facilitating synergistic relationships between tourism and agriculture. These relationships are examined in thirteen chapters through case studies from eastern and western Europe, Japan and the United States and from the developing countries of the Pacific, the Caribbean and Ghana and Mexico. Themes of diversification, economic development and emerging new forms of production and consumption are integrated throughout the entire book. This essential volume built on original research generates new insights into the relationships between tourism and agriculture and future economic rural development. Edited by leading researchers and academics in the field, this book will be of value to students, researchers and academics interested in tourism, agriculture and rural development.

Tourism and Sustainable Development Jörn W. Mundt, 2011. Sustainability is a central term in today's political rhetoric. At the same time, sustainable development is one of the notions which mainly base on an intuitive public understanding and mark ideas almost nobody would deny. Thus even in scientific discourse and particularly in tourism, the term sustainability is often being used without scrutiny. This volume by Jörn W. Mundt contributes to a deeper understanding of the concept of sustainability by providing a closer look at the original definition and reviewing its conceptual history which helps to untangle the terminological confusion. Finally, the book demonstrates that sustainable tourism cannot be a political objective in its own right and is only achievable within the context of an overall sustainable economy. Back cover

Research Themes for Tourism Peter Robinson, Sine Heitmann, Peter U. C. Dieke, 2011. Tourism studies at Masters level are often divided into subsets of tourism such as environmental tourism, rural tourism and sports tourism. This book provides an overview of types of tourism and common themes studied in courses to allow undergraduate students to become familiar with a wide range of tourism topics at a foundation level, allowing them to make an informed decision about their future studies and career. It will also be a useful text for providing a broad brush introduction to the major topics that are covered in undergraduate courses. Popular subjects like urban tourism, festival

The Business of Low-Carbon Tourism Abhishek Singh Bhati, Valeriya Radomskaya, Jacob Wood, Alexander Josiassen, 2025-07-25. The millions of tourists who visit tropical nations annually underscore the region's significance in global tourism. However, these nations receive little scholarly attention compared to major countries. This book fills that gap, presenting a unique in-depth exploration of the pressing transformations and shared sustainability challenges faced by nations and territories in the Tropics, providing valuable insights and solutions for low carbon tourism development and offering a novel attempt to progress the responsible tourism agenda. The book contributes to the emerging field of low carbon tourism It concentrates on tourism intensive tropical countries exploring nation specific and regional measures that could encourage low carbon operations within the tourism sector It focuses on distinct populations host communities and service providers in the Tropics distinguishing it from most texts on sustainability and low carbon tourism that either focus on Western perspectives or strive for universal applicability The chapters place the discussion within a contemporary context and introduce the challenges this era holds including the role of marketing policies and regulations innovation social norms and values in promoting low carbon transition in tourism Topics covered in this book include but are not limited to low impact visitor behavior and low carbon planning voluntary nudged or compulsory participation in emission reduction initiatives infrastructural social and psychological barriers to change greenwashing and responsible marketing ethnocentrism and the politics of low carbon tourism Targeted primarily at academics and professionals in tourism business environmental management policy studies and public administration this practical and insightful book is essential reading for anyone interested in low carbon tourism development and the challenges that lie ahead

Sustainable Tourism Development in Tanzania Wineaster Anderson, Lena Mossberg, Tommy D. Andersson, 2020-12-11

Tanzania is rivalled by few countries if any in terms of its bountiful natural and cultural tourist attractions Given that tourism development if sustainable is an outstanding policy for distributing welfare even to less developed parts of a country this field is of particular importance to Tanzania In this edited volume prominent scholars focus on the practises and policies of tourism development with a particular eye on the case of Tanzania They explore the demand for sustainability from international tourists the need for local food and linkages between the tourism and agricultural sectors and the production of tourism services in a responsible and inclusive way The book will be a valuable source of knowledge for the tourism industry as well as policymakers scholars and students who are concerned about the development of a form of tourism which benefits a country inclusively and responsibly

Urban

Tourism in the Developing World Christian Myles Rogerson, Gustav Visser, Over the past decade the field of urban tourism has consolidated with the appearance of several books that concentrate upon the Western European and North American experience Recently the scope and range of urban research has widened considerably including the welcome appearance of studies that examine the tourism phenomenon in cities outside the Euro American heartland Despite this growing international body of debate and scholarship on tourism and cities particularly in the developed North literature that relates to the developing world as a whole and to Africa in particular remains sparse The task of Urban Tourism in the Developing World The South African Experience is to augment the current international scholarship concerning urban tourism in the developing world More especially the contributors draw attention to a range of case studies from South Africa that provide some starting points to address the uneven scholarly coverage of urban tourism the African context has received to date In addition the research material presented here seeks to contribute toward raising the South African and indeed the African profile within growing international scholarship concerning issues of urban tourism and development This collection aims to expand an emerging South African and African tourism research voice concerning the tourism and development nexus as well as to stem critiques that this body of research appears to have developed in a theoretical vacuum divorced from broader international tourism research discourses This collection of essays not only further develops an independent South African tourism perspective but also presents research that is closely tied to international urban tourism research debates In addition this analysis of urban tourism in the South African context enriches the rather Western oriented theories of urban tourism discourse through its emphasis on how urban tourism is evolving in urban Africa Christian M Rogerson is professor of human geography in the School of Geography Archaeology and Environmental Studies University of the Witwatersrand Johannesburg South Africa Gustav Visser is senior lecturer in human geography in the Department of Geography University of the Free State Bloemfontein South Africa

Cultural Tourism in Southern Africa Haretsebe Manwa, Naomi Moswete, Jarkko Saarinen, 2016-01-11 This volume provides an accessible overview of cultural tourism in southern Africa It examines the utilisation of culture in southern African tourism and the related impacts possibilities and challenges from deep and wide ranging perspectives The chapters use case studies to showcase some of the cultural tourism which occurs in the region and link to concepts such as authenticity commodification the tourist gaze and Otherness heritage sustainability and sustainable livelihoods The authors scrutinise both positive and negative impacts of cultural tourism throughout the book and explore issues including the definition of community ethical considerations empowerment gender participation and inequality The book will be a useful resource for students and researchers of tourism geography anthropology and cultural studies
