

TRANSNATIONAL CONFLICTS

Central America,
Social Change,
and Globalization

A man with a mustache, wearing a wide-brimmed straw hat and a dark jacket, is sitting on a large, light-colored rock. He is looking back over his shoulder towards the camera. A colorful, patterned bag with yellow, red, and blue designs is resting on the rock next to him. The background is a solid, deep red color.

The International Spread of Ethnic Conflict David A. Lake, Donald Rothchild, 2020-10-06 The wave of ethnic conflict that has recently swept across parts of Eastern Europe the former Soviet Union and Africa has led many political observers to fear that these conflicts are contagious Initial outbreaks in such places as Bosnia Chechnya and Rwanda if not contained appear capable of setting off epidemics of catastrophic proportions In this volume David Lake and Donald Rothchild have organized an ambitious sophisticated exploration of both the origins and spread of ethnic conflict one that will be useful to policymakers and theorists alike The editors and contributors argue that ethnic conflict is not caused directly by intergroup differences or centuries old feuds and that the collapse of the Soviet Union did not simply uncork ethnic passions long suppressed They look instead at how anxieties over security competition for resources breakdown in communication with the government and the inability to make enduring commitments lead ethnic groups into conflict and they consider the strategic interactions that underlie ethnic conflict and its effective management How why and when do ethnic conflicts either diffuse by precipitating similar conflicts elsewhere or escalate by bringing in outside parties How can such transnational ethnic conflicts best be managed Following an introduction by the editors which lays a strong theoretical foundation for approaching these questions Timur Kuran Stuart Hill Donald Rothchild Colin Cameron Will H Moore and David R Davis examine the diffusion of ideas across national borders and ethnic alliances Without disputing that conflict can spread James D Fearon Stephen M Saideman Sandra Halperin and Paula Garb argue that ethnic conflict today is primarily a local phenomenon and that it is breaking out in many places simultaneously for similar but largely independent reasons Stephen D Krasner Daniel T Froats Cynthia S Kaplan Edmond J Keller Bruce W Jentleson and I William Zartman focus on the management of transnational ethnic conflicts and emphasize the importance of domestic confidence building measures international intervention and preventive diplomacy

International Law and the Classification of Conflicts Elizabeth Wilmshurst, 2012-08-02 International law separates international from non

international conflicts This book discusses how this categorisation operates identifying the legal questions raised Case studies show how this impacts on issues like detention in armed conflict and the relationship between human rights and humanitarian law Gender, Conflict and International Humanitarian Law Orly Maya Stern, 2018-07-27 This book conducts a gendered critique of the principle of distinction in international humanitarian law IHL with a focus on recent conflicts in Africa The principle of distinction is core to IHL and regulates who can and cannot be targeted in armed conflict It states that civilians may not be targeted in attack while combatants and those civilians directly participating in hostilities can be The law defines what it means to be a combatant and a civilian and sets out what behaviour constitutes direct participation Close examination of the origins of the principle reveals that IHL was based on a gendered view of conflict which envisages men as fighters and women as victims of war Problematically this view often does not accord with the reality in new wars today in which women are playing increasingly active roles often forming the backbone of fighting groups and performing functions on which armed groups are highly reliant Using women's participation in new wars in Africa as a study this volume critically examines the principle through a gendered lens questioning the extent to which the principle serves to protect women in modern conflicts and how it fails them By doing so it questions whether the principle of distinction is suitable to effectively regulate the conduct of hostilities in new wars This book will be of much interest to students of international law gender studies African politics war and conflict studies and international relations

Conflict Resolution in the Twenty-first Century Jacob Bercovitch, Richard Dean Wells Jackson, 2009-09-08 In the past arbitration direct bargaining the use of intermediaries and deference to international institutions were relatively successful tools for managing interstate conflict In the face of terrorism intrastate wars and the multitude of other threats in the post Cold War era however the conflict resolution tool kit must include preventive diplomacy humanitarian intervention regional task sharing and truth commissions Here Jacob Bercovitch and Richard Jackson two internationally recognized experts systematically examine each one of these conflict resolution tools and describe how it works and in what conflict situations it is most likely to be effective Conflict Resolution in the Twenty-first Century is not only an essential introduction for students and scholars it is a must have guide for the men and women entrusted with creating stability and security in our changing world Cover illustration iStockphoto.com

Transnational Conflicts and International Law Constantin von der Groeben, 2014-11-06 Ever since 9 11 the legal classification of transnational conflicts between states and non state armed groups such as Al Qaeda has become a highly debated topic While repeatedly referred to as the War on Terror the legal qualification of the conflict between the US and Al Qaeda remains controversial US military operations in Afghanistan against Al Qaeda and the use of drones against alleged terrorists in Pakistan Yemen and other states pose the question as to whether this conflict truly qualifies as one single global war Similarly transnational conflicts such as the Colombian operation against a FARC base in Ecuador Israel's fight against Hezbollah in Lebanon and Turkish operations against the PKK in northern Iraq pose difficulties as they transcend individual nations political systems and geographical borders Whether the law of war i e humanitarian law is applicable to such conflicts and to what extent human rights law binds the states involved is debated This work aims to provide structure to the current debate and analyzes the applicability of both humanitarian law and human rights law Furthermore it examines and explores approaches to enhance and develop the existing legal framework including proposed new legal regimes for transnational conflicts The author argues against the strict separation of international humanitarian law and human rights law and instead borrows from Colombian authorities experience in their struggle with the FARC to develop an alternate solution combining both legal regimes in an integrated approach
