The Book Review, 2001 Neocolonialism L. Santhosh Kumar, Minu A., Barnashree Khasnobis, Preetha M., Merrin R. S., 2026-01-22 Neocolonialism in contemporary discourse has emerged as a compelling analytical lens to revisit and reassess power structures global hierarchies and cultural narratives in a postcolonial world This volume explores the intricate and often obscured mechanisms through which neocolonial influence operates economically politically culturally and intellectually redefining the contours of sovereignty and autonomy in the modern era Scholars across disciplines in the Humanities and Social Sciences have increasingly turned their attention to the praxis of identifying and critiquing the subtle continuities of colonial ideologies under the guise of development globalization and aid The interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary approaches employed in this volume challenge conventional perspectives and propose new interpretative frameworks for understanding neocolonial engagements in literature media policy and education

Dalit Autobiography: A Critical Study Dipak Giri, 2025-03-01 Dalit Autobiography is a distinctive literary form in the sense that it shifts from personal I to communal we This shifting from individual to communal differentiates such autobiographies from mainstream autobiographies where the autobiography mainly centers round personal experiences of the autobiographer concerned On the other hand Dalit Autobiographies deal not only with the individual writer but also with the community he or she belongs to Transformation of individualistic I into communal we makes such autobiographies completely distinctive literary form Such autobiography reflects not only Dalit life and suffering but also their voice of protest and resistance In this sense Dalit autobiographers are activists and writers as well Among Dalit autobiographers irrespective of gender there are innumerable autobiographies written by male and female Dalit writers The present book is my little endeavour to articulate the voice of Dalit autobiographers which is often neglected by the mainstream socio cultural life

Growing up Untouchable in India Vasant Moon, Gail Omvedt, Eleanor Zelliott, 2002-07-15 There is much in Vasant Moon's story of his vasti his childhood neighborhood in India that would probably be true of any ghetto anywhere in the world There is hunger and deprivation to be sure but also a sense of community an easy acceptance of petty crime and violence the saving grace of sports and organized activities led by caring adults the off again on again aid from relatives the inexplicable cruelty and unexpected generosity and escape through education But there is much here that is peculiarly and vividly Indian as well Primary among these is the factor of caste a hierarchical system unrelated to race but based on ancient principles of hereditary pollution and purity with Brahmans the purest and Untouchables the most polluted Second is the presence of a hero so important he is described as a wave and surely no despised group has ever had a leader as meaningful as Dr B R Babasaheb Ambedkar was and remains for India's awakened and ambitious Dalits Third is nature with Moon's compelling descriptions of Nagpur's heat and the vivid joy brought by the monsoon Indeed every tree every fruit every nook and cranny of the world in and around the vasti plays an important part in his story Dalit literature poetry plays and autobiographies have been one of the most important developments in the culture of India in the past thirty years yet little has been translated for a Western audience Vasant Moon's Growing Up Untouchable the first Dalit autobiography to be published in English is a moving and eloquent testament to a uniquely Indian life as well as to the universal human spirit Indian Literature and the World Rossella Ciocca, Neelam Srivastava, 2017-05-09 This book is about the most vibrant yet under studied aspects of Indian writing today It examines multilingualism current debates on postcolonial versus world literature the impact of translation on an Indian literary canon and Indian authors engagement with the public sphere The essays cover political activism and the North East Tribal novel the role of work in the contemporary Indian fictional imaginary history as felt and reconceived by the acclaimed Hindi author Krishna Sobti Bombay fictions the Dalit autobiography in translation and its problematic international success development ecocriticism and activist literature casteism and access to literacy in the South and gender and diaspora as dominant themes in writing from and about the subcontinent Troubling Eurocentric genre distinctions and the split between citizen and subject the collection approaches Indian literature from the perspective of its constant interactions between private and public narratives thereby proposing a method of reading Indian texts that goes beyond their habitual postcolonial identifications as national allegories Dalit Literatures in India Joshil K. Abraham, Judith Misrahi-Barak, 2015-07-24 This book breaks new ground in the study of Dalit Literature including in its corpus a range of genres such as novels autobiographies pamphlets poetry short stories as well as graphic novels With contributions from major scholars in the field it critically examines Dalit literary theory and initiates a dialogue between Dalit writing and Western literary theory
