Toward A New Climate Agreement Conflict Resolution And Governance:

Toward a New Climate Agreement Todd Cherry,Jon Hovi,David M. McEvoy,2014-03-05 Climate change is one of the most pressing problems facing the global community Although most states agree that climate change is occurring and is at least partly the result of humans reliance on fossil fuels managing a changing global climate is a formidable challenge Underlying this challenge is the fact that states are sovereign governed by their own laws and regulations Sovereignty requires that states address global problems such as climate change on a voluntary basis by negotiating international agreements Despite a consensus on the need for global action many questions remain concerning how a meaningful international climate agreement can be realized This book brings together leading experts to speak to such questions and to offer promising ideas for the path toward a new climate agreement Organized in three main parts it examines the potential for meaningful climate cooperation Part 1 explores sources of conflict that lead to barriers to an effective climate agreement Part 2 investigates how different processes influence states prospects of resolving their differences and of reaching a climate agreement that is more effective than the current Kyoto Protocol Finally part 3 focuses on governance issues including lessons learned from existing institutional structures The book is unique in that it brings together the voices of experts from many disciplines such as economics political science international law and natural science The authors are academics practitioners consultants and advisors Contributions draw on a variety of methods and include both theoretical and empirical studies The book should be of interest to scholars and graduate students in the fields of economics political science environmental law natural resources earth sciences sustainability and many others It is directly relevant for policy makers stakeholders and climate change negotiators offering insights into the role of uncertainty fairness policy linkage burden sharing and alternative institutional designs

Research Handbook on Climate Governance Karin Bäckstrand,Eva Lövbrand,2015-11-27 The 2009 United Nations climate conference in Copenhagen is often represented as a watershed in global climate politics when the diplomatic efforts to negotiate a successor agreement to the Kyoto Protocol failed and was replaced by a fragmented and decentralized climate governance order In the post Copenhagen landscape the top down universal approach to climate governance has gradually given way to a more complex hybrid and dispersed political landscape involving multiple actors arenas and sites The Handbook contains contributions from more than 50 internationally leading scholars and explores the latest trends and theoretical developments of the climate governance scholarship

The New Power Politics of Global Climate Governance Maximilian Terhalle,Charlotte Streck,2018-04-19 This book is based on the assumption that great powers determine global politics and in this instance environmental politics It addresses the approaches of both established and rising powers and their implications for the advancement of international climate negotiations The new introduction looks at the key developments in this realm since 2013 examining the bilateral deals between China and the United States and the results of the UNFCCC s 21st Convention of the Parties COP convening at Paris in 2015 Two key features link the contributions of this volume their underlying assumption that major powers are the central actors in determining global environmental politics and their assessment of and implications of the approaches both of rising and established major powers for global climate norms One key argument of this volume is that today s geopolitics are about who gets how much in the fiercely competitive race over the available carbon space The book concludes that prudently balancing power in the new century requires a fair sharing of burden among the existing and emerging powers In light of such burden sharing pluralistic domestic politics as well as diverging normative beliefs and worldviews require consideration of different conditions even if historical legacies of the industrialised world have increasingly been put into question as a political argument by the United States This book is based on a special issue of the journal Climate Policy Climate Change Finance and International Law Alexander Zahar,2016-12-01 Since 2010 a significant quantity of international climate change finance has begun to reach developing countries However the transfer of finance under the international climate change regime the legal and ethical obligations that underpin it the constraints on its use its intended outcomes and its successes failures and future potential constitutes a poorly understood topic Climate Change Finance and International Law fills this gap in the legal scholarship The book analyses the legal obligations of developed countries to financially support qualifying developing countries to pursue globally significant mitigation and adaptation outcomes as well as the obligations of the latter under the international regime of financial support Through case studies of climate finance mechanisms and a multitude of other sources this book delivers a rich legal and empirical understanding of the implementation of states climate finance obligations to date The book will be of interest to scholars and students of international law and policy international relations and the maturing field of climate change law Architectures of Earth System Governance Frank Biermann,Rakhyun E. Kim,2020-05-07 International institutions are prevalent in world politics More than a thousand multilateral treaties are in place just to protect the environment alone and there are many more And yet it is also clear that these institutions do not operate in a void but are enmeshed in larger highly complex webs of governance arrangements This compelling book conceptualises these broader structures as the architectures of global governance Here over 40 international relations scholars offer an authoritative synthesis of a decade of research on global governance architectures with an empirical focus on protecting the environment and vital earth systems They investigate the structural intricacies of earth system governance and explain how global architectures enable or hinder individual institutions and their overall effectiveness The book offers much needed conceptual clarity about key building blocks and structures of complex governance architectures charts detailed directions for new research and provides analytical groundwork for policy reform This is one of a series of publications associated with the Earth System Governance Project For more publications see www.cambridge.org/earth-system-governance Governing Sustainable Energies in China Geoffrey Chun-fung Chen,2016-06-29 This book examines sustainable energy development in China a non liberal state as a counterexample to conventional wisdom that effective policy outcomes are premised on the basis of decentralized governance The use of sustainable energies as part of the solution for stabilising global warming has been promoted in industrialised countries for the past three decades In the last ten years China has expanded its renewable energy capacity with unprecedented speed and breadth This phenomenon seems to contradict the principle of orthodox environmental governance in which stakeholder participation is deemed a necessary condition for effective policy outcomes Based upon policy documents news report and interviews with 32 policy makers business leaders and NGO practitioners in selected subnational governments this book examines the politics of sustainable energy in China It engages debates over the relationships among democratic prioritisation environmental protection and economic empowerment arguing that China s quasi corporatist model in the sustainable energy field challenges Western scholars dominant assumptions about ecopolitics

The Evolution of Carbon Markets Jørgen Wettstad,Lars Gulbrandsen,2017-12-14 Carbon markets are developing and expanding around the world but how and to what extent is their design shaped by learning and interaction between them How do these markets function and what is the role of design Carrying out a ground breaking analysis of their design and diffusion this book covers all the major carbon market systems and processes around the world the EU RGGI California Tokyo New Zealand Australia China South Korea and Kazakhstan It offers a systematic in depth discussion and comparison of the key design features in these systems with expert contributors exploring how and to what extent these features have been shaped by central policy diffusion mechanisms and domestic politics By focussing on the specific design features of the instruments used this volume makes important contributions to diffusion theory highlighting how ETS diffusion processes more often have resulted in design divergence than convergence and discussing the implications of this finding for the vision of linked systems in the post Paris era It will be of significant interest to a broad audience interested in the emergence evolution functioning and interaction of carbon markets

Toward a Binding Climate Change Adaptation Regime Mizan R. Khan,2013-10-23 Although tackling the causes of climate change through mitigation is necessary it is also essential to examine the effect of climate change and what international cooperation can take place to ensure global adaptation measures This pioneering book deals exclusively with the politics of why adaptation as a global responsibility continues to be ignored

Towards New Developmentalism Shahrukh Rafi Khan,Jens Christiansen,2010-10-04 Although neo liberalism has been critiqued from various perspectives these critiques have not coalesced into a concrete alternative in development economics literature The main objective of this book is to name and formulate this alternative identify what is new about this viewpoint and project it on to the academic landscape

Minnesota Law Review ,2008 Lok Sabha Debates India. Parliament. Lok Sabha,1989 Alternative Dispute Resolution Michael Freeman,1995-07 This Major Reference series brings together a wide range of key international articles in law and legal theory Many of these essays are not readily accessible and their presentation in these volumes will provide a vital new resource for both research and teaching Each volume is edited by leading international authorities who explain the significance and context of articles in an informative and complete introduction Towards Sustainable Peace Hussein Solomon, 2003 Preventive diplomacy coined by Dag Hammarskjöld was more recently adopted by Boutros Boutros Ghali and has become popular in the discourse and practice of international relations It is conceived as a framework in which disputes are prevented from escalating into conflicts and violence violent conflict is prevented from spreading and political solutions are sought In the African context it is widely held that conflict resolution is crucial to the emancipation of the African peoples from socio economic enslavement However examples such as the war in Cote d'Ivoire Liberia Sierra Leone DRC the coup in Central African Republic and the incapacity of SADC to respond to crises such as those in Malawi and Zimbabwe testify to the failure of quiet diplomacy on the continent This book attempts to provide from a pan Africanist perspective an overview of lessons learned from past interventions with an eye to future policy Chapters cover the Sierra Leone civil war and the international intervention the Sudanese conflict within the context of identity conflicts the DRC international remedial action and the failings of the peace process Angola the phases of the conflicts and elusive peace and Mozambique and examples of the experiences of successes and failures of preventive diplomacy Personnel Management Abstracts ,1997 Socialist Affairs and Women & Politics ,1990 New York Herald Tribune Books ,1929 Report ,1992 International Books in Print , 1995 Barbara Hopkinson,[Anonymus AC01401231],1995
