Horse Louis Komjathy,2017-03-21 In thirteenth century China a Daoist monk named Gao Daokuan 1195 1277 composed a series of illustrated poems and accompanying verse commentary known as the Daoist Horse Taming Pictures In this annotated translation and study Louis Komjathy argues that this virtually unknown text offers unique insights into the transformative effects of Daoist contemplative practice Taming the Wild Horse examines Gao s illustrated poems in terms of monasticism and contemplative practice as well as the multivalent meaning of the horse in traditional Chinese culture and the consequences for both human and nonhuman animals The Horse Taming Pictures consist of twelve poems ten of which are equine centered They develop the metaphor of a wild or untamed horse to represent ordinary consciousness which must be reined in and harnessed through sustained self cultivation especially meditation The compositions describe stages on the Daoist contemplative path Komjathy provides opportunities for reflection on contemplative practice in general and Daoist meditation in particular which may lead to a transpersonal way of perceiving and being Journal of Chinese Religions, 2016 Daoism Handbook Livia Kohn, 2004 Daoist Modern Xun Liu, 2009 This book explores the Daoist encounter with modernity through the activities of Chen Yingning 1880 1969 a famous lay Daoist master and his group in early twentieth century Shanghai In contrast to the usual narrative of Daoist decay with its focus on monastic decline clerical corruption and popular superstitions this study tells a story of Daoist resilience reinvigoration and revival Between the 1920s and 1940s Chen led a group of urban lay followers in pursuing Daoist self cultivation techniques as a way of ensuring health promoting spirituality forging cultural self identity building community and strengthening the nation In their efforts to renew and reform Daoism Chen and his followers became deeply engaged with nationalism science the religious reform movements the new urban print culture and other forces of modernity Since Chen and his fellow practitioners conceived of the Daoist self cultivation tradition as a public resource they also transformed it from an esoteric pursuit into a public practice offering a modernizing society a means of managing the body and the mind and of forging a new cultural spiritual and religious identity
